LONDON, June 2, 10:45 p.m.—The battle for Przemysl, which is proving one of the most stubborn and sanguinary of the war, continues with unabated fury. Both sides have poured reinforcements into the field, and with attacks and counter-attacks the losses in men and material are piling up to an unprecedented extent. The German and Austrian reports claim that some of the forts on the northern front already have fallen and that on the southeastern front their troops are progressing toward the railway that joins the fortress with Lemberg. But the latest Petrograd communication says that the Germans who got into one fort were driven out and makes no mention of the capture of Stry or of other successes claimed by the Teutonic allies.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

In all the mad medley of war the peace note is again dominant. Thus it is one hears that the conference yesterday between President Wilson and Ambassador Bernstorff may pave the way to an understanding which, in turn, may lead to negotiations to end the war. The mighty efforts being put forth by the Germans, especially in Russia, would indicate they are striving for the best possible positions as a preliminary to pourparlers.

Mr. Wilson has spoken the word to Mexico. And some Mexican factional leaders have spoken back at a time when one naturally expected them to maintain the listening attitude. Army orders are to be issued soon for military co-operation with the Red Cross to get food to the starving Mexicans. But American intervention in Mexico will be the very last resort.

ARMY TO CO-OPERATE TO FEED THE STARVING.

Warring Factions Warned to End their Outrages "in a Very Short Time."

Otherwise, President Wilson Notifies Them, "the United States will be Constrained to Decide what Means Shall be Employed"—Our Support to the Elements that Make a Try for Law and Order.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—All factions in Mexico were publicly called upon by President Wilson today in the name of the United States government "to accommodate their differences" and set up a government that can be accorded recognition.

Failure to unite in a movement to bring peace to Mexico "within a very short time" it was announced in a statement telegraphed to Gens. Carranza, Villa, and others, would constrain the United States to "decide what means should be employed," in order to save the people of the southern republic from further devastations of internal warfare.

ARMY ORDERS.

Orders for the American troops along the border to co-operate with the Red Cross in getting food supplies to starving Mexicans probably will be issued at the War Department this week as a result of a conference late today between President Wilson and Miss Mabel Boardman.

Miss Boardman asked that the President direct that facilities be afforded at army posts for the storing of food supplies collected throughout the country pending their distribution in Mexico. He indicated his purpose to take the question up with Secretary Garrison immediately.

Brig.-Gen. C. A. Devol of the quartermaster's department of the army, who is acting as general manager of the Red Cross, will proceed south and arrange details with Maj.-Gen. Frederick Funston, commander of the border troops.

Because of interruption of communication between Vera Cruz and Mexico City, it is understood efforts will be made to get food to the old capital from the northern border.

INTERPRETATION.

Everywhere—in official and diplomatic quarters and among Mexicans of varied leaning—the statement was interpreted as meaning that the United States would bring pressure to bear first to unite the factions in the choice of a provisional President, and failing to bring all elements together, would give its active support to those elements which did agree. Intervention was considered as a possible ultimate development, but only if a hopeless condition of anarchy followed with no remedy from within the republic.

A NEW POLICY.

The statement marks a departure in the policy of the Washington government toward Mexico. It was decided upon after several meetings of the President, and his Cabinet, and a study of the reports of Duval West, who made a personal investigation of conditions in Mexico and declared that none of the factions seemed capable of restoring order or bringing into power a stable government.

The effect of the statement here was to start a variety of speculation as to what the American government meant by lending "its active moral support to some man or group of men, if such may be found, in an effort to ignore if they cannot unite, the warring factions of the country."

In high official quarters it was explained that the United States hitherto had maintained neutrality as between the factions, but now was preparing to choose between them or to give its support to those elements in the existing factions which gave most promise of success.

EMBARGO ON ARMS.

An embargo on arms and the cutting off of other means of support in the United States would put into operation to assist the chosen element as against those which ignored the American government's demand for peace.

While details of the government's policy are not yet available, it was said on good authority that it was intended to restore constitutional gov-

PACIFIC COAST SOLDIERS RECEIVE ORDERS TO EQUIP.

Artillery Directed to Begin Practice at Once with Their Big Guns, the Colorado Militia is Told to Put Itself in Readiness and Officers are Enjoined not to Speak on the War Conditions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 2.—Not only are the Spanish War Veterans of Oregon pledging their support to President Wilson, not only are rumors floating about that orders have been received that the coast artillery forces of the Pacific should be strengthened, but today orders for big gun practice of the coast artillery were issued by Col. C. C. Hammond, commanding the corps.

The encampment is to be held at Fort Stevens, June 16 to 27, during which time practice with the big coast defense guns will be engaged in and the members of the several companies will be given individual instruction in the various details of the use of the guns. Eight companies have been ordered into camp.

GUN RANGE INCREASED.

Much activity is manifested at Fort Stevens, guarding the entrance of the Columbia River, where the Ninety-third Company, commanded by Capt. Waldron, is practicing with 12-inch mortars at rapidly-moving targets towed across the field of fire at a range of from 13,000 to 16,000 yards. It is the first time that the defenses of the Columbia have been able to use such extreme ranges, which exceed the former effective range by more than 4000 yards.

The new 15-inch naval gun in use among the European powers has an effective range of 21,193 yards, and, could it be used at an angle of 45 degrees, it would cover a range of more than 46,000 yards. Its explosive shell weighs 1950 pounds.

MILITIA ORDERED TO EQUIP.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DENVER, June 2.—Special orders have been given by the War Department at Washington to officers of the Colorado National Guard and Guards of other States that may indicate active preparations for war between this country and Mexico. Officers of the Colorado militia today received orders to equip to the limit. Tablets indicating the strength of the reserve which Colorado would have to call have been forwarded to the Adjutant-General, and special warnings have been received by officers of the regular army here that they will be subject to court-martial if they express opinions on the war situation.

Colorado would be required to put 3100 men into the field in answer to the first call. Immediate steps will be taken to fulfill the orders from Washington, and the necessary equipment will be acquired at once.

VILLA MAY NOTIFY WILSON, DON'T COME INTO MEXICO.

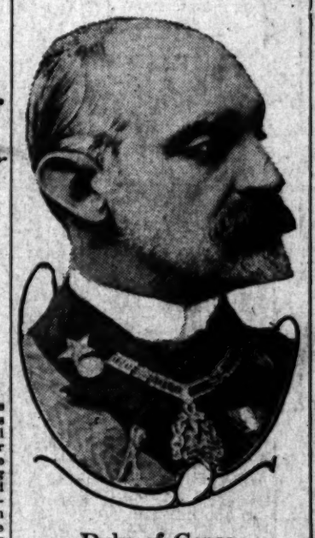
EL PASO, June 2.—Gen. Villa's answer to President Wilson's note of warning is expected to state that, while he has always felt warm friendship for the United States and for the American people, he would feel forced to resist were any effort made by the United States to compel Mexico to accept a government not of her own free choosing.

Unofficial intimations tonight from Chihuahua City, where Miguel Diaz Lombardo, Villa's Foreign Minister, is taking an active interest in Gen. Villa's reply, states that it will certainly contain a statement that Gen. Villa welcomes the evidences of the friendship of the United States, as shown by a proposal to assist in feeding famine sufferers, and Villa himself is removing the last vestiges of distress from his territory. The message is expected also to state that exercise of a little further patience by the United States will result in seeing the complete overthrow of the Carranza faction within a few months, together with the establishment of a strong government.

Gen. Villa, it is well known here and in Northern Mexico, would, if guided solely by his own preferences, bluntly tell the United States to mind its own business, for some such message as that was sent by him from Aguascalientes a few days ago, only to be stopped before it reached the border. However, it is also known that Villa's closest advisers will urge him to make a temperate reply.



Duke of Genoa.

With King Victor Emmanuel in supreme command of the Italian army and naval forces, the reins of government are now entrusted in the hands of the Duke of Genoa, who enjoys the confidence of the whole kingdom.

CHICAGO GIRL HELD AS SPY.

ITALIANS ARREST SINGER AS BAVARIAN'S ACCOMPLICE.

Search of Her Apartments in Milan Reveals Military Maps and Correspondence of Great Value Which She Said was Placed with Her for Safe-keeping.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

MILAN (Italy) June 3 (via Paris.)—Isabel Wade, aged 37, of Chicago, was arrested here today on the charge of being an accomplice of a Bavarian officer who is accused of espionage.

A few days ago the police arrested a Bavarian officer named Martin Schehammer on suspicion of espionage. He had made several visits to the provinces of Brescia and Verona in the war zone.

It was learned that Schehammer had lived in several Italian towns, Milan and Rome included, and had many addresses. His close acquaintance with Isabelle Wade of Chicago, a singer, was discovered, and the police found the woman living in an apartment here, under the name of Margherita Martello.

Search of her apartment revealed a large package of correspondence in cipher, military maps of important strategic value in the provinces of Alessandria, Udine, Verona and Bassano. These were contained in a large valise, in which also were field glasses and a revolver. From another package of German correspondence it would appear that Isabelle Wade had had dealings with the police of Berlin.

The woman at first maintained that she was Margherita Martello and had found the valise in the street, but after spending a short time in prison she admitted her real identity and declared that Schehammer had placed the valise in her hands, saying he was shadowed by the police and feared he would be arrested at any moment and that it was necessary to hide the documents.

FLAG DESECRATOR HEAVILY FINED.

SEATTLE WOMAN FOUND GUILTY OF INSULTING STARS AND STRIPES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) June 2.—Convicted of desecrating the American flag during flag drill on Mercer Island parental school two weeks ago, Mrs. Ellen Raymond of No. 66 Vine street, was fined $200 by Justice Gordon today. Counsel for defense will appeal to the Superior Court. Mrs. Raymond was released on $400 bonds.

Courtroom was crowded with patriotic men and women who carried American flags or wore the stars and stripes on their clothing.

Several witnesses testified Mrs. Raymond had called the American flag a "dirty, rotten rag," and also made defamatory remarks about the country. Mrs. Raymond on the stand denied this. She said she was born in this country and had four children, one in the Mercer Island parental school. She said she held a grievance against the authorities for taking her son to that institution, but stoutly denied the charges against her.

FRIENDLY SETTLEMENT WITH GERMANY IN SIGHT.

Wilson Interview with Bernstorff Paves Way for an Adjustment.

President Finds the Berlin Ambassador Conciliatory and Believes the Kaiser will Respond in a Satisfactory Manner to the Original Demands—May be a Step Toward Negotiations for Ending European War.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 2.—There is hope in Presidential circles tonight that the dispute between the United States and Germany can be amicably settled.

This hope is based upon a heart-to-heart conversation which President Wilson had today with Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, lasting half an hour.

Count Von Bernstorff found Mr. Wilson courteous and friendly, disposed in every reasonable way to concede the necessities of the German government. The President found the Ambassador equally courteous and equally friendly, apparently eager to find a solution which would satisfy the United States.

Such an atmosphere necessarily produced an exchange of views which seems well for the attainment of the principal demand made by the United States—security for innocent human life upon the high seas. The President notified the Ambassador that he would expect an assurance to this end from the German government, and promised not to dispatch his reply to the German note until the assurance had been received. Count Von Bernstorff was unable, of course, to commit his government, but he promised to send, and he did send tonight, a resume of the President's requirements and observations to Berlin, accompanying them with a strong recommendation that they be carefully and favorably considered. In order to facilitate the dispatch of the information, the message of the Ambassador was put in the cipher of the State Department and transmitted to Ambassador Gerard for presentation to Herr Von Jagow, German Minister for Foreign Affairs.

ATTITUDE OF BERLIN.

Count Von Bernstorff repeated to the President what he told Secretary Bryan, that there was no question as to the lively wish of the German government to clear up the misunderstandings which have developed with the United States. He declared there could be no longer any question between the two governments regarding the Gulflight and Cushing. Germany having expressed regret and being prepared to make ample reparation. As to the Lusitania, he explained his submission of four affidavits to the State Department, which, signed by neutral passengers, stated positively that there were guns on board which were mounted below decks and masked. He also referred to the character of the Lusitania, which he described as an auxiliary cruiser, and to the rewards paid to masters of British merchantment for ramming submarines. There was a thorough discussion of the vulnerability of submarines, which the Ambassador advanced as ground for their inability to practice visit and search.

This is precisely what the President claimed in his note. The submarine cannot be used as commerce destroyers, since their very character prevents consideration of humane principles. What the President wants is the protection of innocent human life. He believes not only that all passengers and crew should be removed from the captured ship, but that they should be put in a place of safety.

UNITED STATES DEMAND.

The Ambassador pointed out to the President that in the American note of May 13 no specific demands were made regarding submarine warfare. The practice was denounced and Germany was told there must be no recurrence of anything so repugnant to the principles of humanity and international law. What would satisfy the United States, the Ambassador desired to know. Does it wish to prohibit submarine attack on all merchant vessels? But many of these ships carry con-

And it's All Over!

SEBASTIAN'S MAJORITY OVER FOUR THOUSAND.

Ten Hours After Closing of Polls His Vote Piles Up. Ex-Judge Bordwell, for Board of Education, Leads All Candidates on Entire Ticket in the Balloting. Topham and Roberts Both in Council.

PRESIDENT Whitten appeared at the City Hall early yesterday morning to resume his duties as presiding officer of the Council to find that his opponent for the Mayoralty, Chief of Police Sebastian, had polled a majority of 4000 votes.

Later in the day the Sebastian majority rose to 4509 at the final count. The Sebastian vote was 46,493 and the Whitten vote 41,989. The official canvass will not vary materially.

Briefly, this is the summary of what happened yesterday, the final day of a weird, uncanny campaign.

Incidentally, Charles Edward Sebastian has established what is thought to be a world's record for cities in Los Angeles's class. He is one of the very few chiefs of police ever elevated to the Mayoralty.

Also, there were 95,034 votes cast at Tuesday's election, or 6597 more than were counted on the Mayoralty. That number of persons either failed to vote for Mayor or wrote in a name. Some wag wrote in the name of Charlie Chaplin. In one precinct "Grape Juice" Bryan was given a written in vote and in two others Jim Jeffries and Jess Willard ran neck and neck.

Light as some regarded the Mayoralty, it was the most serious contest at the finish that Los Angeles has ever seen. So awkward was the early count that it was about daylight—ten hours after the polls closed—before the Sebastian vote began to develop a superior strength and as precinct after precinct was reported, his gains became greater until his majority went far beyond the point where there could be a question.

WHITTEN SMILES.

President Whitten smiled when he was informed by The Times early yesterday morning that he had lost.

"If the people of Los Angeles don't want me for Mayor, it is no fault of mine," he said. "I have done the very best I know how. I have tried to conduct a clean, decent campaign. I have every wish for the success of my opponent and shall do all in my power to make his administration a success."

Mr. Whitten's one great ambition was to become Mayor of Los Angeles, put into further effect the policies that have marked his public service of the past, and then retire.

Chief Sebastian will take a ten-day rest, going to the mountains today with his secretary, Mr. Snively. Upon his return he will prepare for his inaugural on July 1.

MUMA ELIMINATED.

One of the important surprises of the unofficial count was the elimination of I. J. Muma from the Board of Education. C. J. McCormick, of the pro-Francis ticket, defeated him by 338 votes for seventh place on the ticket. Ex-Judge Bordwell ran far ahead of his opponents and landed in the first place with 57,679, the highest vote polled for any candidate at the election.

The next nearest vote was that received by Councilman Fred Wheeler. He was high man for the Council with 57,232 votes, which is the record for that sort of race. His nearest rival was Councilman Betkouski with 50,552 votes and Councilmen Conwell and Langdon third and fourth handily.

WOMAN LANDS SIXTH.

Robert T. Brain's vote landed him in fifth place on the Council. The race of Estelle Lawton Lindsey was the one remarkable feature of the Council fight. She landed in sixth place with 41,437 votes.

Mrs. Lindsey bears the distinction of being the first woman to serve on the Council in Los Angeles and one of the few women in public life ever given so important a commission. She is prominent in club work and social service, is a newspaper woman and is an ex-comrade in the red-card local of Socialists. That she carries considerable weight is evidenced by the fact that her husband, an attorney, is in the superdreadnaught class.

WRIGHT'S ELECTION.

"Toesie" Wright's election to the Council was no surprise, considering the excellent record he has made and the stirring campaign he put up. Although he is an attorney, his prior love was the newspaper profession, which still claims him. His election gives that profession a representation of three in the Council, a batting average of .333 for the fourth Estate, inasmuch as Mr. Wheeler is editor of a Socialist paper or something and Mrs. Lindsey contributes to an obscure publication.

The election of John Topham and W. A. Roberts was uncertain until nearly all the votes were in. Mr. Roberts is now in the Council, having been appointed a year ago, and Mr. Topham was formerly in the Council, as well as having been Police Commissioner for four years.

The defeat of Councilman George Williams was no surprise, though it was a disappointment to his many friends. The fact that he was pock-

J. N. Brett Shot in Launch with Carranza Soldiers by Villa Troopers Near Panuco—Bryan Said to be Investigating—Situation in the Oil Fields Said to be Becoming Intolerable and Workers are Leaving.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) June 2—It was reported here today that I. E. Bowers and his wife, Americans, were besieged at their ranch at Noria, Sonora, by bandits who made a raid on the place. Bowers and his wife, who are alone on the ranch, are making a fight on the ten marauders, according to the last report received here early today.

Bandits have been plundering in the territory between Noria and Querovabi in which many Americans reside. In a fight last night at the railroad station at Querovabi five Villa soldiers were killed and one Carranza adherent.

Three railroad bridges have been destroyed in the territory where the bandits are operating.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—J. N. Bett, an American, while in a launch with Carranza soldiers, south of Panuco, was shot and killed by a Villa trooper, according to a dispatch to the State Department from Tampico dated May 27 and made public today. Secretary Bryan announced the government is investigating the case.

HOUSTON (Tex.) June 2.—An American naval officer named Green, from the United States cruiser Sacramento, was fired on by Villa soldiers and narrowly escaped death while investigating the death of two Americans near the Panuco oil fields, according to Capt. Oscar Lane of the tank steamer Winifred, who arrived here today. Lane brought news of the assassination of six Americans in the Panuco oil fields.

Green, who is a lieutenant, was accompanied by the American Consul at Tampico, according to Lane's statement. The launch bearing the officer and the American Consul is said to have carried an American flag at her stern and a white flag at her bow. Lieut. Green's hat was shot away and his scalp grazed, Lane said.

The officer immediately put the launch back to shore, where he was met by a small party of Mexicans, according to the captain of the Winifred. He attempted to obtain an explanation, but instead was threatened with immediate execution and only persistent efforts on the part of the Consul saved the officer's life, Lane said.

This happened about three weeks ago.

Capt. Lane told of at least half a dozen Americans whom he said had been killed by warring factions between Panuco and Tampico. He said two Americans were killed at a pumping station in the oil fields near Tampico and that Chief Engineer John Smith of the Coast Oil Company, and J. N. Bennett, another oil man, were killed within the past few days.

Capt. Lane said he understood that the American Consul at Tampico had all the facts in regard to the various assassinations and that full details had been sent to the State Department at Washington.

The oil fields are located about twenty miles up the river from Tampico and are under control of the Villa forces. Tampico is controlled by Carranza.

Officers of six oil companies, operating in the Panuco fields, which have offices here, were asked today if they had information that any of their men had been killed. All denied such knowledge.

British bomb[illegible]euve Chapelle.

WILSON CALLS MEXICANS TO ACCOUNT; "COMPOSE YOUR DIFFERENCES" HE SAYS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Following is the text of President Wilson's call to the Mexicans to end their strife and compose their differences:

"For more than two years revolutionary conditions have existed in Mexico. The purpose of the revolution was to rid Mexico of men who ignored the Constitution of the republic, and use their power in contempt of the right of its people, and with these purposes, the people of the United States instinctively and generously sympathized. But the leaders of the revolution, in the very hour of their success, have disagreed and turned their arms against one another.

"All professing the same objects, they are, nevertheless, unable or unwilling to co-operate. A central authority at Mexico City is no sooner set up than it is undermined and its authority denied by those who were expected to support it.

Her crops are destroyed, her fields lie unseeded, her work cattle are confiscated for the use of the armed factions, her people flee to the mountains to escape being drawn into unavailing bloodshed and no means seems to see or lend the way to peace and settled order. There is no proper protection either for her own citizens or for the citizens of other nations resident and at work within her territory. Mexico is starving and without a government.

Least of all do they desire to settle her affairs for her, or claim any right to do so. It must presently do what it has not hitherto done or felt at liberty to do, lend its active moral support to some man or group of men, if such may be found, who can rally the suffering people of Mexico to their support in an effort to ignore, if they cannot unite, the warring factions of the country, return to the Constitution of the republic so long in abeyance, and set up a government at Mexico City which the great powers of the world can recognize and deal with; a government with whom the programme of the revolution will be business and not merely a platform.

"I, therefore, publicly and very solemnly call upon the leaders of the factions in Mexico to act together and to act promptly for the relief and redemption of their prostrate country. I feel it to be my duty to tell them that if they cannot accommodate their differences and unite for this great purpose within a very short time this government will be constrained to decide what means should be employed by the United States in order to help Mexico save herself and serve her people."

MEXICANS ARE REGRETFUL OVER WILSON WARNING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) June 2.—Heriberto Barron, founder of the Mexican Democratic party, here on a mission for Gen. Carranza, in a statement on President Wilson's warning, said he considered the issuance of the statement "very unfortunate." Mr. Barron declared it would complicate the Mexican situation by encouraging "reactionaries and conspirators" and that it might delay restoration of peace.

Jesus Acuna, Governor of Coahuila, en route to Vera Cruz, said:

"I regret that President Wilson should have felt it necessary to interfere in the internal affairs of Mexico at a time when the Constitutionalist forces are on the eve of reoccupying Mexico City and establishing there a government which will merit the recognition of the United States and other governments."

ernment in Mexico after the factions had agreed on a man for provisional President by first according recognition to Vasquez Tagle or some of the other members of the Cabinet of the late President Madero, entitled to succession under the Mexican laws. The Minister so recognized would be expected to formally appoint to the Cabinet the man chosen to head the government, in whose favor he then would resign. Ernesto Madero and Manuel Bonilla also were members of the Madero Cabinet, but Vasquez Tagle, Minister of Justice, was the only one who did not present his resignation.

The details of a constitutional succession, however, it is understood, will not be given attention until there is an agreement on the new provisional President and his Cabinet. An effort is to be made to secure men for the portfolios who represent various branches of Mexican politics, the majority being committed to a movement to take under its standard the best elements in the Villa and Carranza ranks was widely discussed.

Foreign nations have been taken into the confidence of the United States and those European diplomats who would express themselves indicated their approval of the change in the Mexican policy of the administration. In South American circles it was declared today's statement was a logical development of last year's mediation conference at Niagara Falls, when the United States, together with Argentine, Brazil and Chile, signed a protocol agreeing to recognize the government set up by agreement of the factions.

VILLISTA NEWS.

The effect of the President's statement in Mexican quarters was varied. Gen. Villa's representative here, Enrique Llorente, promptly issued a statement saying the Convention government had tried to put into effect the very ideas set forth by Mr. Wilson and was ready to co-operate at any time with opposing factions. The Carranza agency was silent, but it was predicted that Gen. Carranza would endeavor to demonstrate by a quick campaign on Mexico City that he could dominate all other factions in a military way and thereby command recognition of foreign governments.

Representatives here of some of the thousands of exiled Mexicans who were driven from their country by the Constitutionalists, expressed their approval of the President's plan, but doubted whether the Villa and Carranza and Zapata elements could reach an agreement. The possibility of another revolutionary LLORENTE'S STATEMENT.

After reading President Wilson's statement, Enrique Llorente, head of the Villa agency here, issued the following:

"The Convention government, of whose military forces Gen. Villa is commander-in-chief, was created in the very spirit in which President Wilson's declaration was written, but unfortunately, many of those who have undertaken to support and maintain that government failed in adherence to their pledges. Since then Gen. Villa has on numerous occasions signified a desire to reach an accord with those who are opposing him, even expressing a willingness to entirely eliminate himself from the situation should occasion seem to so demand.

"Gen. Villa certainly will give the most serious, attentive and practical consideration to any friendly suggestion reaching him from President Wilson, whose unselfishness of purpose he well understands and fully appreciates."

State Department advices today said there was no communication between Tampico and Panuco, where Villa forces are operating, and that petroleum companies feared if the transportation was not soon restored the petroleum would overflow the storage tanks and run into the river. Two hundred Mexican employees of the Standard Oil Company were reported on a strike at Panuco.

VILLA DECREE.

Another report received today announced the issuance of a Villa decree establishing courts of justice in the Villa territory, effective May 24. Hermosillo was said to be quiet after being placed under martial law by Gov. Maytorena.

A consular dispatch said there was no truth in reports of the capture of John Gross and family by Yaqui Indians.

The Carranza agency gave out a cablegram from Vera Cruz stating that Gen. Carranza today signed an order allowing the introduction of all supplies into Mexico City, and that food was being furnished on request in every locality controlled by Carranza forces. The message also declared that conditions around Vera Cruz and vicinity were better than at any time since the city was occupied; that Tampico had a sufficient supply of food, although many men were out of work because the oil companies had suspended operations. Mexico City, held by the Villa-Zapata government, was said to be normal in so far as health conditions were concerned, though a serious shortage of food existed among the poorer classes.

GEN. HUERTA DISAPPROVES.

Former President of Mexico Criticises Wilson Policy.

Villa's Consul in New York is Very Much Gratified.

Sonora not Much Concerned and Maytorena Reticent.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta, former provisional President of Mexico, after he had been shown President Wilson's note regarding the situation in Mexico, issued today the following signed statement:

"As a foreigner, enjoying the hospitality of a foreign country, I should not criticise nor even discuss statements of the Governor or officers of the foreign country I live in. But I may say this:

"Any foreign country that is sincere and honest in its endeavor to help our nation would commit the biggest blunder by giving its moral support or assistance to any person or factions. Such actions, instead of bringing the results desired, would result in the opposite direction.

"The Mexican nation as a whole will never accept any such party even if it should only be suspected that that party received any help from a foreign country. Our people will never stand for any government inspired by foreigners no matter how humanitarian or noble the motives of such foreign nations appear to be."

CONSUL'S VIEW AT EL PASO.

EL PASO, June 2.—Francisco McManus, Villa Consul at El Paso, made the following statement relative to President Wilson's note:

"Except to emphatically state that I do not in any way recognize the right of the United States to interfere in the domestic affairs of Mexico I have no statement at this time to make regarding the Wilson note. I can add, however, that foreigners and Mexicans alike, who have gone about their legitimate pursuits in territory controlled by Gen. Villa, have received protection."

MAYTORENA SILENT ON WILSON'S POLICY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NOGALES (Sonora, Mex.) June 2.—Jose Maytorena, Governor and Villa chief in Sonora, declined today to make any comment on the warning of President Wilson, until he has received an official copy of the text. Maytorena denied, however, that there was any suffering among the population of the territory controlled by him. The wheat crop of Hermosillo, he said, soon would be harvested and yield about 1000 carloads. Maytorena also stated that he was sending additional troops to La Colorado and the Yaqui Valley to protect Americans and other foreigners in those regions.

STATE OF SONORA IS UNCONCERNED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 2.—So far as Sonora, Mex., is concerned, President Wilson's warning to the Mexican chiefs to join in the establishment of peace is not expected to have much effect, for the reason that the Yaqui Indians are beyond all control, and have proclaimed an independent government of their own. What the United States will do in their case is a matter of curiosity to Mexican leaders of all factions, who are wholly unable to cope with them.

For thirty years prior to the outbreak of the Madero revolt in 1911, Sonora was more or less under military law, owing to the turbulence of the Yaquis who had been despoiled of their rich lands in the Yaqui Valley on the west coast of Mexico by Porfirio Diaz.

These lands have passed in large areas into the hands of Americans and other foreigners. Revolutionary leaders of various political affiliations have won tentatively the support of the Yaquis by promises of the restoration of the lands. As fast as they failed to redeem these promises the Yaquis turned against them.

The last man they supported was Jose Maytorena, Governor of Sonora, and Villa leader. Lately the Indians rebelled against him, and set up an independent nation, and declared war on all Mexican factions.

Only two weeks ago the Yaquis attacked an American colony at Esperanza, killing three and wounding several. The Indians boast that each one is capable of handling five Mexican soldiers. And when Maytorena sent a force against them, the soldiers, according to report, declined to abandon the comparative safety of the railroad, leaving the colonists to fight it out.

VILLA CONSUL MUCH GRATIFIED

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Villa's representative in New York, Francisco Urquidi, said he was much gratified by President Wilson's new policy toward Mexico.

"That is fine," Senor Urquidi said after reading the President's pronouncement to the Mexican leaders. "That is just what we expected from President Wilson. To be perfectly frank, I might say that we—the Villa people—have tried, on more than one occasion, to do just what President Wilson has suggested. Mr. Carranza, however, is a very hard-headed man.

The military mastery of Mexico, Senor Urquidi said, would depend much upon a great battle which is now being waged around Leon, some 200 west of Mexico City. The battle between the Carranza and Villa troops, he said, had been in progress for eight days. More men than have fought in any other battle in Mexico's recent troubles were taking part, he said, and the victor would probably get control of the situation in the republic.

YAQUI INDIANS ON WAR PATH

COMPEL CARRANZA LEADER TO MOVE HIS ARMY FROM SONORA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ON BOARD U. S. S. COLORADO OFF SAN DIEGO (by wireless to San Diego) June 2.—Yaqui Indians who have been waging independent warfare for several months in Sonora have renewed their activities. Gen. Flores with his Carranza forces has been compelled to retire from Hermosillo, Sonora, to Puerto, Sinaloa, seventy-five miles south. Carranza troops have burned the Southern Pacific Railroad bridge north of Guaymas, Sonora, cutting off railroad communication with Nogales, on the northern border of Sonora.

YAQUIS RAID CAVALRY CORPS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 2.—Yaqui Indians raided the cavalry camp of the Carranza garrison of Agua Prieta, captured three guards and escaped with fifty horses which were delivered today to Chief Ubalojo, a Yaqui leader, who is reported to be at Bacachi Pass, twelve miles west of Agua Prieta. Gen. Calles, commanding the Agua Prieta garrison, is preparing for one of the numerous threatened attacks on the Mexican border. It is not believed, however, that the attack will be made.

CARRANZA STILL HOLDS TAMPICO

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) June 2.—W. F. Kerr, head of the local office of a large oil company, said today that Carranza forces are holding Tampico and its terminals and Villa forces are besieging the city, their lines being about twenty miles out. The company's wells are in territory controlled by Villa and the shipping by Carranza, and the company, he said, has been compelled to pay taxes to both factions on all shipments.

New, Reliable Pianos at $275.00 a Specialty of Ours

For many years we have sold the Wellington Piano. It is the product of the celebrated Cable Company of Chicago.

A description of it sounds just like the description of every other piano, but the work it does, the service it gives, is unique. It is the place of many a $400 instrument in schools, conservatories and studios.

Our experience with it runs over a period of about 15 years.

Today it is our biggest seller (numerically speaking), with the possible exception of the Ludwig.

No factory in the United States has finer facilities for turning out good pianos at reasonable prices than the Cable Company.

Few retailers have the opportunities for output that we have, covering, as we do, the territory from Idaho to the Mexican border.

If you need a piano that will look well in your home, will stand hard practice, that you can get every dollar you put into it out any time within two years in trade on a more expensive one that is sold at the right price, buy

MAN AND WIFE BESIEGED BY BANDITS OF SONORA.

Six Assassinated at Tampico in Move to Drive Foreigners Out.

J. N. Brett Shot in Launch with Carranza Soldiers by Villa Troopers Near Panuco—Bryan Said to be Investigating—Situation in the Oil Fields Said to be Becoming Intolerable and Workers are Leaving.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) June 2—It was reported here today that I. E. Bowers and his wife, Americans, were besieged at their ranch at Noria, Sonora, by bandits who made a raid on the place. Bowers and his wife, who are alone on the ranch, are making a fight on the ten marauders, according to the last report received here early today.

Bandits have been plundering in the territory between Noria and Querovabi in which many Americans reside. In a fight last night at the railroad station at Querovabi five Villa soldiers were killed and one Carranza adherent.

Three railroad bridges have been destroyed in the territory where the bandits are operating.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—J. N. Bett, an American, while in a launch with Carranza soldiers, south of Panuco, was shot and killed by a Villa trooper, according to a dispatch to the State Department from Tampico dated May 27 and made public today. Secretary Bryan announced the government is investigating the case.

HOUSTON (Tex.) June 2.—An American naval officer named Green, from the United States cruiser Sacramento, was fired on by Villa soldiers and narrowly escaped death while investigating the death of two Americans near the Panuco oil fields, according to Capt. Oscar Lane of the tank steamer Winifred, who arrived here today. Lane brought news of the assassination of six Americans in the Panuco oil fields.

Green, who is a lieutenant, was accompanied by the American Consul at Tampico, according to Lane's statement. The launch bearing the officer and the American Consul is said to have carried an American flag at her stern and a white flag at her bow. Lieut. Green's hat was shot away and his scalp grazed, Lane said.

The officer immediately put the launch back to shore, where he was met by a small party of Mexicans, according to the captain of the Winifred. He attempted to obtain an explanation, but instead was threatened with immediate execution and only persistent efforts on the part of the Consul saved the officer's life, Lane said.

This happened about three weeks ago.

Capt. Lane told of at least half a dozen Americans whom he said had been killed by warring factions between Panuco and Tampico. He said two Americans were killed at a pumping station in the oil fields near Tampico and that Chief Engineer John Smith of the Coast Oil Company, and J. N. Bennett, another oil man, were killed within the past few days.

Capt. Lane said he understood that the American Consul at Tampico had all the facts in regard to the various assassinations and that full details had been sent to the State Department at Washington.

The oil fields are located about twenty miles up the river from Tampico and are under control of the Villa forces. Tampico is controlled by Carranza.

Officers of six oil companies, operating in the Panuco fields, which have offices here, were asked today if they had information that any of their men had been killed. All denied such knowledge.

"Unfortunate."

WILSON CALLS MEXICANS TO ACCOUNT; "COMPOSE YOUR DIFFERENCES" HE SAYS.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Following is the text of President Wilson's call to the Mexicans to end their strife and compose their differences:

"For more than two years revolutionary conditions have existed in Mexico. The purpose of the revolution was to rid Mexico of men who ignored the Constitution of the republic, and use their power in contempt of the right of its people, and with these purposes, the people of the United States instinctively and generously sympathized. But the leaders of the revolution, in the very hour of their success, have disagreed and turned their arms against one another.

GEN. HUERTA DISAPPROVES.

Former President of Mexico Criticises Wilson Policy.

Villa's Consul in New York is Very Much Gratified.

Sonora not Much Concerned and Maytorena Reticent.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta, former provisional President of Mexico, after he had been shown President Wilson's note regarding the situation in Mexico, issued today the following signed statement:

"As a foreigner, enjoying the hospitality of a foreign country, I should not criticise nor even discuss statements of the Governor or officers of the foreign country I live in. But I may say this:

"Any foreign country that is sincere and honest in its endeavor to help our nation would commit the biggest blunder by giving its moral support or assistance to any person or factions. Such actions, instead of bringing the results desired, would result in the opposite direction.

CONSUL'S VIEW AT EL PASO.

EL PASO, June 2.—Francisco McManus, Villa Consul at El Paso, made the following statement relative to President Wilson's note:

"Except to emphatically state that I do not in any way recognize the right of the United States to interfere in the domestic affairs of Mexico I have no statement at this time to make regarding the Wilson note. I can add, however, that foreigners and Mexicans alike, who have gone about their legitimate pursuits in territory controlled by Gen. Villa, have received protection."

MAYTORENA SILENT ON WILSON'S POLICY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NOGALES (Sonora, Mex.) June 2.—Jose Maytorena, Governor and Villa chief in Sonora, declined today to make any comment on the warning of President Wilson, until he has received an official copy of the text. Maytorena denied, however, that there was any suffering among the population of the territory controlled by him. The wheat crop of Hermosillo, he said, soon would be harvested and yield about 1000 carloads. Maytorena also stated that he was sending additional troops to La Colorado and the Yaqui Valley to protect Americans and other foreigners in those regions.

STATE OF SONORA IS UNCONCERNED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 2.—So far as Sonora, Mex., is concerned, President Wilson's warning to the Mexican chiefs to join in the establishment of peace is not expected to have much effect, for the reason that the Yaqui Indians are beyond all control, and have proclaimed an independent government of their own. What the United States will do in their case is a matter of curiosity to Mexican leaders of all factions, who are wholly unable to cope with them.

For thirty years prior to the outbreak of the Madero revolt in 1911, Sonora was more or less under military law, owing to the turbulence of the Yaquis who had been despoiled of their rich lands in the Yaqui Valley on the west coast of Mexico by Porfirio Diaz.

These lands have passed in large areas into the hands of Americans and other foreigners. Revolutionary leaders of various political affiliations have won tentatively the support of the Yaquis by promises of the restoration of the lands. As fast as they failed to redeem these promises the Yaquis turned against them.

The last man they supported was Jose Maytorena, Governor of Sonora, and Villa leader. Lately the Indians rebelled against him, and set up an independent nation, and declared war on all Mexican factions.

Only two weeks ago the Yaquis attacked an American colony at Esperanza, killing three and wounding several. The Indians boast that each one is capable of handling five Mexican soldiers. And when Maytorena sent a force against them, the soldiers, according to report, declined to abandon the comparative safety of the railroad, leaving the colonists to fight it out.

VILLA CONSUL MUCH GRATIFIED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Villa's representative in New York, Francisco Urquidi, said he was much gratified by President Wilson's new policy toward Mexico.

"That is fine," Senor Urquidi said after reading the President's pronouncement to the Mexican leaders. "That is just what we expected from President Wilson. To be perfectly frank, I might say that we—the Villa people—have tried, on more than one occasion, to do just what President Wilson has suggested. But Carranza, however, is a very hard headed man.

"Everything President Wilson says forth is true. All right-thinking men in Mexco know that."

The military mastery of Mexico, Senor Urquidi said, would depend much upon a great battle which is now being waged around Leon, northwest of Mexico City. The battle between the Carranza and Villa troops, he said, had been in progress for eight days. More men than have fought in any other battle in Mexico's recent troubles were taking part, he said, and the victor would probably get control of the situation in the republic.

COMPELS CARRANZA LEADER TO MOVE HIS ARMY FROM SONORA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ON BOARD U. S. S. COLORADO OFF SAN DIEGO (by wireless to San Diego) June 2.—Yaqui Indians who have been waging independent warfare for several months in Sonora have renewed their activities. General Flores with his Carranza forces has been compelled to retire from Guaymas, Sonora, to Fuerte, Sinaloa, a distance of seventy-five miles south. Carranza troops have burned the Southern Pacific Railroad bridge north of Guaymas, Sonora, cutting off railroad communication with Nogales, on the northern border of Sonora.

YAQUIS RAID CAVALRY CORPS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 2.—Yaqui Indians raided the cavalry corps of the Carranza garrison of Agua Prieta, captured three guards and escaped with fifty horses which were reported today to Chief Ubalojo, a Yaqui leader, who is reported to be at Aconchi Pass, twelve miles west of Agua Prieta. Gen. Calles, commander of the Agua Prieta garrison, is preparing for one of the numerous threatened attacks on the Mexican border. It is not believed, however, that the attack will be made.

CARRANZA STILL HOLDS TAMPICO.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) June 2.—W. T. Kerr, head of the local office of a large oil company, said today that Carranza forces are holding Tampico and its terminals and Villa troops are besieging the city, their lines being about twenty miles out. The company's wells are in territory controlled by Villa and the shipping by Carranza, and the company, it is said, has been compelled to pay taxes to both factions on all shipments.

New, Reliable Pianos at $275.00 a Specialty of Ours

For many years we have sold the Wellington Piano. It is the product of the celebrated Cable Company of Chicago.

A description of it sounds just like the description of any other piano, but the work it does, the service it gives, is taking the place of many a $400 instrument in schools, conservatories and studios.

Our experience with it runs over a period of about 15 years. Today it is our biggest seller (numerically speaking), with the possible exception of the Ludwig.

No factory in the United States has finer facilities for turning out good pianos at reasonable prices than the Cable Company.

Few retailers have the opportunities for output that we have, covering, as we do, the territory from Idaho to the Mexican border.

If you need a piano that will look well in your home, do will stand hard practice, that you can get every dollar you put into it out any time within two years in trade on a more expensive one that is sold at the right price, buy tary law, owing to the turbulence of the Yaquis who had been despoiled of their rich lands in the Yaqui Valley on the west coast of Mexico by Porfirio Diaz.

These lands have passed in large areas into the hands of Americans and other foreigners. Revolutionary leaders of various political affiliations have won tentatively the support of the Yaquis by promises of the restoration of the lands. As fast as they failed to redeem these promises the Yaquis turned against them.

The last man they supported was Jose Maytorena, Governor of Sonora, and Villa leader. Lately the Indians rebelled against him, and set up an independent nation, and declared war on all Mexican factions.

Only two weeks ago the Yaquis attacked an American colony at Esperanza, killing three and wounding several. The Indians boast that each one is capable of handling five Mexican soldiers. And when Maytorena sent a force against them, the soldiers, according to report, declined to abandon the comparative safety of the railroad, leaving the colonists to fight it out.

VILLA CONSUL MUCH GRATIFIED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Villa's representative in New York, Francisco Urquidi, said he was much gratified by President Wilson's new policy toward Mexico.

"That is fine," Senor Urquidi said after reading the President's pronouncement to the Mexican leaders. "That is just what we expected from President Wilson. To be perfectly frank, I might say that we—the Villa people—have tried, on more than one occasion, to do just what President Wilson has suggested. Mr. Carranza, however, is a very hard-headed man.

"Everything President Wilson says forth is true. All right-thinking men in Mexico know that."

The military mastery of Mexico, Senor Urquidi said, would depend much upon a great battle which is now being waged around Leon, northwest of Mexico City. The battle between the Carranza and Villa troops, he said, had been in progress for eight days. More men than had fought in any other battle in Mexico's recent troubles were taking part, he said, and the victor would probably get control of the situation in the republic.

YAQUI INDIANS ON WAR PATH

COMPEL CARRANZA LEADER TO MOVE HIS ARMY FROM SONORA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ON BOARD U. S. S. COLORADO OFF SAN DIEGO (by wireless to San Diego) June 2.—Yaqui Indians who have been waging independent warfare for several months in Sonora have renewed their activities. Gen. Flores with his Carranza forces has been compelled to retire from Navojoa, Sonora, to Fuerte, Sinaloa, seventy-five miles south. Carranza forces have burned the Southern Pacific Railroad bridge north of Guaymas, Sonora, cutting off railroad communication with Nogales, on the northern border of Sonora.

ALL WE NEED IS STEAMSHIPS.

McAdoo Says South American Trade is Easily Ours.

Arrangements for Financial Credits Already Made.

Pan-American Conference is to be Perpetuated.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Plans to continue the work begun by the recent Pan-American financial conference, through permanent, although unofficial committees, were announced today in a statement by Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury. The Secretary expressed confidence that "practical results of the most advantageous sort to the United States and all the countries of South and Central America" would follow this conference.

"Some of the governments in South America, I am told," he said, "already have made financial arrangements with some of our bankers, and negotiations are pending between other South American countries and our bankers, with every prospect that they will be consummated.

"If through private enterprise or the action of our government adequate steamship facilities could be promptly supplied, there is no doubt that we could secure and retain the largest part of the valuable trade with South and Central America."

FOR ANNUAL MEETINGS.

The Secretary announced his intention of recommending to the President that Congress provide for holding such a conference annually. In addition to the business results of the meetings, he spoke optimistically of the prospects for moral benefits.

"I hope," he said, "that we have strengthened the foundations for enduring peace in the northern and southern continents of this hemisphere, at least, and that having accomplished that, we may set an example to the world of high political, material and industrial morality, through which there may be brought, in time, to our unfortunate neighbors of the eastern nemisphere, the beatitude of restored and perpetual peace and prosperity."

The Secretary announced his intention of appointing nine Americans to an unofficial high joint commission to take up with similar appointees from the other American countries, the question of uniform laws. He also will name eighteen group committees of American business men to act with groups in each of the South and Central American countries along general lines.

RECOGNIZE THE MARINES.

Member of the Corps, for the First Time, is Appointed to the Navy's General Board.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Representation on the General Board of the Navy was given marines today for the first time. Secretary Daniels, after a conference with Admiral Dewey, president of the board, announced the appointment of Maj.-Gen. George Barnett, commandant of the marine corps, as an ex-officio member.

Admiral Dewey, three rear-admirals and nine captains compose the board.

"The marine corps," said Secretary Daniels, in making the announcement, "with an enlisted personnel of 10,000 men, or one-fifth as many as the naval enlisted strength, is clearly entitled to representation on the General Board."

SUPPRESS SERVIAN TYPHUS.

Encouraging Reports of Campaign Against Disease are Now Being Received at Washington.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Encouraging reports from the campaign against typhus in Servia came to the State Department today in dispatches from Nish. Suppression of the plague was said to be going steadily forward in the districts where American Red Cross officers are at work.

A request for supplies of cholera vaccine was transmitted to the Red Cross headquarters, and the vaccine will be forwarded immediately.

Reports from Montenegro said conditions in some sections were alarming, but that with the adoption of proper sanitary measures there was hope of preventing a general epidemic of typhus there.

TROOPS TO PHILIPPINES.

War Department Announces Dates When Regiments Will Leave the United States.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Troops recently ordered to relieve organizations in the Philippines, the War Department announced today, will leave on or about the following dates:

Fifteenth Cavalry, Fort Bliss, Texas, July 2, to relieve the Eighth Cavalry; Ninth Cavalry, Douglas, Ariz., August 2, to relieve the Seventh Cavalry; Twenty-seventh Infantry, Texas City, September 1, to relieve the Twenty-fourth Infantry.

SAFETY FOR DERNBERG.

British, French and Russians Promise Safe Conduct to the Former Colonial Secretary.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The British, French and Russian embassies here have assured the State Department that they will give safe conduct to Dr. Bernhard Dernberg, former colonial secretary of Germany, when he leaves the United States. It has been known that Dr. Dernberg is about to leave the country and it is reported he will go to Norway some time this month. A few weeks ago, when Dr. Dernberg, as a climax to a series of speeches, which aroused the resentment of the Washington government justified the sinking of the Lusitania in a public address, there were broad intimations that through the German Embassy he might be invited to leave the country.

SUBMARINE SINKS BELGIAN TRAWLER.

eted between the jitbus Williams and the Socialist Williams lost him many votes. He was defeated for ninth place by Mr. Topham.

"Jitney" Williams, who ran twelfth, received hundreds of votes that were intended for Councilman George Williams. The former's name was at the head of the Williams contingent and unfortunately drew from the incumbent.

MRS. FOLTZ LOSES.

The race made by Clara Shortridge Foltz was very gratifying to her friends, for she received a splendid vote of 29,964. Overconfidence on the part of many of her loyal supporters is probably what cost her a place on the ticket, for she had been regarded as one of the contenders from the start.

The re-election of five of the old Councilmen and the coming reorganization of that body have started a contest over the presidency between Councilmen Betkouski and Conwell. Many friends of Councilman Conwell assert that he is the logical man for the place, inasmuch as he is now on the Finance Committee.

That there will be a complete reorganization of the Council after July 1 is certain. Mrs. Lindsey may take Mr. Wheeler's place at the head of the Public Welfare Committee.

THE PROPOSITIONS.

The vote on the propositions was no surprise. While on the majority of the questions submitted the vote was light, the total polled on the jitbus initiative, the vehicle tax and the two-platoon ordinance was practically as much as the Mayoralty vote.

Of the seven propositions, the proposed jitbus ordinance was the only one defeated. This ordinance had been submitted by initiative by the association of jitney drivers. It provided no regulation, but on the other hand contained too many provisions that were drafted in the interest of the irresponsible bus and not enough in the interest of the general public.

The people turned this initiative down by a majority of 11,403.

The voters went on record as decisively in favor of the two-platoon system for the fire department. This will cost about $350,000, in addition to the present cost of maintaining the department. A majority of 43,562 was recorded for the firemen's new law.

The detailed vote for all candidates and propositions was as follows:

RESULTS OF WAR GAME.

Secretary and Four Admirals Discuss Recent Maneuvers and Plans for Coming Summer.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Results of the recent war game off the Atlantic coast, the winter fleet maneuvers in Cuban waters and target practice at Tangier Sound, were discussed at a conference between Secretary Daniels and Admiral Fletcher, commanding the Atlantic fleet, and three division commanders, Rear-Admirals Mayo, Boush and Coffman.

Saturday the Secretary will talk over with Admiral Fletcher and Rear-Admiral Benson, chief of operations, plans for the activities of the fleet during the summer.

Most of the ships are now at their home yards undergoing overhauling.

CHINA ANXIOUS FOR OUR GOODS.

Banquet is Tendered Oriental Commission in Gotham.

Great Wave of Prosperity is Predicted by Mr. Schwab.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Additional steamship lines between the United States and China and an extension of banking facilities between the two countries were urged here today by Chenh Hsun Chang, chairman of the honorary commercial committee of the Republic of China, at a luncheon given in honor of the commissioners by the members council of the Merchants' Association of New York. More ships and wider banking facilities, the chairman said, were essential to the development of trade between this country and the Far East.

Other speakers at the luncheon were Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Company; Willard Straight of J. P. Morgan & Co. and president of the American Asiatic Association, Kai Fu Shah, Minister from China; William Fellows Morgan, a New York merchant and David Z. T. Yui, secretary of the commission.

Mr. Morgan, in his address recalled the address of welcome President Wilson delivered to the commissioners at Washington. At the mention of the President's name the crowd at the luncheon burst into applause. It was some moments before it was quiet enough for Mr. Morgan to proceed.

MUST HAVE SHIPS.

Mr. Schwab sounded an optimistic note regarding the future trade relations between the United States and China. He also said:

"I want to say just a word or two regarding the necessity of better transportation facilities. No nation in the world manufactures as well as the United States. No nation in the world sells any better or as well; but of what importance is it to manufacture or sell if we can't deliver the goods?

"In the manufacture of steel one-third of the cost is in transportation. What is true of steel is true of other manufactured products. The ability of other nations to take advantage of that one-third of the cost gives them precedence in the commerce of great nations like China.

"In conclusion, I want to say that while I feel the business in the United States has gone through a depressing period for the past two or three years, it is but a cycle and that we will progress onward and upward, not only in this generation, but in the generations to come; that we will experience greater prosperity and greater happiness than has ever been dreamed of before."

Mr. Shah, Mr. Straight, Mr. Morgan and Mr. Yui spoke upon the general subject of the relations between the United States and China.

ENGINEER CORPS PRIME FACTOR.

USE OF MINES AT CARENCY TERROR TO GERMANS.

Galleries and Subterranean Trenches More than Mile and a Half in Length Enable Troops to Push Ahead with Great Courage. Especially Valuable at Lorette.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, June 2.—The part played by engineering corps in the fighting in the region of Arras is described in a narrative from an official observer attached to the French army given out here tonight. "In the vicinity of Carency the battle has been conducted by use of mines since January," the observer writes. "The calm courage shown by our men in the face of great dangers is especially worthy of mention. In this region the galleries and subterranean connecting trenches are more than a mile and a half in length, and the quantity of explosives used from March 6 until May 1 is more than twenty-eight tons.

"On May 9 an attack was begun on Carency. Early in the morning the attack was prepared by artillery and simultaneously by the explosion of seventeen mine fields, which destroyed completely a majority of the enemy's barbed-wire fortifications and breastworks and demolished the enemy's subterranean passages. German sappers were killed outright, only seventy being captured.

"This gave great courage to our infantry in charging, owing to the knowledge that the ground beneath was not mined and that they need not fear that at any minute they might be blown up. Many other places were captured owing to the splendid work and long preparation of the engineers. Their work was particularly valuable at Lorette and Decauville. The work of the sappers, in the construction of trenches, bomb proofs, platforms for guns and super-imposed galleries, also has been excellent. As soon as ground has been gained engineers are brought up to organize it against counter-attack.

"A letter taken from the body of a German says:

"'The French engineers cause us to lead a life of infernal damnation.'"

STEAMER SAIDIEH SUNK BY GERMANS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, June 2.—The British steamer Saidieh, from Alexandria, Egypt, for Liverpool, was torpedoed yesterday in the North Sea. Seven members of the crew, including a stewardess, were drowned. Forty-one survivors were landed today at Chatham.

The Saidieh had a crew of forty-eight Greeks, a British commander and eight passengers of different nationalities. The loss of life was the result of the jamming of davits while one of the boats was being lowered. The occupants of this boat were thrown into the water. Those in the other boats were picked up by a trawler. They assert that no warning was given before the vessel was torpedoed. It sank fifteen minutes after the explosion.

LUTHERAN SYNOD ADOPTS THE PATRIOTIC ADDRESS OF ITS PRESIDENT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Members of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of New York and New England, though heart and soul with Germany in the European war, are, in the language of the synod's president, the Rev. William M. Horn, "Americans before we are German sympathizers; and if unhappily this nation should be drawn into the cataclysm we would stand for our country even against the land of which we so affectionately think as the Fatherland."

Mr. Horn, in delivering his annual address, of which the foregoing is part, to the annual meeting of the synod, urged the attending delegates to abstain from anything which might embarrass President Wilson.

Glenn Curtiss Controls Big Concern in Toronto to Build Thousand for the British.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DULUTH (Minn.) June 2.—Anthony Jannus and Fritz G. Erickson of Duluth, aviators, have been placed in charge of a new aeroplane factory at Toronto, Ont., which has contracted with the British government to build 1000 aeroplanes at a cost of $25,000 each, according to an announcement here today by Mr. Erickson. The company at Toronto is controlled by Glenn Curtiss, Ericson said. The first delivery of the British contract is to be made July 1.

FINANCING ITALY TO BE DISCUSSED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

RED CROSS TO AID ITALY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Italian Red Cross notified the American Red Cross today that while the question of asking for American surgeons and nurses would be taken up later, there was immediate need of surgical supplies. These will be forwarded immediately to Italy, as well as to any other belligerent nation that asks for them.

DR. BATTISTI IS CONDEMNED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BRESCIA (Italy) June 2 (via Paris.)—Dr. Cesare Battisti of Trent, a member of the Austrian Chamber of Deputies, has been condemned to death by the Austrian authorities although absent. Dr. Battisti enlisted in the Italian army and asked permission to serve as a scout with the Alpine troops on account of his intimate knowledge of the topography of the province of Trent.

EXTRA SESSION A PROBABILITY.

Senator Chamberlain Predicts One Late this Summer.

Expects Steps to Strengthen the National Defense.

President has Authority to Mobilize in Mexico.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 2.—That an extra session of Congress is highly probable late in the summer and that one of its tasks will be to strengthen the national defense was the opinion expressed today by Senator George E. Chamberlain, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the Senate.

"When the special session is called, and I feel sure it will be during the summer, I will offer the new military legislation which is intended to give us a standing army of 125,000 men, which I consider is sufficient," said Senator Chamberlain. "There may be other legislation recommended by the War College and the General Staff. If the Mexican situation is acute, I do not expect opposition to any of the proposed measures.

"President Wilson has authority to mobilize troops and make armed intervention in Mexico without waiting for Congress to assemble. He can call 100,000 regular troops without further legislation.

"The strength of the standing army is now at a maximum of 85,000 and is not recruited to this number. I do not believe there are more than 25,000 regular troops in the United States today, for we have soldiers in the Philippines, in the Hawaiian Islands, in Porto Rico and in Panama."

Renting

Eight years ago two friends arrived in Los Angeles. One bought a home on terms. The other was too "wise" to fall for the real estate man's game and pay interest and taxes.

The first man paid $20 per month on his home including interest and about $2.50 per month insurance and taxes.

The second man paid from $20 to $25 per month rent and averaged at least $1.00 per month for moving.

The first man had his own garden, flowers and fruit.

The second had the inconvenience of moving about once a year, living in old houses, never knowing who his predecessors may have been or what diseases were lurking in the corners.

The first took a great interest in his home.

The second cared little about his temporary stopping place, and so spent little time with his family.

RESULT—After 8 years the first man has a deed to his home conservatively worth $2000.

The second man has about $2400 worth of worthless rent receipts.

Which is the happiest? Who was the wise man?

Which example are you following?

We have a dandy 4-Room Modern Bungalow with lawn and flowers at $1850—$75 cash and $18.50 per month, including interest. It is on a good street about 20 minutes out on the East 1st street car line. We have others in this neighborhood up to $2650 with more rooms. We have a few very cheap places on the West Side close in.

We have helped others TO OWN THEIR OWN HOMES and can help you. Our customers are our best advertisers.

Come in and we will show you the property.

TO ENFRANCHISE EVERY WOMAN.

World-wide Suffrage Near at Hand, Convention Hears.

Favored Nations Represented All Upon One Platform.

Speakers in Native Costumes at San Francisco Meeting.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—World-wide woman suffrage was declared to be an imminent reality by women voters of eight foreign countries, seven States, and the Territory of Alaska, whose speeches closed the programme today of the first convention of the California branch of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage. Speakers, garbed in native costumes, represented several foreign countries which have equal suffrage. Norway, Sweden, Iceland, Finland, Australia, New Zealand and the Isle of Man, were represented on the programme.

The prophecy of national suffrage for American women by 1917 was reiterated by the representatives of the States already boasting feminine suffrage.

Alaska was represented by Mrs. Mary E. Hart with her two suffrage adherents, Aruksok, a 19-year-old Esquimo girl, and Kar-Kar-Utch, a South Alaskan Indian. It was the first time that representatives of all woman suffrage nations met on the one platform.

An international rally was held at night at the exposition.

CALIFORNIA WINS AGAIN.

Our Wine is Awarded the Gold Diploma at the Exposition in Genoa, Italy.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—California wines have been awarded the diploma of gold at the exposition in Genoa, Italy, according to word received here today from the exposition officials. This is said to be the third grand prize California wines and champagnes have won in European expositions. The exhibit was sent by the Italian Swiss colony.

BUNDY, HARRIS AND WESTON REPRIEVED BY GOVERNOR.

Executive States He Desires Further Time to Investigate the Circumstances Concerning the Crimes Committed by the Condemned Men.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, June 2.—Gov. Johnson today issued reprieves for three condemned men who were to have been executed in the penitentiaries of this State during this month. In each case the reason given for extending executive clemency was that the Governor desired further time in which to make investigations concerning the cases. The reprieved men are:

Nat Weston, a negro, sentenced to be hanged for a murder committed in Alameda county. His execution was to have taken place June 18, but under the reprieve is postponed until August 20.

Burr Harris, a negro, sentenced to be hanged for murdering a woman Christian Science practitioner in Los Angeles. His execution was fixed for June 11 and now is postponed until August 6.

Louis Bundy, who murdered a messenger boy in Los Angeles to get money with which to buy a present for his sweetheart. His execution, set for June 18, is postponed until August 13.

Bundy and Weston are inmates of San Quentin, while Harris is held at Folsom.

FRIVOLOUS APPEAL AMAZING TO COURT.

LOS ANGELES CONTRACTOR IS FINED FOR TAKING CASE HIGHER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—A "frivolous appeal" to the State Supreme Court cost W. M. Goodwin, a Los Angeles contractor, a fine of $50 by the court today, and the loss of his case. The court in its opinion said it wondered at such an appeal, but was amazed that a complaint was ever filed at all.

Goodwin sued the Whittier Coburn Company of Los Angeles for $10,000 damages because, he said, his wife was made ill and later estranged when the defendant company sent a due bill, said to be false, to Goodwin's creditors, and his wife learned about it.

He lost his case in the Superior Court and appealed to the Supreme Court. The court added $50 to the costs as a fine.

Statuary as Presents.

Supreme Court Allows Him Redress by Accident Commission After Legal Action Fails.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—An injured workman's right to carry a claim to the State Industrial Accident Commission after failing in an action in court was upheld today by the California Supreme Court. The decision was made in sustaining the commission's award to Jeremiah Broderick, injured while in the employ of the San Francisco Stevedoring Company.

Broderick brought suit for damages in the Superior Court, but it was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction, the law giving a workman the right to seek redress either in court or before the commission only in cases where the employer had been guilty of gross negligence.

TO REDUCE SUNDAY LABOR.

Vice-President Marshall, Secretary of State Bryan, Judge Parker and Others to Attend Oakland Congress.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, June 2.—Vice-President Marshall, Secretary of State Bryan, Secretary of Labor Wilson, Judge Alton B. Parker, educators, religious leaders and scientists of America and twenty-one foreign countries will attend the International Lord's Day Congress in Oakland July 27 to August 1, it was announced today. President Wilson is honorary president of the organization.

Papers by Secretary of the Navy Daniels on "The Sunday Schedule in the Navy" and by Judge Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation on "Minimum Sunday Work in the Steel Industry" will be read. The aim of the organization is to reduce Sunday labor in continuous industries.

Riverside Man Sentenced.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO, June 2.—Convicted of a burglary, C. E. Willis of Riverside, Cal., was given a sentence of two years in the State penitentiary at Rusk, Tex., today in the Thirty-fourth District Court. Willis was arrested by the police following a store robbery. He stated that his mother and father lives in Riverside, but refused to give their names.

COUNCIL PASSES THOUSAND MARK

Women's General Federation Honors Mrs. Sherman.

Comfortable Homes for Rural Teachers Advocated.

Moving from House to House is Called a Hardship.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.), June 2.—Registration of women at General Federation headquarters passed the 1000 mark today, and interest in the proceedings of the National Council was marked. The day was a busy one for officers and delegates, including in its programme two sessions, a luncheon to Mrs. John D. Sherman, council representative from Illinois; automobile tours for all visiting delegates, and a large theater party tonight to witness an amateur production of "Every Woman's Road" by Reed College seniors.

A feature of the afternoon session was an address by Dr. C. H. Chapman of Portland on "Spiritual Forces Behind Modern Literature." The keynote of the address was that while the literature of ancient and modern history is a thing of vast accomplishment, the greatness thereof and its promise for the future are based not solely upon revelations of the world's injustice manifested, but more largely upon the manifestations of conscience and spirituality in literary work.

"Literature and Life" was the theme of a paper by Mrs. Thomas G. Winters, chairman of the federation department of literature of Minnesota. It was followed by general discussion.

RURAL TEACHERS' HOMES.

"Homes for Rural School Teachers" was a subject which developed animated discussion. From the expressions of opinion it was expected the establishment of such homes in every State in the Union would be advocated by the Union.

Mrs. Josephine Corliss Preston, Washington State superintendent of public instruction, who is credited with originating the teachers' cottage movement in this country, led the discussion with a paper telling what had been accomplished in her State.

MRS. PRESTON'S VIEW.

"The time is at hand," she said, "when we are going to learn to look upon our schoolhouses as 'places' rather than 'places,' and upon our rural teachers as a permanent part of our rural life. Then many young men and women will find it possible for them to have real homes and to teach school. When we work some of these enduring features into our school system we will be able to keep a better class of men and women teachers."

Mrs. Preston recited the hardships where a teacher had to live a few weeks at one farmer's house and then move on to another, and she told of the cottages that had been built for teachers in Washington and of the rapid increase throughout the rural districts of the State.

"TIMES" PARTY AT EXPOSITION.

EXCURSIONISTS DELIGHTED AT SERVICE EN ROUTE.

Weather Proves Ideal for the Visit and Appropriate Ceremonies are Planned for Tomorrow, Dedicated by the Management to Newspaper of the South.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EXPOSITION GROUNDS, SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The Times excursion to the San Francisco exposition arrived this morning after a most enjoyable trip and the party is comfortably housed at the Inside Inn.

The service en route was everything that could be desired and the Harvey dining car meals were the talk of all, young and old.

Weather which San Francisceans declare to have been especially reported from Los Angeles makes us one feel at home and the wonderful harmonies of the world's best gardens are being glimpsed today, while plans for more minute examination of the treasures within are being made.

Unlike other fairs which seem to have been made in a minute, this one has the effect of having been the heritage of the ages, embodying the beauty of all times and climes. The softness of coloring, the appearance of the vegetation and shrubbery, which seems to have been the product of nature rather than of horticulture, and the restful completeness of the buildings and exhibits gives one the feeling of visiting a permanent world divulged for the first time but long always existed.

Friday, June 4, has been designated by the exposition management as Los Angeles Times Day, when in addition to the Times excursion there will be special exercises and the presentation of a commemorative bronze medal of an official of the exposition.

The programme on that day will be as follows:

Assemble at Inside Inn.

Music by official band.

Chairman of the day, Miss Olive Gray.

Presentation of commemorative bronze medal by official of the exposition.

Acceptance and response by Dr. Irving R. Smith.

Music by official band.

The Times party comprises many prominent and well-known people and numbers several world travelers who express themselves as well pleased with the trip and with the arrangements.

Big Plant East of Soucher Recaptured from French.

British Flying Machine Shot Down at Bixschoote.

Fighting at Close Quarters in Le Pretre Forest.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN (via London) June 2.—The War Office today gave out the following statement: "We shot down a British flying machine at Bixschoote. The occupants, one Belgian and one British officer, were taken prisoner.

"The sugar refinery east of Souchez, into which the French penetrated yesterday afternoon, has been recaptured by us. An attack begun by the French against our positions to and south of Neuville during the evening was repulsed. Only a small section of a trench on the other side of the high road from Neuville to Ecurie was occupied by the enemy.

"Fighting at close quarters in the forest of Le Pretre for the possession of certain portions of the trenches continues.

"Eastern theater of the war: Successful engagements occurred against minor Russian divisions at Neuhausen, fifty kilometers (about thirty miles) northeast of Libau, and at Shidiki, sixty-nine kilometers (about forty miles) southeast of Libau. The same thing happened further south in the district of Shavli and on the Dubysa, southeast of Kisimy, and between Ugiamy and Klegola. At Shavli we took 500 prisoners.

"Southeastern theater of war: Further Russian entrenchments situated around Dunkowicki (near Przemysl) were taken by storm yesterday. After the victory at Stry the allied troops advanced yesterday in the direction of Medenice.

"In the month of May 863 officers and 248,569 men were taken prisoner in the southeastern theater of war, while 351 cannon and 576 machine guns were captured. Of these numbers the capturing of 400 officers, including two generals; 153,254 men, 208 cannon, including twenty-eight heavy ones and 403 machine guns, is to the credit of the troops under Gen. Mackensen. Including prisoners taken in the eastern theater of the war, as well as those announced yesterday, the total number of Russians who have fallen into the hands of the Germanic allied troops during the month of May amounts to about 1000 officers and more than 300,000 men."

GERMANS NEED HAND GRENADES.

CAPTAIN OF COMPANY KILLED FOR LACK OF THEM.

Diary of Dead Officer Tells of Desperate Straits to Which He was Reduced in Holding Plateau Where He was Left to Perish Without Reinforcements.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PARIS, June 2.—An account of the fighting in the vicinity of Notre Dame de Lorette, as written down by a German officer named Capt. Sievert in his notebook, is given out today in the recital of the "eyewitness at the front."

The purpose is to serve as a companion with the French official statements concerning combats in this vicinity.

Capt. Sievert, the author, was killed. His body was one of 4000 found on the slopes of Rette, and his notebook covers the fighting from June 10, the day after the French attack, up to May 20, the day the captain was killed.

An order issued on the evening of May 9 provided for the holding of the positions on the plateau of Lorette and along the Ablain-Carency line. To carry out these instructions, Capt. Sievert was able to dispose of one battalion of only 272 men, or one-third of its normal fighting strength, after going into battle.

The notebook contains repeated demands for help.

FROM THE DIARY.

"We absolutely need a supply of hand grenades." is an entry in the diary under date of May 11. The number which Capt. Sievert had was insufficient and he could not carry out his attack. Furthermore, the lack of projectiles prevented all chance of success.

Later there was more trouble for the captain. Orders were badly given and confusion of sectors made necessary marches and counter-marches under French artillery fire. "The way from Souchez to Albain is impracticable," the captain wrote, "exposing us to incessant artillery fire. Ablain, like Souchez, is nothing but a heap of ruins. Our guide is unable to lead us further, and, wet with sweat, we keep along. The situation is desperate. Our men decamp at each shell which falls, and it is necessary to threaten them with court-martial." Reinforcements failed to arrive, further difficulties arose, and Capt. Sievert wrote that the situation was hopeless.

THE LAST ENTRY.

The last page of his diary was written at 10 p.m. of May 20. In it the captain said:

"The bombardment today completely destroyed what remained of our trenches. The men have been without support for three days. It is impossible to hold this position with such a feeble force. I ask that an officer be sent here to report on the situation. I ask again that the fourth Company of the One Hundred and Eleventh Regiment be placed at my disposition. The artillery fire of the enemy is frightful, especially that of the heavy guns. We can hear the shells of this artillery coming whistling through the air. Every man is watchful and tense. He wonders which this particular shell is going to kill. The parapet trembles and a shower of earth and pieces of shell rain down on us. How long must we remain in this rat trap? I believe now that my nerves are gone. The fire of the enemy has attained its greatest violence. Indescribable——"

Here the tragic note of Capt. Sievert came to an end.

This diary, says the eyewitness, indicates the "great success of the French artillery and infantry."

"At the same time it shows the superhuman efforts Germany is obliged to demand of its army, and this even before the participation of Italy, which, on a new front, will hereafter take part in the siege of German and Austrian fortresses."

SEVEN SISTERS DEADLY.

Another Large Corporation is Driven from New Jersey by Provisions of the Law.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—The American Brake Shoe Foundry Co., a New Jersey corporation, has decided to dissolve, largely on account of the so-called Seven Sisters law of New Jersey, whose provisions the company considers irksome. It is understood the corporation will reorganize under the laws of Delaware. The first intimation of the company's action came in the announcement that the common and preferred shares of its stock had been stricken from the list on the New York Stock Exchange. The Amalgamated Copper Co. announced its dissolution a few days ago, giving as a reason the Seven Sisters Law.

KING LAVISH WITH HONORS.

GEORGE V GIVES DECORATIONS ON OCCASION OF BIRTHDAY.

Gen. Kitchener Leads the List with the Knighthood of the Garter While Ambassador to France Bertie and Clerk of the Crown McKenzie Follow with Baronies.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, June 2.—The list of the King's birthday honors, issued tonight, shows that baronies have been conferred on Sir Francis Bertie, Ambassador to France, and Sir Kenneth Muir McKenzie, clerk of the crown. Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist, and Sir Henry Norman, Liberal member of the House of Commons, are made boronets.

Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, the British Secretary of State for War, is made a knight of the Order of the Garter.

The list of honors was, as expected, in view of the war, an unusually long one.

KITCHENER LEADS.

The list is headed by Earl Kitchener, Secretary of State for War, who received the Knighthood of the Garter and Sir Francis Bertie, Ambassador to France, and Sir Kenneth Muir MacKenzie, clerk of the crown. The two latter are the only servants of the crown who were raised to the peerage, each having been made a baron.

Following these names is a long list of officers of the army and navy who receive promotion in or appointment to the Order of the Bath, chiefly for services in connection with the organization of various departments such as recruiting and training of the territorials, and the new armies, naval construction, equipment and transport, which have demanded special attention since the outbreak of the war.

It is mentioned in the communication making the list public that a further list of honors conferred in recognition of meritorious services during the war would be announced later, which probably means that the men in the field who are not included in the present list will then come in for their share of honors.

POLITICIANS SLIGHTED.

The list contains very few political honors. Half a dozen members of the House of Commons, both Liberal and Unionist, are appointed privy councillors and an equal number receive baronetcies. Among the latter are Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist, and Sir Henry Norman, Liberal member of Parliament.

Twenty persons are given knighthoods, among them E. L. Fletcher, one of the managers of the White Star line, for services in connection with the transport of troops; Charles Edward Foyer, the fisheries expert; Leo G. C. Mooney, Liberal member of Parliament, and a number of officials in the civil service.

Sir John Newell Jordan, Minister to China, is appointed a privy councillor; Right Hon. Sir James Rennell Rodd, Ambassador to Italy, is given the grand cross of St. Michael and St. George; Charles Louis Des Graz, Minister to Servia, and Francis William Stronge, Minister to Chile, are made knight commanders of St. Michael and St. George, and Lieut.-Col. the Hon. John Strathearn Hendrie, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario; Dr. William Peterson, principal of McGill University, Montreal; the Very Rev. Daniel Miner Gordon, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., are made knights of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

GERMANS ADMIT THEIR MISTAKE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, June 2 (via London.)—The German government has transmitted a communication to James W. Gerard, the American Ambassador at Berlin, explaining that the torpedoing of the American tanker Gulflight off the Scilly Island on May 1 was a mistake.

Germany disavows any intention of attacking harmless neutral ships, and in cases where she is at fault she offers to compensate.

Ambassador Gerard was informed two days ago by the German Admiralty staff that the Gulflight had been torpedoed in error, the commander of the submarine not noticing the American flag on the steamer until after he had given the order to fire.

AUSTRIAN ARMY CONCENTRATING.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

UDINE (Italy) June 2 (via Paris.)—To check the Italian forces which are attempting to invade Austria in the Carnia region on the border northeast of Trent, the Austrians are concentrating troops behind Montecroce Pass. This pass lies like an open door between the Zellonkofel and Coglian Mountains, 8500 feet high, on the west and the Palpiccolo Mountains, about 6000 feet high, on the east. From the pass issues a road leading to the valley of the River Drave.

ITALIANS IN AMERICA CALLED BY THOUSANDS.

Sweeping Mobilization Order from Rome will Take Practically All Those of Military Age Out of this Country—Great Eagerness to Enlist is Shown by All Classes of Recruits.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DULUTH (Minn.) June 2.—Thousands of Italians in Minnesota and Northern Michigan will be required to return to Italy at once under the provisions of a sweeping mobilization order received by the Italian Consular Agent here today. This edict calls for all men ranked under twelve military classes and includes virtually all of the able-bodied men between the ages of 20 and 40 years.

RESERVISTS SAIL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Between 600 and 700 reservists, the first extensive shipment since Italy's declaration of war, sailed for Naples today on the steamer Principe di Udine to enlist for service. More than 1000 reservists in all, it was stated at the Italian Consulate today, had applied during the morning for registration papers and consular passage to the other side.

ENTHUSIASM TO ENLIST.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME (via Paris) June 2.—Enthusiasm to enlist and get to the front runs high among the men of Rome. Those who were born in 1882, 1883 and 1884 are eager to be called out. Applications from several hundred thousand volunteers have been received but none have as yet been accepted.

ORDER AT CLINTON, IND.

CLINTON (Ind.) June 2.—Between 3000 and 4000 Italians in this vicinity were ordered to report for war duty by Dr. A. Salaroglio, Vice-Consul for Indiana.

CALL IN ST. LOUIS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—All Italians between 19 and 39 years of age in Missouri and Southern Illinois were summoned to the colors today by the Italian Consul here. He said the call would affect about 2000 men. It is supposed to apply only to Italian citizens, and not to Italians who have taken out American naturalization papers.

Przemysl in Danger.

with this battle, the Germans are making another effort to break through the Bzura lines toward Warsaw, but whether this is a serious attempt to capture the Polish capital, or only a diversion to prevent the Russians from sending more reinforcements to Galicia, is not disclosed.

The Germans claim to have captured upward of 300,000 Russians and an immense amount of material during the month of May. Despite this, the Russians do not appear to have slackened their resistance.

On the Gallipoli Peninsula the British and French lines have been subjected to severe attacks by the Turks, all of which, according to the British report issued this evening, have been repulsed. There, as in France, trench warfare is being followed, but in this case the allies have the support of their fleet, which in daytime is able to search the Turkish trenches and prevent the Turks from coming out into the open, and also support the allies' attacks.

So far as France is concerned, the most important fighting in progress is to the north of Arras, where the Germans and French are contending for the possession of the sugar refinery at Souchez, which both claim to hold, and on the outskirts of the Le Pretre forest, where the battle for the trenches has been continuous for weeks.

THE VIENNA REPORT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

VIENNA, June 2 (via London, 10 p.m.)—The official statement issued by the Austrian War Office tonight reads as follows:

"The Russians have renewed their strong attacks against the allied troops on the eastern bank of the San. Desperate attacks everywhere have been repulsed with heavy Russian losses.

"On the northern front of Przemysl two additional fortifications have been stormed and we have maintained the conquered ground.

"South of the Dniester our attacks are successfully progressing. Hostile positions between Stry and Dorhobycz were stormed yesterday.

"Strong Russian forces which yesterday attacked our position near Solotwina in South Galicia, suffered severe losses. They retreated and at some points took to flight.

"Besides the booty mentioned in the German communication as having been captured during the month of May from the Russians, we took 189 ammunition wagons and a quantity of other war material, such as 8500 rounds of artillery ammunition, 5,500,000 cartridges and 32,000 rifles.

"In the Italian war theater all the undertakings of the enemy have been unsuccessful. The bombardment of the plateau of Lavaronne, Folgaria and the Carinthian barriers, with a great expenditure of ammunition, has caused no material damage to our fortifications. No important fighting has taken place on the frontiers of Tyrol or Carinthia. On the coastal frontier an enemy attack on the ridge was repulsed with heavy Italian losses."

An official announcement made public here today, says:

"The result of the bombardment of Pola by Italian airships is incorrectly stated in the communication issued by the Italian Admiralty. Four bombs were exploded, but the damage done was very slight. No fire broke out.

"In the bombardment of Monfalcone, one civilian was slightly wounded by splinters of stone."

THE PARIS REPORT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, June 2, 1:45 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the War Office tonight:

"In Belgium the British troops have carried at the point of the bayonet the Chateau Hooge, near Zonnebeke.

"To the southeast of Neuville St. Vaast, the Germans have delivered a counter-attack in the 'Labyrinth.' We have repulsed them and have made new progress, taking some prisoners.

"It is interesting to note that between May 9 and June 1 the French division which took Carency, Ablain-St. Nazaire, the Malon mill and the sugar refinery at Souchez, have made 3100 prisoners, of whom sixty-four are officers, and have buried the bodies of 2600 Germans, and have themselves lost in killed, wounded or missing 3200 men, of which total two-thirds are slightly wounded.

"In Champagne the Germans attempted a night attack near Beausejour, but were immediately thrown back in their trenches.

"In the outskirts of Le Pretre Forest we repulsed two violent attacks."

IN THE DARDANELLES.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

CAIRO (via London) June 2, 10:35 p.m.—The following official communication concerning the allies' operation against the Dardanelles was made public today:

"During the first of June close hand-to-hand fighting occurred on our northern front. At the northern section of our position two saps of the enemy were rushed by our men with the intention of filling them in, but a heavy bombing checked the work and one party had to fall back. The other party still holds onto its position between our firing line and that of the enemy.

"This action made necessary a heavy artillery support, to which the enemy replied vigorously, regardless of expense. Throughout this fighting the enemy again lost heavily.

"On the southern sector the Turks made repeated attacks during the night of June 1-2 against the French right, and twice reoccupied a fort captured on May 29. On both occasions the enemy was driven out, and the new French front remains intact.

"On the British front all was quiet."

THE ITALIAN REPORT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME (via London) June 2, 11:25 p.m.—The following official communication has been issued by the Italian War Office:

"On the Tyrol-Trentino frontier no fighting of any importance has been reported. Our troops advanced in the valley of the Guidicaria and occupied Storo and pushed on until they were near Condino, linking up with the strong Alpine detachments which had made descent upon the Chiese River from the rugged valley of Caffaro to Val Camonica.

"On the Carnia frontier from the head of the Raccolana Valley we harassed, by an efficacious long-distance fire, attempts of the enemy to build a bridge over an Alpine torrent beyond the frontier on the northern slopes of the Predil. The enemy's artillery replied without result. As an outcome of offensive reconnaissances, extending beyond the head of the Valdogna, we captured some enemy stores. The bad weather, which prevailed throughout the whole of the day, prevented more extensive operations.

"On the Friuli frontier we have solidly occupied the ridge of Montenero, on the left bank of the Isonzo and about ten kilometers (about six miles) to the northwest of Tolmino. On the afternoon of the 31st the enemy tried to dislodge us from the occupied localities by means of violent counter-attacks, but was everywhere repulsed."

BELGIAN OPERATIONS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

HAVRE (France) June 2, 5:10 a.m.—The following official statement was issued last night regarding the operations of the Belgian army:

"A fierce artillery duel marked the day of May 31 along the Belgian front. Belgian guns of all calibers massed their fire, blowing up the enemy's trenches and accessory defenses at a number of points. All the roads beyond the German front are commanded by the Belgians' fire, making it very difficult for the enemy to bring up fresh supplies. The first line of Belgian troops by a continuous fire prevented German troops from advancing."

GREAT REJOICING OVER LONDON RAID.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

GENEVA, June 2 (via Paris.)—There was great rejoicing yesterday at Friedrichshafen, the headquarters of the Zeppelin balloon works on Lake Constance, the town being gaily decorated with flags in honor of the first aerial attack on London proper. Many congratulatory telegrams were received by Count Zeppelin.

wide on the San for their only communication with their base. Their front is within eight miles of Mosciska, which is their immediate objective, a station on the main line of the railway to Lemberg.

Both flanks, the correspondent continues, are being attacked by the Russians, who are gradually closing in on the narrow neck of land running from Jaroslau to the river Lubaczowka, which alone is available for communication with the German rear.

"Gen. Mackensen," the correspondent concludes, "has dashed in to gain at any cost a point on the railway behind Przemysl and join hands with the Germans operating on the front from Przemysl to the great Dniester marshes, and either a remarkable temporary success of the extremely daring maneuver, or a crushing disaster must follow within a brief period. The Germans are fighting on three fronts, north, east and south, with their communications to the west seriously threatened. We do not yet know whether the German attempt to save the situation by a frontal attack on Przemysl to relieve the pressure on the main German forces across the San will be successful."

In another dispatch the correspondent says:

"The Russians are well prepared for the employment by the Germans of poisonous gas, which is now being used on all the fronts, in bombs at artillery range, and against trenches at close quarters. But the attacking Germans to their cost find their enemies quite alive and active. The Russian method is to lie low until the enemy is almost on the trenches, when a withering blast of fire annihilates the attackers utterly."

GERMAN AIRCRAFT FOUND OFF ITALY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BRINDISI (Italy) June 2 (via Paris.)—An Austrian hydro-aeroplane has been floating in the sea near here. It is evident that the aviators who manned it have been drowned. The machine is supposed to be the same one which flew over Brindisi yesterday morning, throwing down bombs.

An examination of the aircraft indicated that it had been built in Germany. There were found on it certain writings and drawings which showed that the aviators on board had been inspecting the Italian coast and taking notes, evidently with the idea of a possible landing of troops.

MEASURES HEAT OF STAR BEAM.

Bureau of Standards the Wonderland of the Fair.

Marvels of Science Shown at Panama Exposition.

Pressure of Finger Bends Heavy Steel Rails.

BY JEANNE REDMAN.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EXPOSITION GROUNDS, SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—For you and me Uncle Sam has created a wonderland where you may observe a grain of sand assume the proportions of a mountain; an inch expand into a mile; an unappreciable zephyr attain the velocity of a howling gale; the foot-fall of a fly crunch like the tread of a draft horse; the heat of a candle expand into that of a roaring furnace, the cheer and comfort of a cozy home fire emanate from the unperceived warmth of a distant star, and the gentle pressure of a finger develop into the force of giants. Magnifique!

To the average sightseer, I know a visit to a laboratory is anything but interesting. The apparatus of the scientist fails to appeal because there is apparently but little romance attached to his curious contrivances, and you pass on and decide that the laboratory is not intended for the reception of the ordinary citizen.

THE BUREAU OF STANDARDS.

Uncle Sam, however, does not share this opinion. On the contrary, he is anxious to take all of his nephews and nieces into his confidence and extends a cordial welcome to all to hasten into the vast Palace of Liberal Arts, and for an hour or two—or for an entire day if possible—become his guest within the booth containing the exhibit representing the Bureau of Standards, which not only stands between the American people and the short weight and measure, but also is working day in and day out to promote all branches of science.

All of the instruments utilized by the bureau have not been brought across the continent from Washington to demonstrate the usefulness of this new branch of the government's activities. In fact, it would require a huge building to house the duplications of the instruments and machines of the bureau; but as it is there are so many exhibits in this wonderland that even a slight summing up conveys to the mind of the visitor staggering totals achieved by these modern scientists.

For instance, it was not practicable to bring to San Francisco and the exposition the huge testing machines used to tear apart the strongest steel girders used in building bridges and skyscrapers, or if necessary utilize the same machine to crush an egg, and in each instance record accurately the foot pounds or fractions of ounces of resistance. Several of the beams and girders are at hand, however, and photographs of the machines indicate how the work is accomplished.

THE HEAT OF STAR LIGHT.

Remarkable are the heat measuring instruments which register infinitesimal fluctuations of temperature. A ray of light may have started ten years ago from some distant star, and may have spent all of those ten years to reach the earth; and yet when the ray of light falls upon the sensitive bolometers operated by the Bureau of Standards, they will tell the observer the amount of heat that jolly ray brought with it to the earth. A small electrical furnace capable of generating a heat intense enough to melt the most refractory metal is seen, as is also an apparatus which will measure cold great enough to liquify the air we breathe, and heat of the greatest temperature.

The expert will show you a bit of "chemically pure" sugar—not the commercial kind you purchase for 6 cents per pound—but so pure that it is used to determine all standards. It costs you $15 per pound. The price seems high, but it is not, for it cost the government more than this. It is found that the most perfect test of sugar is an optical one and the amount of impurity is found by watching a twist of light pass through it. Samples of sugar are sent daily by the customs officers at the various ports of entry for check analysis and in this way uniformity of analysis at the custom-houses all over the country is secured.

FINGER BENDS STEEL ROD.

The visitor enters a darkened section of the exhibit and there sees a remarkable device with which one can perceive the slight bending of a massive steel bar, three feet long and three and one-half inches in diameter. This bar is supported at each end and a small mirror is fixed at the center; above is a frame bearing another partially silvered mirror. Both mirrors reflect the light of a sodium burner, the lower glass showing a series of black and yellow concentric rings. The slightest pressure on the bar—even the weight of a silver coin or a visiting card—causes these circles to expand outward, forming as it were a series of ripples like those made by a stone dropped into a pond. The pressure of one finger on the bar causes the formation of five or six new rings. This indicates that the bar has been bent about 1-20,000th of an inch, as each new circle means a movement of 1-100,000th of an inch.

Perhaps the department of weights and measures has the greater interest for the layman. Here one may see the fundamental standards on which all measures of weight and length depend. Copies may be seen of the originals kept at Washington, under double glass cases in fireproof safety vaults, and these originals are never disturbed unless it is to check the copies that have been adopted as working standards.

The weights tested by the bureau range from those used by the city and State scalers in testing weights and measures of commerce down to those used by scientists in most precise and exacting work. To do such testing as this the very finest instruments are needed and weights which vary from great masses as big as steamer trunks down to those smaller than the head of a pen.

SMALLEST WEIGHTS TESTED.

On one of the balances the weighing is made in a vacuum so that the weight and buoyancy of the air will not interfere with the result. Another balance is so sensitive that it can detect the difference due to the diminution of the earth's attraction. The following experiment was made: Two kilograms were weighed side by side, then one kilogram was placed on top of the other and was thus elevated about two inches. It was found that the weight was 0.016 milligrams less than when they were placed side by side. The precision of this instrument can be appreciated by this experiment for it shows that it can weigh down to 1-100,000,000th of the whole.

The expert in charge of the booth will tell you that some of these balances are so delicate that the heat of the operator's body near them would cause a disturbance, and the adjustment is affected by rods and other ingenious mechanisms which change the weights from pan to pan or add the finer V-shaped weights to the cross beam to affect a perfect balance. The operator stands at a distance of ten feet and reads the results through a telescope.

A balance used in the volta meter work is so delicately adjusted and sensitive to changes of temperature that the operator cannot even remain in the same room with it. It is kept in a room which is also at an even temperature and guarded by double doors. The attention of the visitor is called to an exhibit of portions of sections of steel rails the faulty construction of which has been responsible for railroad wrecks. These sections have been sent to the bureau by the railroad companies and the bureau is seeking to discover a new method of testing railroad equipment.

PROTECTS WOMEN'S INTERESTS.

The woman visitor will find an interesting exhibit in the textile division, where samples of silks and cloth are displayed. Through a process of its own the bureau can now detect the presence of adulterants in cloth. For instance, tin and tungsten salts are used to give brilliancy and body to silk, and in some black silk as much as 40 per cent. is used. It has been ascertained that in some instances "woolen cloth" supposed to be 100 per cent. pure contains more than 50 per cent. cotton.

When it is considered that the Bureau of Standards did not come into existence until 1901, the amount of work performed is remarkable. During the peroid of 1909 and 1913 the bureau undertook to test some of the commercial weights and measures of the country, and the revelations made thereby were startling. It was found that forty-four out of every 100 scales tested were incorrect—nearly one-half of the dry measures and nearly one-fourth of the liquid measures. It has been estimated by the department that the total loss to the people of the United States as a result of this inaccuracy of weights and measures would suffice to build not less than ten of the biggest battleships afloat each year. When the investigation started there were only four States in the Union which had efficient systems of inspecting weights and measures. Such were the revelations that today twenty-four States and most of the important cities have adopted efficient inspection systems, and other States are expected soon to fall into line.

THE TRAVELING MILK JARS.

In one section of the booth are many milk jars, and other measures condemned because the capacity of each did not comply with the standard. Not long ago 100,000 milk jars were condemned for short measure by the sealers of a certain State. Legislation was enacted and the milk jars were condemned. It seems that false measures have a habit of running away from honest laws. These jars were hastily collected and sent to another State where the laws were more lax. Here they were overtaken by a similar fate and were hurried off to a new locality, and at last accounts the jars were still traveling.

The bureau has become a necessary institution. It provides exact data that may be used as a basis of comparison and has provided a method of measurement more exact than was believed possible only a few years ago. Its work has made possible the most impossible of feats. The accomplishments of the bureau are intensely interesting and may be thoroughly understood by the visitor who knows little or nothing of science provided he is willing to learn. The experts detailed from Washington are anxious to impart all the information in their possession and are never so happy as when the visitor plies them with questions. Come on!

Butterick in Paris

The French edition of THE DELINEATOR (Le Miroir des Modes), at $2 a year, surpasses in circulation any similar publication at a comparable price in France.

The Butterick business in France is greater than that of all other fashion companies. More Butterick Patterns are sold at the Butterick shop at 27 Avenue de l'Opéra, Paris, than all other patterns in France put together.

The world's chief source of fashion is Paris. The world's chief exponent of fashion is Butterick. And the success of Butterick Patterns and Publications in Paris, the world's style-center, is entirely logical.

traband, and Germany has an undoubted right to seize it and if necessary sink the vessel carrying it. Does the United States wish to limit the freedom of the seas to passenger vessels? In this event, should not passenger vessels be forbidden to carry contraband? The President made it clear that the sentiment of the United States was unanimous in opposition to the destruction of merchant ships without warning. He insisted that at least there should be visit and search and passengers and crew should be removed. He believed that the United States had the undoubted right to demand that American lives and American property should not be placed in peril.

The Ambassador pointed out one feature of the German note which he regards as important, in view of the contentions of the United States. The note declares "in view of these facts"—those presented regarding the Lusitania—the imperial government is unable to consider "English" merchant vessels any longer as "undefended territory." What are the facts regarding the Lusitania? Another ship might not present the same state of facts. Again, the limitation to "English" ships is important and shows clearly he holds that the German government all along has limited its operations to vessels flying the British flag.

The Ambassador's message will be in Berlin tomorrow morning, and will be considered immediately by his government. It is hoped in official and German diplomatic circles that the message will clarify the atmosphere and that it will be responded to in a manner which will meet to a large extent the wishes of the United States.

THE BLOCKADE QUESTION.

The Ambassador found the President unwilling to take up at this time the blockade question with Great Britain, as suggested in the German note. He holds the question growing out of the Lusitania is one primarily between the United States and Germany. At the same time there is reason to believe that Count von Bernstorff pointed out to the President the great value of an adjustment of all maritime matters, suggesting that if this could be accomplished the first great step toward peace could be taken. The Ambassador has not concealed from the President the earnest desire of Germany for peace, and while he made no overtures to this end, so far as can be learned, the thought undoubtedly is in Mr. Wilson's mind and eventually may develop into something concrete.

VON BERNSTORFF GRATIFIED.

Altogether, the interview may be regarded as a step in the direction of a satisfactory adjustment. Count von Bernstorff expressed this afternoon his gratification at the cordial and friendly reception extended to him by the President. Beyond this he would say nothing.

The interview, which will be historic, took place in the blue room of the White House. Count von Bernstorff appeared promptly at noon and was with the President until 12:30.

Following the call of the German Ambassador Count Mucchi di Cellere, the Italian Ambassador, was received by the President. In order to be on time the latter came to the White House at 12:20, ten minutes before the hour appointed for his reception. He saw the automobile of the German Ambassador and knew of his presence in the executive mansion. The White House usher, accustomed to handling difficult situations, piloted the Italian diplomat to a waiting-room. Consequently, the two Ambassadors did not meet.

The Italian Ambassador called upon the President to express the gratitude of his government for the action of the United States in taking over the protection of Italian interests in Austria-Hungary.

CONVICT CROSSMAN OF BEING A SPY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, June 2.—According to a dispatch to the Central News Agency from Leipzig, Saxony, George Crossman, an Englishman, has been sentenced to three years' imprisonment by a Saxon court on the charge of attempting to furnish the British government with the German plans to invade England.

Mammoth Chicago Structure Built from Contributions of Dimes and Nickels as Monument to Prohibition Movement Fails to Pay Expenses—May be Redeemed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 2.—The Woman's Temple, a sixteen-story office building, long the encumbered property of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, was sold at auction today for $631,000 to satisfy a mortgage held by the Field Columbian Museum. The women have a year in which to redeem the building.

Unique among office buildings, the Woman's Temple arose in the heart of Chicago's financial district just before the Columbian Exposition in 1893, a monument to the gifts and prayers of hundreds of thousands of American women. Throughout the country the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and their friends collected nickels and dimes into sums aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars to the end that a rallying place for prohibition activity might stand in the midst of a great city. For more than twenty years a prayer service for the success of the prohibition movement has been held daily on the ground floor of the building at noon time.

LOS ANGELES MAN IN CHICAGO JAIL.

A. M. SALCIDO ARRESTED ON A CHARGE PREFERRED BY A WOMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 2.—A. M. Salcido, 44 years old, held at the Town Hall Police Station on a charge of disorderly conduct on complaint of the mother of an eleven-year-old girl, says he is assistant teacher of Spanish in the Los Angeles Bible Institute, No. 535 South Hope street, Los Angeles, and that he has been a guest at the Paris Hotel, No. 538 South State street.

Salcido says he came here a few weeks ago and was preparing to enter some university or school to take a course in languages and theology. He admits he met several little girls in Lincoln Park and bought them popcorn, but asserts he had no wrong intentions.

Salcido was arrested yesterday on complaint of the mother of Frances Smith, 11 years old, No. 3500 Rokeby street. He is said to have loitered near the Smith home and to have asked for Frances.

GERMAN PUBLIC AT SEA, AWAIT WILSON'S REPLY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, June 2 (via London, June 3.)—The officials of the government and the general public are waiting expectantly upon the American developments in the exchange of notes between Germany and the United States respecting the Lusitania—expectancy which is deepened by the fact that no trustworthy indications regarding the American attitude on the German answer are yet available here.

The German Foreign Office is unable to communicate with Count von Bernstorff, the Ambassador at Washington, except by wireless in plain language, and even this mode of communication is uncertain during periods when the static conditions of the atmosphere are unfavorable.

Reports which reach the newspapers are regarded with suspicion, not only because they come through exclusively British channels but on account of their contradictory character.

AS TO BRYAN'S PLAN.

One set of reports intimates that the German counter-proposals have been found to harmonize with Mr. Bryan's plan providing for a period of investigation in cases of international conflict, while other advices reproduce various American editorials declaring that the German note is utterly unacceptable and demanding that steps of varying degrees of aggressiveness be taken.

While waiting, the time is being utilized by some of the more aggressive German newspapers, and writers of the type of Reventlow, to launch abusive articles against the United States and President Wilson's policy but the press and public generally seem desirous of avoiding anything which might increase the tension between the two governments while the German note is under consideration. In this they are acting in complete accord with the Foreign Office, which apparently is sincerely anxious to preserve friendly relations with the United States and deprecates any publication which would tend to inflame the feelings either in Germany or America.

There seems to be no doubt that the Foreign Office would rejoice at a solution consistent with German interests, and it is considered here that one of the unfortunate features of the situation is the inability of the Foreign Office to cope with the chronic firebrands of the press.

Count von Reventlow's contribution to the Tages Zeitung today is a violent commentary on stories of the existence of a working agreement between the United States and Great Britain, supported by alleged citations from a book on pan-Germanism by Prof. Boland G. Usher of St. Louis. He quotes Prof. Usher as announcing the existence in 1897 of a secret agreement on the part of the United States with Great Britain, France and Russia for joint action against Germany, which agreement, he says, still exists. He urges, therefore, against the slightest concession on the part of Germany as harmful.

FROM LOKAL ANZEIGLER.

The Lokal Anzeiger, commenting on London dispatches, regarding the forthcoming note from President Wilson, says:

"We can calmly wait and see whether President Wilson follows Reuter's friendly advice. If he is really of the opinion that consideration for humanity in this case was disregarded by Germany, and not by the Cunard line which embarked many passengers on a steamer loaded with war munitions, then all further discussion is superfluous. So, too, if he should characterize the thousands of cases of shells and shrapnel as a small quantity of ammunition—a characterization which would apply only if compared with the total consumption of the allies, or their enormous orders in the United States.

"The head of the American nation, however, will probably not act according to Reuter's dictation. Reuter, in any case will wait vainly for an acknowledgment by the German government that a wrong was committed in sinking the Lusitania and we shall continue our submarine warfare as Germany's vital interests may require."

KILLS WIFE AND SELF.

Railroad Record.

AN INSURANCE ON BAGGAGE.

Railroad Liability Limit is now Removed by Law.

People Pay Extra for Values Over Hundred Dollars.

Vouchers Signed at Stations by All Travelers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 2.—Beginning today all railroads operating east of Chicago will charge for the transportation of baggage whose value is in excess of $100. Travelers are obliged to state the value of their baggage in valuation vouchers, and amounts above $100 will be charged for at the rate of 10 cents for each $100. Notices of the change have been posted in Chicago railroad stations.

In the departure the railroads are complying with the provisions of the Cummins act. The vouchers which will be required will apply to all freight, live stock and baggage. The old limitation of $100 value to each piece of baggage checked is removed and the "insurance" feature substituted.

IN EFFECT TODAY.

The act goes into effect tomorrow throughout the United States, in interstate commerce. Despite the efforts of the carriers to secure an advance rate to offset the liability, the freight rates will remain the same, and the provisions on bills of lading restricting liability are canceled.

The Cummins act was passed in the last hours of the sixty-third Congress and was signed by President Wilson on March 4.

The shippers who opposed the raising of freight rates to care for the added liability, claimed there was no prospect of any great increase in the burden of the carriers.

TO RAISE F-4 BY CYLINDERS

DANGER OF BREAKING IN TWO STOPS SALVAGING.

After Being Brought Within Twenty-four Feet of Surface Constructors Believe Submarine will not Stand Further Strain and Work is Abandoned Temporarily.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]

HONOLULU (T. H.) June 3.—After being raised from a depth of more than 300 feet to within twenty-four feet of the surface, further salvaging of the wrecked submarine F-4 had to be temporarily abandoned today on account of the danger of the submarine breaking up.

Until last week the work had proceeded so satisfactorily that it was believed the final rescue of the crew was only a matter of hours. The divers had established a new world record for depth, five descents to a depth of 306 feet were made, divers had entered the interior of the craft but just as it was expected that the tragic story of the F-4 was to be unveiled and the bodies of the crew taken from their under-sea coffin the workers were compelled to suspend operations.

Naval Constructor Julius A. Furer will sail on the Sierra for San Francisco Saturday to supervise the construction of six huge cylinders at Mare Island, which will be submerged alongside the F-4, lashed to its sides and then pumped out. It is hoped that the F-4 can then be brought safely to the surface.

No official estimates on how long it will require to lift the submarine by the new system have been made, but will take at least a month, probably longer.

Recent dives showed that there was a large hole forward in the submarine, and that the craft might break in two if the further strain of lifting were continued.

AMERICAN CATTLE FOR THE ALLI

LIVE STEERS ARE BEING SHIPPED DIRECT TO THE BATTLE TRENCHES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 2.—Live cattle are being shipped from this city to France to furnish the allies' armies with beef during the summer campaign. Agents of one of the large packing companies have been busy for a month buying live stock physically fit to stand the ocean voyage and as a result the price of this class of cattle has risen $1 per hundred pounds. Sixteen hundred head of live cattle were shipped to Portland last week and a consignment of 1000 was dispatched today.

The cattle will be shipped to some French port, driven directly to the battle front and slaughtered in the trenches as needed.

CATTLE BOUND FOR FRANCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PITTSBURGH, June 2.—The first shipment of live cattle for export in almost a year passed through this city today bound for the Atlantic seaboard. There were about 1400 head, purchased from Middle West points. It is not known to whom it is consigned beyond that it is destined for France.

ITALIAN FLEET HUNTS AUSTRIAN

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, June 3 (via Paris).—The announcement was made at the office of the Minister of Marine today that the Italian fleet spent all of yesterday in search off the Austrian coast without meeting the Austrian fleet. The statement adds:

"While waiting, our ships destroyed a newly-installed German wireless station on the Island of Pelagosa which had been re-established after the bombardment by the French last November.

"Our ships also destroyed the observation station north of the town of Cursola."

The Vote Count.

SEE 'EM CLIMB UPWARD TO HIGHER POSITIONS.

Major Portion of Contestants in "The Times" Scholarship Campaign Make Notable Advances in Score of Ballots—Now Hustling to Win Special Money Rewards to be Distributed During June.

TODAY'S score of the vote standing of the contestants in The Times Educational Campaign shows some very interesting changes. As a matter of fact, nearly all of the contestants have advanced their voting scores during the past few days, and it will be seen that many have made notable marches upward in the list.

As the campaign advances, these days when the vote list is published become of intense interest to the contestants and their many friends. The immense amount of work entailed on the office force as a result of the close of the special club offer votes has prevented the completion of the work of issuing these credits. It's coming on, however. And the coupon-vote counting—a mountain of these ballots has been handled by the contest manager during the past few days. Friends of contestants have given them decided lifts through their activities. These all count in today's report.

And now the interest centers around the special offer of $50 in good, hard coin to be distributed among the six contestants securing the six highest lists of new yearly subscriptions between June 1 and June 15, inclusive. Already some good reports are coming in of the active work being done by contestants. Eleven working days remain in this short and enthusiastic campaign for new yearly contracts. Six of the contestants will each make good money during this time through receiving the special cash rewards. You may be one of the six if you hustle.

URBAN ACADEMY.

The scholarship offered by The Times in the Urban Military Academy will make a choice reward for some boy contestant in this campaign.

The Urban Military Academy is located at No. 800 South Alvarado street, Los Angeles. It is known as "the military school with the home life." It is a boarding and day school for young boys.

Its seven years of activities have been highly successful in the care and education of boys from 6 to 16 years of age. Its aim is to fit cadets for clean manhood and intelligent citizenship. Its purpose is to instill such principles of action that the cadets may safely and creditably pursue whatever later training stands between them and a business or professional career.

The Urban Military Academy is located in one of the most desirable home sections in Los Angeles, but one block from beautiful Westlake Park, where the pupils may enjoy many of their recreation hours. The buildings and grounds have been specially adapted for school purposes. The main building contains the school offices, reception-rooms, classrooms, dining-room and dormitories. The annex contains space for armory, gymnasium and manual training rooms. The grounds are large and well arranged, and include a tennis and handball court and rifle range.

Among the advantages offered and enjoyed by probably no other school in the country, are the open-air dormitories. The effect of the nightly rest on the screened porches has been found very beneficial. Those who prefer, however, have access to the regular indoor dormitories.

The school is non-sectarian. The pupils are taught a love for the right, a reverence for the higher things of life, and respect for the religious beliefs of others.

It is the purpose to create and maintain a refined home atmosphere, where good music shall often be heard and good literature read aloud. Here every boy is taught to be a courteous gentleman.

The courses of study include primary, intermediate and college preparatory classes. Students are taught "how to study" and as the result of the system of individual instruction pupils advance rapidly.

There will be a summer session. Cadets may remain the entire year if they choose. Special classes will be formed during the summer months for the purpose of coaching public school students who are preparing for advanced grades. The afternoon during this session will be devoted to recreation. Special excursions will be arranged to the seashore and mountains under the supervision of a competent tutor.

Thoughtful parents will not question the statement that young boys make better progress and develop more normally in the companionship of boys of their own age. The Urban Academy is a military school exclusively for young boys.

THE GOLD REWARDS.

Here is the way the gold coin for school expenses is to be distributed to the fourteen contestants having the fourteen highest scores of votes:

First choice of scholarships and $250 in gold to the candidate securing the highest number of votes.

Second choice of scholarships and $150 in gold to the candidate securing the second highest number of votes.

Third choice of scholarships and $100 in gold to the candidate securing the third highest number of votes.

GREAT HEIRESS WEDS IN JULY.

MISS BARKER WORTH THIRTY MILLIONS TO MARRY A CHICAGOAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 2.—James B. Forgan, president of the First National Bank and guardian of Miss Catherine Barker, $30,000,000 heiress, today made formal announcement of her engagement to Howard Spaulding, Jr., of Chicago. The wedding will take place on Saturday, July 31, at Miss Barker's country home at Harbor Point, Mich.

Mr. Spaulding has for some time been attached to

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

"Angelus" Presentation Postponed.

The allegorical portrayal of Millet's "Angelus," which was to have been given at the Ebell Clubhouse this evening, under the direction of Mme. Clarice de la Fond Snider, has been postponed until a week from tomorrow evening on account of the sickness of one of the singers.

Illustrated Travel Talk.

Prof. Oliver J. Marston, associate professor of economics in the University of Southern California, will give an illustrated lecture at 8 o'clock this evening in the auditorium of the Y.M.C.A. on the topic, "Through the Land of the Midnight Sun and the Empire of the Czars," including stereopticon views and personal experiences from his travels in Norway and Russia.

It's News to Him.

Col. W. H. Holabird has been kept busy for the last few days by affectionate inquiries on the part of solicitous friends as to the welfare of his "wooden leg" and his "stoop." This was a puzzle to the genial receiver of the California Development Company until he read two newspaper accounts of the Memorial Day services at the Bible Institute last Monday. In one the veteran who leaped to his feet with the cry, "It never will!" in response to the song, "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground," was described as a feeble and stooped old veteran; in the other he was gratuitously provided with a timber toe. It was not until later that the author of the patriotic interruption, one of the features of the services, was identified as Col. Holabird.

JUDGE'S SISTER DIES IN PERSIA.

AIDING CHRISTIAN CAUSE, SHE SUCCUMBS TO TYPHOID. FAMILY ALSO SICK.

On Tuesday Judge Wilbur of the Superior Court received a letter from his sister, Mrs. W. A. Shedd, who, with her husband, was engaged in missionary work in Persia. Yesterday, while he was trying a suit in Department Fifteen, he received word that Mrs. Shedd had died May 27, at Tabriz, of typhoid fever.

The message was from Marion, O., the home of Mr. Shedd's parents, and it stated that a cablegram containing the sad news had been received at Marion from the secretary of the American Hospital at Tabriz. Judge Wilbur ordered a recess in the hope that he might receive more definite information than the brief dispatch contained.

Miss Louise Wilbur became Mrs. Shedd at the home of Judge Wilbur, No. 822 South Alvarado street, seven years ago. Subsequently Mr. and Mrs. Shedd took up their missionary work as representatives of Immanuel Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles, and the First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena.

Mrs. Shedd held a life diploma as a teacher, having taught in the Riverside High School more than ten years before her marriage. Two of her children are with the father at Tabriz. They are girls about 7 and 5 years old. Two other children, stepdaughters, are in California, one of them, Miss Mary Shedd, being with Judge Wilbur at his home, No. 822 South Alvarado street. The other, Miss Susan Shedd, is attending Pomona College.

A statement in the dispatch that "the others are convalescent" probably refers to Mr. Shedd and the children with him.

The letter Mrs. Shedd wrote was a lengthy one, telling of the terrible conditions in Persia. In Tabriz, she wrote, 15,000 persons were living in a space the size of a city block. Many, she said, were starving and from forty to fifty died every day.

"To my mind," said Judge Wilbur, "the conditions pictured by my sister were one of the worst features of this terrible war."

A strong bond of affection bound Judge Wilbur and his sister. Her unexpected death was a great shock to him.

This death is the first break in a family of six children. The others, beside Judge Wilbur, are Miss Bertha Wilbur, Mrs. Fred Paiste, formerly national field secretary of the Y.W.C.A. and State secretary for California; Ray L. Wilbur of Palo Alto and Mrs. C. E. Bailey of San Jose.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington on the subject of conditions in Persia says:

"Americans at Urumiah, where American and other foreign missionary schools recently were attacked by the Turks, are reported safe in a dispatch today from American Consul Paddock at Tabriz. He reported that a relief expedition with food had set out from Tabriz."

Compromised.

AWAIT SIGNING OF CONTRACT.

UNION HOLLYWOOD PURCHASE IS PRACTICALLY COMPLETED.

Few Items of Misunderstanding Satisfactorily Adjusted and Public Service Commission Closes Contract for City—Supplying Water While Awaiting Final Move.

Adjusting satisfactorily the few items over which a misunderstanding had arisen, the Board of Public Service Commissioners and the Union Hollywood Water Company yesterday closed the deal by which the water company will be acquired by the city. All that remains is the signing of the contract, which will be done within the next week or ten days after it has been submitted to the Railroad Commission for ratification.

Compromises were effected over two of the four items under discussion. C. J. Heyler, president of the water company, and Attorneys Borden and Haas, agreed to allow that piece of property at Franklin and Las Palmas streets to be included in the option price of $515,000 for the "lease system." In return for this concession, the board agreed to allow the water company an extra $3000 on the original option price of $35,000 covering the "retained system," or that section lying outside the city limits north of Wilshire boulevard. This $3000 is in payment for a pipe line laid after Engineer William Mulholland had made an appraisement on the works of the water company. The pipe line is to be included in the lease and will be taken over by the city should the option be exercised.

The second compromise was effected over the question of the time the city was to begin paying for improvements. The water company held out for May 1, and the board declared May 15 to be the date. It was finally decided to constitute May 10 as the time.

The question of extension of payments to run eighteen months was allowed without question by the water company. They had placed the time limit as one year in their proposition written to the board.

The fourth item under discussion, the line running from the Jefferson-street shops of the water company to the city limits, was adjusted without trouble. The water company will retain the right of way to build this line, 800 feet of which is already completed. As the city already has a line paralleling this, that section will be of no use to the municipal system. Attorney Borden stated yesterday they wished to retain this line so they might keep their rights as an operating concern.

In the meantime, waiting the final action of signing the contract and transfer of the property, the city will supply the residents of Hollywood.

FIRE AFTER EXPLOSION.

Residence Partly Burned Under Mysterious Circumstances; Owner of Place Cannot be Found.

An explosion, followed by fire, early this morning damaged to the extent of $500 the residence of G. Paladona at No. 225 South Avenue 19. According to the fire department, the blaze was caused by an explosion in the rear of the house, which is a two-story frame building.

Mr. Paladona up to a late hour this morning could not be found and today the police will investigate.

THE WEATHER.
[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, June 2.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.82; at 5 p.m., 29.78. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 59 deg. and 67 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 79 per cent.; 5 p.m., 66 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., south, velocity 3 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 10 miles. Highest temperature, 72 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Rainfall for season, 12.05 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The distribution of barometric pressure over the United States remains practically unchanged. The eastern, as well as the western, areas of high pressure continue stationary over the New England and the North Pacific coasts, and the southeastern low area is still causing moderately heavy rainfall along the South Atlantic coast. There was received 1.56 inches since Tuesday. The trough of low pressure which extends from North Dakota to Southern New Mexico gave generous rain to the former State, as well as Utah and Nebraska, and showers to Washington, Oregon, Montana, Kansas and Oklahoma. The presence of this trough of low pressure will give continued cloudy weather in Los Angeles and vicinity Thursday, interspersed with periods of sunshine, with increased temperatures, made possible by the slow advance of the North Pacific high area.

LOCAL FORECAST.

For Los Angeles and vicinity: Cloudy, warmer, except for intervals of sunshine, Thursday; westerly winds, veering to northwesterly.

For Southern California: Fair, warmer, Thursday.

STATE FORECAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Weather forecast: San Francisco and vicinity: Fair and warmer Thursday; light northerly winds.

Northern California: Fair and warmer Thursday; light northerly winds.

Southern California: Fair and warmer Thursday; light northerly wind.

Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joaquin valleys: Fair, warmer, Thursday; light northerly winds.

ARIZONA FORECAST.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Forecast for Arizona: Fair Thursday and Friday; not much change in temperature.

SAN GABRIEL MAY FIGHT ON LIQUOR.

BLIND PIG NUISANCE CAUSES REBIRTH OF "WET-AND-DRY" ISSUE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN GABRIEL, June 2.—The "dry" element here is receiving a severe jolt. Since Mayor Daken in a public statement favored liquor licenses as a means of ridding the city of the blind-pig nuisance, many prominent citizens who two years ago voted "dry" have come out boldly for licenses.

Elmer Potter, one of the well-known young business men of the city, has been circulating a petition for a poolroom license which bears the names of many conservative citizens anxious to have the action taken two years ago reversed. Many of the people are recognizing the importance of keeping the young men at home, and it is rumored another petition praying for an election on the "wet-and-dry" question is also in circulation and will be presented to the City Council at its next meeting.

There are many who are still in favor of keping San Gabriel "dry," and a lively time is anticipated when action finally takes place.

PAPER CHANGES HANDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, June 2.—The Evening Herald of this city today announced the purchase of the paper by George A. Osborn and Chase S. Osborn, Jr., sons of former Gov. Osborn of Michigan. The former will be manager and the latter editor. They will change the policy from Democratic to Independent Republican. M. J. Beaumont, former publisher, will continue other interests in Fresno.

SCHOOL OF MISSIONS.

The afternoon sessions of the Interdenominational Mission Study School of Southern California, which began Monday in Trinity Auditorium and will continue until next Monday will hold its daily afternoon sessions in the First Congregational Church. The morning sessions will continue to be held in Trinity Auditorium as at first announced. Women of ten church denominations are participating in the school. Several noted missionary workers are taking part in the programmes.

THREE AFTER JOB.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, June 2.—Three nomination petitions were filed today by aspirants for the place of City Trustee Brolaski, who will face a recall election on the 22nd inst. The candidates who will fight for Mr. Brolaski's seat on the Board of Trustees are Dr. F. M. Palmer, a local dentist; John G. Thomas, a local merchant, and William Galentine, a builder and contractor.

So far the recall campaign has been devoid of any sensational features, but both the followers and adherents of Mr. Brolaski and of those who are seeking his recall say that before the election day comes the campaign will be fraught with sufficient stings to call it a real fight.

THREE AFTER JOB.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, June 2.—Three nomination petitions were filed today by aspirants for the place of Trustee Brolaski, who will face recall election on the 22nd inst. The candidates who will fight for Mr. Brolaski's seat on the Board of Trustees are Dr. F. M. Palmer, a local physician; John G. Thomas, a local oil merchant, and William Galentine, a builder and contractor.

So far the recall campaign has been void of any sensational features, both the followers and adherents of Mr. Brolaski and of those who are seeking his recall say that before the election day comes the campaign will be fraught with sufficient ginger to make it a real fight.

THREE THOUSAND CHILDREN IN PRETTIEST DISPLAY OF YEAR.

Pupils of City's Public Schools, from San Pedro to Lankershim, Present a Triumph of Pageantry Exemplifying the Fruits of Education.

WHEN that unknown sculptor of ancient Greece put the finishing touches to his Venus de Milo there were doubtless cantankerous individuals to criticise the cool, chaste lines of the statue which now stands, mutilated but lovely, against a red velvet curtain in the Louvre. So, of the 100,000 or more persons who saw the children's parade yesterday, perhaps a few were critical.

But to criticise a thing that is lovely is to argue, both an inability to appreciate sheer beauty and, most damning of all, an atrophy of those organs which should have been prepared, in this case, to extract at least a modicum of significance from a processional of nearly 100 floats, all designed, constructed, decorated and produced by high, intermediate and grammar school children, and manned by 3000 of them.

No better advertisement of the schools of the city could have been devised than the two-mile parade of their handiwork that moved through the streets under the name of "Los Angeles, the Garden of Youth." It was a parade that sent everyone home with a self-satisfied feeling and a lingering disposition to hug some "kid" on the way. As for those who had a sunny-faced girl or upstanding boy in the parade, their ebullition of joy can be better surmised than expressed.

To say that the parade was the best that the city has ever seen, or that it had a more salient appeal to the generality than any other, is to argue the case with mildness of emphasis. It was both larger than the floral pageant of some weeks ago, and as beautiful as Fawcett Robinson's electrical pageant, "Queen Flora, a Feast of Flowers," which, by the way, is to be given its second showing Saturday evening as a fitting conclusion to the week in which the child will reign supreme.

STORY IN TABLEAUX.

Moreover, it told a story in tableaux that seemed to have drifted out of the land of dreams, but were held to earth by some of the prettiest girls and huskiest boys that the sun ever shone on in this or any other age. It was a parade that walled the business streets with tiptoeing men and women and made a regular German inroad on the supply of plain pine boxes.

Telephone poles frescoed with boys, standing room at a premium, a beautiful day and a tractable crowd were some of the accessories of the parade. This last was the very best comment on the significance of the pageant, for the interested are always tractable. In this particular case many of the individual constituents of the craning throng had their eyes on the main issue—which, it is no secret, was some parade-participant, perhaps several, whose house number was the same as their own.

In fact, it was everybody's parade, not yours nor mine, but the fellow's next door, and the man in Boyle Heights as well as the man out Wilshire. More than all, it was the mothers' parade—a lifting of the lid on the school system of the city to disclose what is being done, and why.

Starting at Washington and Figueroa streets promptly at 10 o'clock, the parade moved in five related divisions along a line of march that included Washington, Hill to Tenth, thence to Broadway, to First, to Spring, and on that street to the place of disbandment at Eighth street. As usual, the automobile was the first aid to the producers, but this does not mean that the horse or other tractable creatures of the animal kingdom were not present. For instance, two of the floats were drawn by strong-backed horses, two elephants drew another, and a camel brought up the rear.

PERFECT WHOLE.

Perfection consisting of details, the parade was perfect. It was filled with salient details that lent unquestionable verisimilitude to the historical floats. For instance, Daniel Boone was accompanied by a dog of the very same breed that one used to see "treking" West under the axle-tree of a prairie schooner, while the Norse and other costumes and accessories were perfect, as they should have been, considering that the entire Southland has been ransacked for the scenic stuff.

"Children are natural born borrowers," said a man on the inside of preparation. "Why, most of this stuff was borrowed from persons that you and I couldn't get it from for love or money. One boy, for instance, borrowed a couple of vases for one float that are valued at $1000."

The parade was a worthy preface to the children's pageant, the "March of Empire," which will be given its premier at the Stadium, Thirty-fifth street and Hooper avenue, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, and will be repeated tomorrow and Saturday. There will also be a parade of floral floats from the county schools Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Though the parade was a symphonic variation on the theme, "Los Angeles, the Garden of Youth," there was in a minor strain an appeal for peace. First of all floats in the parade was an entry from the Wilmington High School, the "Ship of Progress," with Minerva at the golden pilot wheel.

Continuing the dramatic verities, the divisions grouped themselves to show man's heritage from nature, the beneficence of story-hour dreamers of old times and so on through the romance of the races to the Southland of today, where youths are trained to the pleasure of good work and the swords have been transformed into the pruning hooks.

THE PARADE.

Leading all was a squad of mounted police, then the 1915 City and County Band, and men bearing the forty-foot standard, "Los Angeles City and County Welcome the World." The Wilmington float entry followed, then came Grand Marshal J. C. Reinhard and student-aides, Carl Krohne and Commeadore Garrett, and the marshal of the division, J. Merle Smith and his aides, V. J. Haisch and C. W. Preston. The Board of Supervisors followed, in their well-known ice-cream suits, and the Board of Education, all in automobiles. Then came Supt. Francis of the city schools and staff, and President Millspaugh of the Los Angeles State Normal School and his staff in motors. This division wound up with the Normal School's "Peace" float and a cavalcade presenting "War," with the dual insignia, "Ring Out War" and "Ring in Peace."

The second division revealed a veritable fairy garden of flowers, with Bert W. Reed as marshal and V. Kersey and W. McMillan as aides. The first float was an idyllic presentation of "Springtime," and the following floats ran the gamut of all the flowers of a well-disposed Southland garden, as well as some of its guests, as the butterflies, the bees and the moths.

Division No. 3 turned back the leaves of the book of life to "Legends and Folk Stories of Youth." W. F. Hughes was marshal of this division, assisted by J. E. Wright and M. R. Pendleton. Among the most magnificent costumes shown were those on the float "Discovery," that led. They were of the days of Spain when the minions of that nation were blazing the ways across unfrequented seas and into the wilds of a new continent. Among our old friends of the nursery days that were shown in life were "Goldie Locks" and her three bears and "Cinderella." Of a latter day of story book things was the "Sugar Plum Tree," a real one, too, with animal crackers on the side and the little house in the woods made of all good things to eat, just as another house was so made in the days of "Hansel and Gretel."

ROMANCE OF RACES.

The fourth division brought "History, the Romance of the Races," and freshened interest. Merrymakers of the days of "Good Queen Bess" led this division on a beautiful float. Then came studies in high broken lights from the days of old China and Japan, and a study in brown, "Landing of Lief Ericson." One most interesting contribution was a trilogy "The Past and Present of Los Angeles." First came a prehistoric mastodon, looking just as if it had stepped full-bodied from La Brea tar pits, then came the cavemen with their stone hatchets, and last, the "School Graduate of Today." Hundred Thousand People Cheer the Schools, the Pupils and the Teachers.

More than Creditable.

YOUTHFUL INGENUITY'S REMARKABLE SHOWING.

Nearly One Hundred Entries by Seventy City Schools in "Garden of Youth" Pageant Run the Gamut of Education in its Every Phase—Here is the Parade in Detail, Float by Float.

THE Ship of Progress entered by Arlington High School had the honor of being the first float in the parade yesterday. Minerva in golden robes stood at the prow of the flower vessel, its body of carnations of white and its canopy in green and yellow. The pretty marine pilot was surrounded by other girls dressed as daughters of Neptune.

NORMAL SCHOOL.

Riding black horses, draped in long black robes, and carrying lance and shield, the emissaries of war presented a grim appearance. Behind them came a troupe of 100 girls in white Grecian robes, who acted as escort to the float of "All Nations," on top of which was perched the Angel of Peace. Around the edge of the float were boys and girls attired in costumes of many countries.

MANUAL ARTS.

First of the various entries of this institution was the one carrying the festival queen. A massive flower bed with high end walls formed the background for girls of modern day. Out of the center rose a pillar, about which were grouped Colonial maids, their hair hidden beneath silvery wigs, their dresses of crinoline. A second float at the rear of the parade showed the boys of the school hard at work on an aeroplane engine, forge and other mechanical appliances.

POLYTECHNIC HIGH.

It required a number of floats to represent the various departments of this school. Following the band came the civil engineering department with its men engaged in surveying. Varied sports were depicted in a double tableau, boys in appropriate uniforms standing apparently modeled in clay, while beneath sat the student body. Assembling an automobile and a general machine shop came next, and after the volunteer fire department followed the float showing the work of the night school—painting, drawing, languages and manual arts.

HOLLYWOOD HIGH.

The good ship "Discovery" was represented in the Hollywood High float, which was flanked by explorers in frontier attire of many kinds. Bougainvillea, white carnations and ferns were extensively used in the decorations.

GARDENA AGRICULTURAL.

Gardena girls rode in a great flower basket of white Shasta daisies. The daisies were closely imitated in the dress of the young women.

LINCOLN HIGH.

A Chinese temple, with Buddha in the foreground, surrounded by a group of priests and worshippers, was the entry of Lincoln High School. The boys and girls acting as escort were attired in beautiful Chinese robes, some of them of great value coming from private collections.

LOS ANGELES HIGH.

Foresters of "Merry England," in garb of green and with bows of yew, formed the escort of the Los Angeles High School float, which represented the court of Queen Elizabeth. The queen, in regal robes and attended by a large group of courtiers and maids in resplendent colors, sat on a high throne at the rear of the vehicle.

SAN PEDRO HIGH.

A group of boys demonstrated their ability as actual boat builders, having the framework of a launch all set up and putting on the main covering while traveling through the streets. Their machinery was in actual operation.

BOYLE HEIGHTS INTERMEDIATE.

An outdoor arbor with a class of girls attired in gray and yellow, working assiduously at the manufacture of rattan chairs, lamps and other porch furniture, was the attractive float of the Boyle Heights Intermediate School.

SENTOUS INTERMEDIATE.

Operating a real newspaper plant on wheels was the task essayed by the boys of the Sentous-street school. Naturally it was not the plant of a great daily, but it was an efficient printing office, from which the boys issued "The Comet." They had a real printer's devil driving the float.

CUSTER-AVENUE INTERMEDIATE

True to name, the Custer-street school presented Gen. Custer in bivouac with some of his troops adjacent to an Indian encampment, where Sitting Bull, the warrior Sioux leader, stood like a bronze statue in the council of his braves. Indian outriders, wearing little more than loin cloths and paint, were surprisingly accurate in make-up.

THIRTIETH INTERMEDIATE.

The landing of Leif Ericcson on American shores in his immense Viking ship was one of the unique floats of the parade. The great spread of canvas, the banks of oarsmen and the Norwegian leaders were graphic in their living types. A group of well-drilled boys in the same dress preceded the float.

BERENDO INTERMEDIATE.

Carrying flintlock rifles, wearing high, black felt hats and the stiff, starched collars of Puritan forefathers, outriders attracted attention to the "First Thanksgiving Dinner" at which were gathered Puritan women and men, a few of the latter guarding an Indian captive in one corner.

FOURTEENTH-STREET INTERMEDIATE.

A cartoon float this might well have been named. It represented an immense book, "Life," from which peeped many heroes and heroines. On either side the bookworm protruded. The head of the worm was of the type of much-caricatured Boston schoolboy.

M'KINLEY INTERMEDIATE.

Coonskin caps, rough homespun or leather shirts and fringed pants with leggings formed the attire of the outriders and the group on the "Daniel Boone" float. The log cabin, with its dogs, a pet bear and its guarding riflemen, were reminiscent of days in old Kentucky.

VIRGIL-AVENUE INTERMEDIATE.

The spirit of music sat enthroned on this float surrounded by players on the lyre, the harp, lutes and some of the more modern instruments. Flowers of white and much greenery gave additional charm to the presentation.

GRAND-AVENUE SCHOOL.

"The Sugar Plum Tree" was the designation of this float and scarcely a boy or girl along the whole line of march did not envy the youngsters who were allowed to ride along with this marvelous tree bearing candy of all kinds.

GRANT-STREET SCHOOL.

One of the prettiest floats in the parade was the Dutch windmill entered by this school. The mill was made entirely of white carnations with a fern roof and at the rear was a Dutch garden in which many children in costumes of Holland worked diligently.

LOS FELIZ SCHOOL.

A huge moth with gossamer wings, held in check by fairy attendants, was very pretty. The body of the moth was of yellow daisies and gardenias, trimmed in white.

MONTE VISTA SCHOOL.

With all varieties of spring flowers, indicative of May, and the pretty queen of that month enshrined, the float of the Monte Vista school was a very attractive one.

ROWAN-AVENUE SCHOOL.

In an arbor of pink carnations and roses a group of girls attired in corresponding gowns were carried. The float represented the month of June.

MANCHESTER-AVENUE SCHOOL.

A huge basket filled with girls and flowers carried the honors for the school in the southwestern part of the city.

SANTA BARBARA-AVENUE.

Had the boys of this institution been imaginative they might readily have discovered the pot of gold supposed to hang at the end of the rainbow. The float represented the Arc of the Covenant in all its colors.

MACY-STREET SCHOOL.

Dressed in the petals of numerous flowers the girls of Macy-street school were pretty to look upon. The footmen were little green fairies and the float was decorated largely in wild flowers.

LANKERSHIM SCHOOL.

This float did the San Fernando Valley "proud." Labeled "The Home of the Peace," the float was covered with peach blossoms, while in it rode many "peaches" of the human variety, partly hidden by their parasols.

ANNANDALE SCHOOL.

Poppy peak, the distinguishing feature of that part of the Los Angeles suburb, was represented in miniature and gathering the poppies were many boys and girls.

ROSEMONT SCHOOL.

An eminence of roses, white and pink, formed the background for the rosy-cheeked girls who rode in this float.

SELMA-AVENUE SCHOOL.

Surrounded on all sides by sweet peas, girls in light spring attire presented a pretty picture. Great yucca stalks were used at the corners for finish.

MICHELTORENA SCHOOL.

Pierrot and Pierrette, not just one of each, but numbers in black and yellow, decorated the float entitled "Folly" and covered with yellow flowers.

ROSE HILL SCHOOL.

A rose-embowered group of fairies frolicked on the rose float of the school at the crest of the hill known for its pretty pink and white wild roses.

GARDNER-STREET SCHOOL.

A poppy-covered vehicle, filled with girls in dresses of the same shade, brilliantly set forth the beauty of California's native flower.

LOCKWOOD-STREET SCHOOL.

Intensive farming as it should be practiced in every back yard was shown by the Lockwood contingent. A pretty girl was queen of the garden.

WESTERN-AVENUE SCHOOL.

Dazzling in its brilliant whiteness, the float of this school was almost chilly. The boys and girls were dressed in white also and the only relieving color was the red warmth of holly suggestive of holidays.

ROCKDALE SCHOOL.

Apparently wind-swept, the vines and flowers barely managed to cling to the Rockdale float. Pretty girls of that school used them as a background.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS SCHOOL.

The most valuable asset of the State, its sunshine, was the theme of the Arlington float, bright in its colors and its children.

COLEGROVE SCHOOL.

A single girl, driving a little black horse, trapped in golden yellow, sat in a carriage covered with poppies and given the name of "the golden nugget."

ATHENS-ON-HILL.

The three Fates, appropriately garbed, sat in state in the float of the Howard-street school in the pretty suburb.

MT. WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

A garden, not only raising fruits of the earth for consumption, but also pretty flowers, was shown in the entry of the school on the highest point in the city.

MANCHESTER SCHOOL.

A pretty May basket, filled with flowers and girls, was entered by the Manchester-street school.

INGLEWOOD SCHOOL.

Another agricultural float was that presented by the school on the edge of Inglewood. Boys and girls assisted in the gardening.

RAMONA-STREET SCHOOL.

"Goldie Locks" at the log cabin home of the three bears was portrayed on this float, the first of the legendary depictions.

VERMONT-AVENUE SCHOOL.

One of the best laughs of the parade was the entry of the Vermont-avenue, the "Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe." Her shoe was immense and her children were so numerous they showed at every tear and crack.

MALABAR GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

The story of the "Pied Piper," who piped away all the children of Hamelin town, was graphically set forth by a group of boys and girls in the strange costumes of that legendary time. They followed the piper through the entire length of the parade.

WOODCREST GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Cinderella, seated in her pumpkin and surrounded by her many mice footmen, was depicted in this charming story float.

WASHINGTON PARK GRAMMAR.

In a large white cage a bluebird fluttered, secure from the cat and other predatory enemies, some of them apparently boys of the school itself.

LOGAN-STREET SCHOOL.

Happiness was personified by fairies, clothed in filmy garments of gold and silver. They played in a garden of flowers, skipping back and forth as though without a care on earth.

NORMANDIE-AVENUE SCHOOL.

When Jason went on his search for the Golden Fleece, he sailed just such a ship as that in which the fierce-looking warriors of the Normandie school traveled. They endeavored to portray the old myth and did it very well.

SIXTY-EIGHTH STREET.

Bold Robin Hood and a part of his Sherwood Forest in old England were presented by the boys and girls of the above school. Friar Tuck, Maid Marian and other prominent characters of the famous opera story were there.

ARAGON-STREET SCHOOL.

Another operatic idea was portrayed by the float of "Norma," queen of music, which carried a group of girls playing wind instruments.

AVENUE SIXTY-TWO SCHOOL.

Filled with boys in kilties and girls in Highland costumes, the pupils of this school presented a bit of allegorical romance from the "Lady of the Lake."

ANN-STREET SCHOOL.

The Swanboat, carrying Lohengrin across the placid waters to his friends on the bank, was a pretty picture as produced by this school.

BELVEDERE SCHOOL.

This little institution outdid itself to make a hit. Preceded by a group of Indian outriders and runners, the first float showed Hiawatha playing with the rabbit, squirrel, bear, crow and other woodland brothers as a boy. The second showed him at the house of the arrowmaker, when he had grown up to be a warrior and was surrounded by chiefs and sachems gathered to hear his wise words.

MARENGO HEIGHTS SCHOOL.

Robinson Crusoe would certainly have enjoyed the spectacle of his duplication on the moving stage as shown by the Marengo boys. The attendants of the float were savages decked out in war paint, carrying shields, bows and arrows, and menacing the thatched hut of the lone white islander, who was attended by his goats and his Man Friday.

FIFTY-SECOND STREET.

Old Rip Van Winkle was not pleasantly received and welcomed, according to the depiction of this episode from the works of Washington Irving. In his beard and tatters he scared the villagers of his old home town.

TWENTY-FOURTH STREET.

Accompanied by conquistadores and padres, Balboa stood on the peak of a Panama range overlooking the Pacific, according to the detail of the story shown yesterday by the Twenty-fourth-street boys. They were attired in the costumes of those days.

FIFTY-FOURTH STREET.

A little color added to the life of this presentation of ancient Egypt. The obelisks and a pyramid set in the background, while before it were gathered a group of colored boys and girls. The float was drawn by two real elephants.

WEST VERNON AVENUE.

This school entered two floats presenting past and present of Los Angeles. The past was very dim and distant. Cave men in skins and carrying wicked spears preceded and surrounded an immense imperial elephant long since extinct. On the float, cave men built their fires with sticks and by other primitive methods. The second float showed a group of modern girls in a pretty drill, the outcome of the ages of education that have followed this prehistoric period of California.

FORTY-SECOND STREET.

A submarine, labeled "Peace," at this time of frightful submarine warfare, caused some comment. However, it was a good reproduction of the real thing, with flimy covering rising like water to the conning tower, from which numerous boys in uniform peered. The submarine drew another float, apparently the background for itself, being a reproduction of an ocean grotto filled with giant sea shells and mermaids.

THIRTY-SIXTH STREET.

Betsy Ross sewing the first flag of the nation sat at the edge of an old colonial garden, the edge of which showed the front porch of the old Washington home, and there also the Father of his Country. A great golden eagle hovered over the float.

SHERMAN-STREET SCHOOL.

John Smith, sitting beside the camp fire of Pocohantas, was depicted in the float of the Sherman school. Throughout the parade the chiefs debated on the problem presented by the first settlers.

MAIN-STREET SCHOOL.

In a bower of wistaria, a pretty group of girls dressed in Japanese costume and even made up to resemble closely the almond-eyed beauties of the Orient gazed into the mirror pool which gives great beauty to all who can find it, according to the ancient Japanese legend.

UTAH-STREET SCHOOL.

Taking care of the children was the task set and carried out by the children of the Utah-street school on their float, a scene set beneath a pergola of twining vines and climbing roses.

CASTELAR-STREET SCHOOL.

Weaving rugs and carpets on modern looms was the task set the girls of the Castelar school. While they were busy with this, a group of boys seated beside the shoemaker's bench mended shoes with skill and agility.

SIXTY-FIRST STREET.

That a school day is not all a work day was set forth in the float of the Sixty-first-street school on which a group of boys and girls swatted the tennis balls across the net on the miniature grounds.

DOMINGUEZ-STREET SCHOOL.

Scientific farming was depicted on this float, which showed a patch of sugar beets with boys hoeing and thinning ut the crop, while at the rear the beets were prepared for the mill.

SOLANO-STREET SCHOOL.

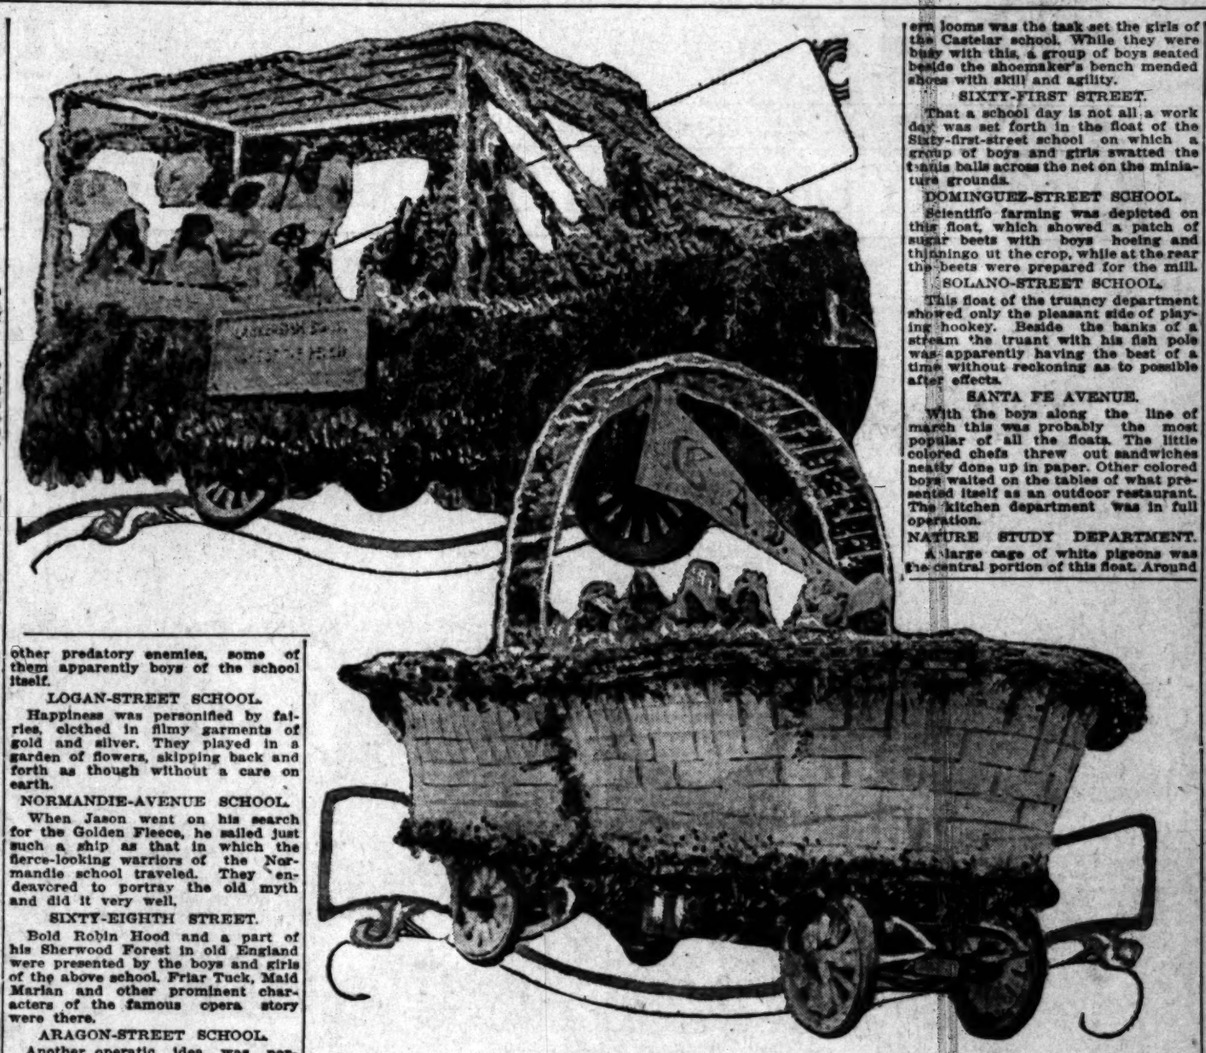
This float of the truancy department showed only the pleasant side of playing hookey. Beside the banks of a stream the truant with his fish pole was apparently having the best of a time without reckoning as to possible after effects.

SANTA FE AVENUE.

With the boys along the line of march this was probably the most popular of all the floats. The little colored chefs threw out sandwiches neatly done up in paper. Other colored boys waited on the tables of what presented itself as an outdoor restaurant. The kitchen department was in full operation.

NATURE STUDY DEPARTMENT.

A large cage of white pigeons was the central portion of this float. Around it were grouped dogs and cats, while butterflies fluttered about to be enmeshed in the net of the boy naturelover.



From the newest school in Los Angeles, Lankershim (top.)

The recently-annexed "Home of the Peach" provided one of the striking pieces for yesterday's parade—a pretty creation in green and pink, enhanced by pretty girls inside. Below is a bower of sweet peas, entered by Gardena Agricultural High School. Both floats were in the garden division of the pageant.

Hon. H. H. Rose, Mayor of Los Angeles, writes us as follows:

"I have made a thorough examination of your plan for offering high grade, First Mortgage 6 per cent Bonds in $100 denominations on the Partial Payment plan, and heartily approve it.

"Opportunity to buy high grade bonds should be welcomed by people of large means. The person with a little money, or who can save a little regularly, should avail himself of the interest returns as a large investor. Your plan affords this opportunity."

Payments may be as low as $5 monthly. Each payment draws 6 per cent interest from the date it is made—50 per cent MORE than a savings account earns.

Send for booklet, "How Money Grows," for fullest details. The sooner you begin saving, the more quickly you will become a bond owner.

Reinhard was marshal of this division, with C. E. White and D. A. Ross as aides.

The last division revealed the work being done in the Los Angeles schools of today in all its phases, and was a most poignant contribution to the whole. From the day-nursery work to the boat building at San Pedro High and the mechanical work at "Poly," it was all there. It was a lifting of the lid off the school work; a lesson that went home to all who have or expect to have children in school here. The marshal of this division was Creighton O. Waldorf. His aides were R. Coutchie and C. Mason.

Roger J. Sherrett was art director of the affair, and Irwin Hague the manager. That they handled their work well is to compliment them in the mildest of terms.

ROMANCE OF THE "QUAD."

Stanford Graduates will Marry Here Today and then Leave for Canadian Honeymoon.

A romance which began on the campus at Stanford University with Allen M. Standish and Miss Beatrice Mosmer, graduates of the class of '14, will end in their marriage today at the home of the young woman's father, Joseph Mosmer, a pioneer of Los Angeles, at No. 3500 Manitou street. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Father Gray of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The young people will depart immediately on a wedding trop to Canada.

Mr. Standish specialized on agriculture when he was a student in the university. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Standish of San Francisco, who are in the city for the wedding, registered at the Alexandria.

Seemingly So.

TRUTH ALWAYS POINT SCORER.

Former L.A.I. Officer Makes Important Statement.

Book Value Reported as Less than Appraised.

Individuals and Group Seek to be Cleared.

To all appearances the defense gained its first important points yesterday afternoon in the trial of Charles A. Elder and ten associates of the Los Angeles Investment Company on the charge of conspiracy to use the United States mails to defraud.

Attorney Lawlor for the defense succeeded in bringing out, on cross-examination of Howard S. Tracey, former corresponding secretary of the company, that the company carried on its books the real estate appraised by W. F. Mines, Robert Marsh and C. W. F. Palmer at a value $3,500,000 less than that placed upon it by the appraisers.

Attorney Lawlor also brought out testimony tending to show that the company made large profits on its real estate transactions and by improving that estate. The witness also testified that Mr. Elder told him to always tell the truth in answering letters of inquiry and that it would be "worth a job" if he failed to do so, and that the truth was good enough. Mr. Tracey qualified this statement on redirect examination by saying that Elder told him to get his facts about the condition of the company from Banker, the monthly publication of the company.

An effort was made by Mr. Rush, special assistant to the Attorney-General, to have the witness testify regarding occurrences at the Los Angeles Investment Broadway Building early in September, 1913, when a crowd of stockholders came down on the company, but objections to the questions were sustained.

It became increasingly evident yesterday that the various defendants, in addition to the general defense that will apply to all of them, will endeavor to clear their skirts of any blame individually, by denying that they were instigated in or responsible for, various acts of the corporation. This was indicated by the cross-examinations of Attorneys Ray Nimmo for Ingold, I. O. Mayers for Mowder, Bryan Hanna for Gates and Dudley W. Robinson for Bagley.

Much youth invaded the trial yesterday, when Miss Agatha Grant, daughter of Peter A. Grant, died in the California Hospital. Judge Bledsoe indicated his willingness to recess court, but Mr. Grant declared he would continue only for the remainder of the day, rather than inconvenience the many persons interested in the progress of the trial.

Judge Bledsoe then stated that he would adjourn over today to allow Mr. Grant to attend the funeral, and paid a high tribute to the juror for his determination to persist in the performance of his duty despite his grief.

There was a lengthy and bitterly contested battle between the attorneys for the defense and prosecution over the admission of certain letters offered by the government. One of these letters is given in the indictment as one of the overt acts tending to establish the conspiracy.

POOLE LETTER.

This letter was written to the company by C. H. Poole of Whittier, December 31, 1912, and replied to by Mr. Tracey for the company. Several other letters responding to inquiries as to the financial condition of the company and the advantages of investment in its stock were offered, together with the replies. Finally, at the afternoon session, Attorney Rush succeeded in having the letters admitted.

Mr. Tracey stated that he was told shortly after he entered the employment of the company that he must acquire a certain amount of stock in the corporation if he desired to retain his position. He stated that in November, 1913, he owned 250 shares of stock on which he owed about $900, for which the company held his notes.

A letter from Frank Minter, dated April 11, 1913, was read to the jury in which Mr. Minter desired to have explained the item in the financial statement of the company that surplus and undivided profits were $142,000 and that dividends amounting to $97,813.12, had just been paid. Tracey testified he showed this letter to several persons in the office and asked how he should answer it. He said he was told that the financial statement was made out January 31, and that the quarterly interest came in on February 25, following, and the amount obtained from this interest was more than sufficient to pay the dividends, leaving the surplus intact. He also stated in the letter that the $112,000 was only a small part of the real surplus of the company as he had had about $10,000,000 that was not carried on the books, as surplus, and that the stock was listed at the original purchase price, while it had, in fact, steadily advanced in value.

THE "OUTSIDER."

Mr. Tracey testified that the company had what was known as an "outside building department," and that from 600 to 800 men were employed in this department. He said that certain illustrations presented to him by Attorney Lawlor correctly represented the appearance of the property after the company had improved it.

He testified that there was an organization in the company known as the Welfare Committee, composed of the heads of departments, which met to discuss the affairs of the company and the management of its business. He said that the increase in the value of the company's real estate holdings had been discussed generally at these meetings and that at one meeting it was suggested that an expert be employed to systematize the building department, as it was thought the profits from this branch of the business could be made larger.

There was the usual rapid fire of objections during the trial yesterday, the attorneys for the government for the first time taking some part in interposing technical objections.

PLEASED BY PAGEANT.

Notable Visitor from St. Louis Enthusiastic Over Showing of the Children and the Flowers.

One of the most enthusiastic spectators of yesterday's parade was Caballero James The Graeme Arbuckle, K.I.C., Spanish Vice-Counsul at St. Louis, and father of Macklyn Arbuckle, the actor. Mr. Arbuckle is here on his way to the two expositions and is a guest at the home of his son, Andrew Arbuckle, of No. 1775 Las Palmas avenue, Hollywood, and of his daughter, Mrs. Arbuckle King.

"I was amazed by the extent and the elaborate character of the pageant," said Mr. Arbuckle. "It was the more surprising to me when I was informed that the parade and its arrangements were entirely the work of the school children of Los Angeles. This city has the reputation of being one of the most progressive in the country, and I do not hesitate to say that no more remarkable example of it has ever been given than by today's spectacle. The initiative and resource of the school children are certainly qualifications that augur well for the future.

FAIRY OPERETTA.

Children of the Hoover-street School Plan a Pretty Entertainment for Wednesday.

The pupils of the Hoover-street school will give an entertainment on the afternoon of the 9th inst., when an operetta, "In the Flower Garden," will be the principal feature. The programme will be given under the direction of Miss Clara Doud, dancing teacher; Mrs. Goodrich, pianiste, and Miss Le Van, principal of the school. The following will take the principal parts in the dancing and singing:

Charlotte Fountain, pupil of Mme. Scoville; Doris Jones, Dorothy Brain, Elizabeth Ward, Ruby Hammer, Mary Spellacy, Katherine Higgins and Evelyn Pickrell.

The operetta represents one day in the life of the garden. The flowers are awakened by the bird voices, given a drink by the dew. They play with the sunbeams and then greet the dawn, which brings with her the little white clouds. Butterflies visit the flowers and then noon arrives. Winds whisper to the flowers of the approach of the storm clouds and the rain, the enemy of the little white clouds. The latter is driven away for awhile, but soon returns with the rainbow tints. The sunset visits the flowers, who are finally lulled to sleep by the fireflies.

NEW YORK GANGSTER.

Brother of "Gyp the Blood," Rosenthal Murder Accomplice, in Trouble Here.

Sydney Goldstein, brother of "Gyp the Blood," the notorious New York gangster involved in the murder for which Lieut. Becker of the New York police department is soon to be electrocuted, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on the charge of having stolen a camera from a waitress, Juanita Fouch.

While on the witness stand, Detective Bean asked Goldstein if he were not the brother of the murderous "Gyp the Blood," and Goldstein admitted the relationship. At the time of the Rosenthal murder, Sydney Goldstein disappeared, and has been in Los Angeles for nearly a year. In his pocket he carried newspaper clippings reporting his arrest in which he was described as an "Eastside ruffian."

Because of cross testimony by the girl who lost the camera, in which she displayed an alacrity in contradictions that appalled all concerned, Goldstein was released and the case dismissed.

ALLEGED EXTORTERS FREE.

Case Against Man Accused of Attempting to Blackmail Santa Monica Mayor is Dismissed.

Judge Craig reluctantly dismissed a charge of extortion pending against Edgar D. Byron, former detective, yesterday on motion of Deputy District Attorney Helms. Mr. Helms asked for dismissal of the case on the ground that the witnesses against Byron did not want to prosecute. He was charged with attempting to extort $500 from Mayor Dudley of Santa Monica. Byron pleaded guilty in Police Judge Carillo's court in Santa Monica Tuesday to a misdemeanor charge of making verbal threats, and a suspended sentence of six months in jail was imposed.

Byron, according to the complaint here, attempted to sell Mayor Dudley an alleged confession, which, it was charged, Mrs. Geraldine H. Hogg of Santa Monica had made involving Mayor Dudley. Byron jumped $5000 bail and went north. He was captured and brought back.

LATEST RULES ON INHERITANCE TAX.

STATE SUPREME COURT GIVES OPINIONS, CLEARS UP QUESTIONS.

At the April meeting of the Supreme Court of California in this city, John W. Carrigan, State Inheritance Tax Attorney for the southern district of California, requested the court to declare some uniform method of inforcing the law, the assessment of the inheritance tax, and to furnish a standard that would apply in such cases in the various counties of the State, to the end that the present state of confusion might be avoided.

The statement was made that in nearly every county in California different rules relating to the inforcement of the inheritance tax law prevailed, and that there was an utter absence of uniformity in a matter that vitally interested a great many persons and their estates in California. The Supreme Court has fulfilled the request of the representative of the State Controller, and a synopsis of the views of the court on the subject of the inheritance tax law follows:

The State Controller names one or more inheritance tax appraisers in each county; the court in probate names three disinterested appraisers for each estate in probate. These appraisers in probate, one or all, may or may not be within the discretion of the court in probate, selected from the list of authorized inheritance tax appraisers within the county. There is no compulsion in the law upon the court in probate to appoint any inheritance tax appraiser as a probate appraiser. It does become the duty of the Probate Court, however, to appoint an inheritance tax appraiser. His duties and functions are independent and apart from those of the probate appraisers. The law merely prescribes that if the inheritance tax appraiser fails to act as one of the probate appraisers, the expense of making the inheritance tax appraisement is paid out of the estate and not out of the inheritance fund under the control of the county treasurer.

When the appraisers in probate report upon the character and probable value of all the properties of the estate, the inheritance tax appraiser reports upon the character and value of so much of the estate as is liable for the inheritance tax, and to determine whether transfers of property have been made by the deceased of such a nature as to render the property transferred liable to the inheritance tax.

The law also contemplates notice and a hearing of the report of the inheritance tax appraiser, a determination by the court after such hearing, and an authorization to the county treasurer to receive the inheritance tax when the proper formal proceedings have been taken. The State itself may justly be heard to complain if the course prescribed by its own law is not fulfilled, and it is not sufficient answer to say that in an individual case no wrong has resulted. Judicially the court cannot know whether any error has been committed and wrong has resulted until after the formal hearing and determination so plainly prescribed by law.

Upon the completion of any inheritance tax appraisement in a probate proceeding, the appraiser must make a report to the Superior Court in writing of the clear market value of the interests of the estate and report the amount of the inheritance tax chargeable against such interests. The appraiser is requested to mail a copy of his report to the State Controller, and ten days later the Superior Court may make an order confirming the report and fixing the amount of the tax. But prior to such finding objections in writing to the report may be filed, and ten days later a hearing shall be had in that regard, but in the meantime a copy of the objections shall be sent to the State Controller, county treasurer and State Inheritance Tax Appraiser.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) Our foreign-trade balance for the past week is over $19,000,000, which shows we are keeping up the fast pace set some months ago. Neither the great war nor the trouble in Mexico had any effect on investors, they taking securities from nearly the whole quoted list, with a resultant increase in prices of from one to three points. The volume of business was also much larger. Live stock in large quantities is being bought here for shipment to Europe.

(Abroad:) The Bank of England has released over $11,000,000 in gold, most of which will eventually find its way to America.

(For details see financial pages.)

CUTTING LOOSE.

Long Beach seems to be making a desperate effort to burst through a little of its straight-lace. On general principles we should say that the sooner any city escapes narrow-mindedness the better for it.

ALL OVER.

With ten burglaries and five safes cracked in one night the city of Pomona is showing signs of nervousness. This is quite unnecessary. There is hardly a chance that the burglars will return just out of curiosity to see if they can be caught.

FROM A CHILD'S NOTEBOOK.

"Picked some sweet peas today; caught a baby mocking bird in an avocado tree; buried a big dark butterfly with gold-tipped wings that had died in the sun; found a funny old bee that fell about in a magnolia blossom, all drunk from the perfume; can hardly go to sleep for thinking of the parade tomorrow"—thus runs a stray leaf from a child's diary in Los Angeles. Oh, you happy, happy little people of this golden land!

AN IDEAL PLAN.

The Los Angeles municipal camp for children is located this year in the San Bernardino Mountains, the city having taken advantage of the forestry service's offer to lease government lands for this purpose. Children of different ages will be taken there in classes, the little girls at one time and the boys at another. They may have their transportation and all expenses paid and a glorious two weeks' outing for $7.50. Of course they are surrounded by wise and kind protection while they are away. The plan is practical and delightful. Little men and women can easily save that money in nickels and pennies from one summer to the next. They will thus acquire the good habit of setting aside a vacation budget from money that will not be missed.

THE FLAG.

We don't think we altogether approve of the tradesmen's little trick of pinning an advertisement on the flag.

Of course in a sense it is complimentary enough, insinuating that the flag will encourage trade when everything else fails. But to a great many Americans their flag is as sacred as their religion and they like to feel that it means rather more than a trade prosperity boom. There are those of us who think the flag should be a spiritual inspiration rather than a material one and it disturbs our sense of the fitness of things to see it flamboyantly surrounding some advertisement used exclusively to draw attention to something for sale.

Someone has said that patriotism is the last refuge of the politician, but it seems even more the last refuge of the tradesmen.

The flag is the great symbol of a nation, holy, righteous, brave and true. When it waves nobly in the air we like to think that it is conveying this message to the people, an affectionate reminder of the nations worth, of the nation's ideals. It should be a call to courage, self-control, dignity, not a call to circulate the almighty dollar.

THE GREEK THEATER.

The Park Commissioners themselves will rejoice when the sober second thought dominates them that the people voted to allow Col. Griffith to proceed with the building of the Greek Theater which he has promised to present to the city.

When the theater shall be completed we will all have a chance to see and hear the romantic drama of "Iphigenia in Tauris," as it was last presented by Euripides in the Dionysiac Theater on the slope of the Acropolis in Athens 2300 years ago, the only changes being that the text will be translated into English and the female characters will be represented, not by youths wearing masks and wigs, but by some of the beautiful maidens who make life lovelier in our angel city.

The stage of the theater to be erected by Col. Griffith will be placed close to the curve of the seats and the rear will be a sounding board. There will be no echo when the seats are filled. The acoustic properties will be perfect.

The actors in "Iphigenia" when it was played in Athens wore shoes the soles of which were from four to nine inches high. The long Greek dress hid their feet and the addition to their height made their appearance more impressive. Of course they could not dance the tango in this footwear, but there was no dancing in the stately Greek dramas.

The Mexicans are investing hundreds of thousands of dollars in ammunition. Wonder where all the money comes from?

THE ELECTION RESULT.

Pretty nearly everybody, except a few defeated candidates, seems to be happy over the result of the municipal election. Los Angeles has elected a good Mayor and a good Council and on the whole a good Board of Education. And the pernicious jitney bus ordinance is defeated. The claims of the rival candidates for the Mayoralty were so evenly balanced that few people cared much who was elected. In common parlance it was a "toss-up" between Sebastian and Whiffen; the evenly-divided vote shows that such was the popular opinion about it. And now Los Angeles can face the future confidently. The spirit of the new administration will be liberal, enterprising and fair. It should be economical—for great is the need of retrenchment in taxation—but we are not so sure as to that. We do know that the newly-elected Mayor and Councilmen will make a great mistake if they are too free-handed.

NEED OF UNIVERSITY.

Those who on Wednesday morning saw the charming and inspiring procession arranged and carried out by the public schools of Los Angeles could not fail to be impressed with the efficiency of our schools and the need of the best educational institution that modern civilization knows. Those who on Saturday next will see a similar procession arranged by the country schools will have this impression deepened in their minds.

Not only have we an admirable system of public instruction in the public schools of the city and county, but we have admirable schools of all grades maintained by private enterprise all over Southern California. The leader among these institutions is undoubtedly the University of Southern California, a real university in the true sense of the term, with various schools of every profession and art known in modern mental training. There is Occidental College, Pomona College, the Baptist College at Redlands, all admirable institutions of high grade conducted efficiently and accomplishing fine results in every branch of mental training.

Yet the need of the hour, as things are now, is for another institution similar to Stanford or the State University in Berkeley or a Mills College. The fact is that the schools of the State are all overcrowded, and this applies to the schools where the sexes are educated separately as well as to those where co-education prevails. Stanford and Berkeley were easy propositions, for the reason that the late Senator Stanford's millions were behind the one and the taxpayers of the State behind the other. It has been different with the other institutions of a private nature where the struggle has been hard and the growth slow. Mills College struggled along for years until generous friends endowed it so heavily that it is said now that its income is so immense that it is difficult to spend it all without extravagance.

It is a fact well known to parents here in Southern California, particularly to those who have well-grown girls to educate, that there is no room at any of these northern institutions for girls without waiting sometimes for two years to get an opportunity to enter. Stanford limits its girls to 500, and so many are the applications that a girl who would apply now for entrance would find herself somewhere between 600 and 700 on the list and be obliged to wait a year or two to get in under the 500 limit. Mills College is so crowded that a new pupil cannot get in without being on the waiting list for half a year or perhaps for a year.

Now there are more students of both sexes in these northern institutions whose homes lie in Southern California than come from the northern part of the State. This is a statement made on excellent authority by those who know. Here are facts that call aloud for relief, and now is the time to give it. It is not just to the rising generation that a young man or a young woman should have to wait a year or two or even a half year for an opportunity to enter a school of high grade where the proper education may be had.

As the years pass, the price of property rises very rapidly in Los Angeles and all through Southern California. There is still an opportunity to secure attractive land ample for the founding of a university at moderate cost. That is moderate compared with the future, not with the past.

Here is a suggestion coming from the other side of the continent. The Outlook in a recent issue noted the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Barnard College, New York. This institution was founded a quarter of a century ago in answer to an obvious need for a college for women in New York. It was opened for students in a private house, and a small one at that. It started with thirty-six students, and at the end of four years had an endowment of $7000, with liabilities amounting to $16,000, and furthermore with a prospect of a deficit of $30,000 the following year. Here J. Pierpont Morgan stepped in with a check of $5000 which buoyed up the hopes and renewed the enthusiasm of those interested in the institution. Mr. Rockefeller sent a gift of $250,000 and with these exceptions the endowment of Barnard College has come entirely from the gifts of women. A woman, Mrs. A. A. Anderson, gave the site on which the college stands, valued at $1,000,000, and it was largely through the agency of this generous woman that the college dormitory was built at a cost of about $300,000. One anonymous gift to this college amounted to $440,000, and after twenty-five years it has an endowment of nearly $3,500,000.

In the endowment of Mills College near Oakland, Cal., and of Barnard College, New York, there is a suggestion to wealthy Californians to "go and do likewise." Who will be the Californian, the Southern Californian, to follow the example of Mrs. Anderson and give a site for an institution of high learning, either for co-education or exclusively for the education of girls? Who will be the Californians, the Southern Californians, to come forward liberally with endowments for such an institution?

The State has provided a Normal School at Los Angeles, another at San Diego and a third at Santa Barbara. It would not be too much to ask the State authorities to establish a branch university here, cognate in every respect with the State University at Berkeley. The southern part of the State pays in more taxes to the State than any other similar number of counties in the State. It sends more pupils to the northern schools than the northern counties contribute.

California has a good reputation for her schools of every degree, public and private, and the East comes here to get new ideas and better inspiration for education than are to be found elsewhere. But it surely is not maintaining this reputation to have the knowledge go out that our young men and young women are debarred from higher institutions of learning because of lack of room.

THE DUTY OF THE AMERICAS.

"For years," says George H. Maxwell in his admirable book, "Our National Defense," "the gospel of peace has been proclaimed to the world from the United States. During that period we have been busy building battleships and piling up great private fortunes from making armor plate. We have been urging disarmament while spending millions to increase our own armaments. We have been advocating arbitration while constantly increasing our military expenditures."

Since the day when Congress, in a frenzy of patriotic outburst, voted fifty millions in fifteen minutes to start our war with Spain the peace propaganda has been vigorously prosecuted, and in that period we have had war after war, the Spanish-American war, the Russo-Japanese war, war in the Philippines, war in Greece, war in the Balkans, war in South Africa, war in Algeria, war in Morocco, war in Tripoli, war in Mexico, war again in the Balkans and now all Europe is ablaze with war from the North Sea to the Mediterranean and "its flames are reddening Asia and Africa."

The present war cannot be ended, and future wars cannot be prevented by any lesser power than a general convocation of all nations, both belligerent and neutral. It needs a world court to adjudicate those unsettled questions which "have no pity for the repose of mankind." It needs a world legislature to frame a code of international law for the government of all nations. It needs a world executive and a world army and navy to enforce world laws.

There is no sound basis for the prediction of optimists that the termination of the present war will be the inauguration of a permanent era of peace. Lord Roberts, who years ago predicted the war with Germany, said recently: "I would ask the British people not to be led away by those who say that the end of this great struggle is to be the end of war, and that it is bound to lead to a great reduction of armament. There is nothing in the history of the world to justify any such conclusion. Nor is it consonant with ordinary common sense."

Mr. Maxwell says: "It may be argued that Germany will be so weakened by this great conflict as not to desire another war. The contrary will prove true. If Germany should prevail, the ambition of her war lords would know no limit until Germany dominated the world. If Germany should not prevail, no matter how much she may be humbled by defeat, she will start over again, with all the latent strength of her people, to rebuild from the ruins a more powerful military nation than she has ever been. With the record before us of what Germany has accomplished since the close of the Thirty Years' war can anyone deny that a great Teutonic military power might again be developed from the ashes of a ruined nation?"

There are twenty Latin-American nations in this Western Hemisphere between our southern border and Cape Horn. Their combined population is nearly equal to that of the United States. Between each other and between each and all of them and the United States there is no rivalry and no clashing of interests, and our political institutions and theirs are homogeneous.

It would seem that the American continents ought to be the home of the dove of peace from whence her brood of twenty-one dovelets should go forth, carrying olive branches to torn, distracted, bleeding, starving and well-nigh ruined Europe.

Is it not our duty as the largest, most populous, wealthy and powerful of all the nations of the Western Hemisphere to move actively and earnestly for combined action of the Americas in behalf of the restoration of peace in Europe?

DR. GLASS, BISHOP.

The church is to be congratulated on the elevation of Dr. Glass to the bishopric. There could not have been a more suitable and admirable appointment. Dr. Glass has long tread in the path that leads to such a high dignity. He is a trained ecclesiastic, a cultured and faithful priest, an urbane gentleman, a public-spirited citizen, above all a cure of souls with a heart in his work—your true metropolitan. Besides having labored so faithfully and effectively for the cause dearest to him, Dr. Glass has contributed generously and with success to the development and advancement of Los Angeles and Southern California. He has been part and parcel of our educational, religious and material growth. He has been a builder and a founder. The diocese of Salt Lake is fortunate to get him, and Los Angeles, while congratulating him on his new opportunities for service, is very sorry to lose him. God will be with him.

THE SCHOOL PAGEANT.

Yesterday's school pageant was certainly the best of all the Los Angeles pageantries. It exceeded any of the Fiesta parades in ingenuity, interest and inspiration. Well was it worth coming across a continent to see. Gratitude is due to all who had a hand and brain in it—especially to the earnest workers of our schools. While the show was a beautiful demonstration of the joys of our climate and gardens, it was more than all a revelation of the little-understood extent and resourcefulness of our public school system. And it once more proved that Los Angeles city in itself now outrivals many a State of the Union. Every father and mother and every child and every dweller in our tents is prouder and more conscious because of the school pageant.

Love Duets from Recent Novels.

[Owen Wister, in the June Atlantic:] Mr. Chambers was once a regular practitioner of the novel; but he has come to this:

"'Do you love me?'

"'Yes.'

"'You have no fear of me now?'

"'No. But don't kiss me—yet,' she whispered, tightening his arm round her."

"He laughed softly." "'Your Royal Shyness is so wonderful—so wonderful—so adorable! When may I kiss you?'

"'When we are alone.'

"'Will you respond when we are alone?'

Here is another love-duet, taken at random from another novel:

"'Be less a comrade, more a sweetheart.'

"'Familiar?'

"'My heart was beating fast.' "'Familiar to my arms. I love you.'

"'I—do not permit myself to desire your arms. Can I help saying so—if you ask me?'

"'When I love you so——'

"'No. Why are you, after all, like other men, when I once hoped——'"

"It's a good thing it is," retorted the mere man, "or half the people who are wading around in it would get drowned."

THE TWELFTH JUROR.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]

BY HON. WILLIAM E. RANSOM, Justice of the City Court of the City of New York.

WHEN Edward Burns, the Syracuse motorman, suddenly won for himself a nation-wide fame usually reserved for heroes of diamond and gridiron he unconsciously and unwittingly performed a public service which may far eclipse in importance anything else which follows from the notable trial in which he sat as juror. The dramatic incident which marked and marred the rendition of the jury's verdict in that cause celebre will give impetus everywhere to the cause of jury reform, and especially in the New York State Constitutional Convention, now in session at Albany, it will furnish perhaps decisive support to the already formidable movement for abolition of the requirement of unanimous action by the jury in civil cases and for adoption of other expedients designed to give greater elasticity and suitableness to the American jury system.

That a single juror who was ready to concur and did concur with his colleagues in the returning of a verdict for the defendant upon the only issues submitted to the consideration of the jury, should be able to hold the jury in protracted deadlock and all but wreck the work of weary weeks spent by court, counsel, distinguished witnesses and eleven other jurors served to visualize and dramatize a serious defect in our jury system. That the recalcitrant juror precipitated and prolonged this deadlock merely because the court refused to bow to his insistence that there be received and entered a verdict which contained a recommendation as to a matter concerning which neither the jury nor the court had power or discretion centered nation-wide attention on a defect to which attention had often been called by Ex-Atty.-Gen. Wickersham and by many justices of trial courts throughout the United States.

In civil cases a provision that ten or perhaps even nine jurors might render a verdict, notwithstanding dissent by the remaining two or three, would in the overwhelming majority of instances result in verdicts more fair and just and more fully in accord with the evidence and the law of the case as declared by the court than does the present requirements of unanimous action. The verdicts which bring our jury system into disrepute are due to the stubbornness or unintelligence of an occasional minority of one or two, rather than to any inability or indisposition of the great majority of jurors to perform their duties fairly and capably. Not long ago, in this State, a jury of which two members favored a verdict of $100,000 and two-thirds favored a verdict in excess of $25,000 returned a verdict for 6 cents under circumstances bringing just reproach upon the administration of justice. The obstinacy, or worse, of one or two jurors compelled the majority to surrender or report a disagreement.

I have heard the suggestion that adoption of the ten-juror verdict would be opposed by representatives of casualty and indemnity companies which conduct the defense of thousands of negligence actions, usually for personal injuries. I have not been able to find tangible manifestation of such opposition, but if it is operative I am strongly of the opinion that it is mistaken. It is undoubtedly true that, were ten jurors empowered to return a verdict, awards would sometimes be made where disagreements and retrials now result, and verdicts would in some instances be larger because ten jurors bent on a verdict for the plaintiff would not be compelled to reduce the same in amount in order to bring in line a juror or two remaining doubtful as to the propriety of so large a verdict or a finding for the plaintiff at all. My observation of the actual working of the present system leads to the conclusion, however, that defending indemnity companies lose more money as a result of "compromise" verdicts for the plaintiff where the plaintiff should justly have no verdict at all than they would lose under a rational system which would permit an intelligent ten to return a verdict without making any concessions to sympathetic jurors who insist on "giving the plaintiff a little something because she was hurt, and the defendant will never miss it." I recently presided over a trial in which ten jurors favored a verdict for the defendant, yet finally joined in a verdict for the plaintiff for the entire amount of liquidated damages proved amounting to several hundred dollars.

Another Improvement in the jury system, particularly for the trial of civil actions involving lesser amounts, would in my judgment be provision that, in placing his case on the calendar for jury trial, the plaintiff may specify trial by either six or twelve jurors with right on the part of the defendant to have a trial by twelve jurors on demand. The ordinary business dispute can be handled at least as well by six jurors, with less likelihood of disagreement or diversion from the real issue of the case, and such a trial would mean less expense to the litigants and to the community and less interference with the attention of jurors to their usual business pursuits.

The improvement of legal procedure and the elimination of technicalities from the conduct of trials also have an important relation to the practical workings of the jury system. How often it is that jurors have a much better sense of substantial justice than those technicians who codified our rules of laws and devised our rules of procedure!

SCHOOL TO BE CITY'S ASSET.

Contract for Fine Building at Owensmouth Let.

Will Serve Newly-acquired Part of Municipality.

Other Splendid Educational Facilities Gained.

Charles W. Kent & Sons of this city were awarded the contract yesterday for the construction of the magnificent Owensmouth Union High School in the western end of the San Fernando valley. Work on the large structure is to be started at once, in order that it may be ready for occupancy by the opening of the coming year.

The modern $100,000 educational institution may to all intents and purposes be called one of the acquisitions of the recent annexation election. Although the building itself will be in the town of Owensmouth, and hence practically outside of the far-flung municipal limits of Los Angeles, the city will serve a union district, a large part of which is within the new corporate boundaries of this city. Owensmouth itself is, of course, now completely surrounded and enveloped by the southwest metropolis.

The new Owensmouth "High" will be, in fact, the finest of the educational institutions of the Los Angeles Board of Education, and consequently must be listed among the assets acquired by the city in its recent expansion proclivities.

The two schools are of the grammar grade and will contain ten rooms each. That at Marian will cost about $40,000 and that at Chatsworth approximately $40,000. Both will be of substantial construction and handsome design. The Chatsworth school is replacing an old frame structure that has served a generation of students, while that at Marian will be in the heart of the rich territory between Canoga Park and Owensmouth.

The town of Van Nuys the contract have just let the finishing touches to a splendid high school building, as the result of the annexation, and is now numbered among the fine educational buildings of Los Angeles. The Van Nuys community boasts a modern grammar school, as does also Owensmouth. The town of San Fernando, while retaining its municipal identity, like Owensmouth, set in the midst of the newer portions of Los Angeles, is adding to its already excellent school facilities two structures as an appurtenant to its present high school building. A large grade school is now being completed at the same place.

With the annexation of the 100,000-acre municipal district in the San Fernando Valley Los Angeles has taken a large type of addition not usually seen in the growth of cities, a territory full of "improvements all in," as the real estate men say, and with educational facilities existing and provided that are on a par with those of the city itself.

SPELL OF CONVENTION.

Many Men at Luncheon Today. Final Sessions will Open Here Shortly—Making Plans.

The members of the Los Angeles Realty Board will assemble this noon at the Alexandria Hotel for what is expected to be one of the most interesting meetings of the year. Immediately following an elaborate luncheon, those in attendance will witness the installation of the officers elected for the organization a week ago. Then will follow a programme of talks by the chairmen of the various committees in charge of the arrangements for the eighth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, to be held in Los Angeles May 21 to 25, inclusively.

Many speakers will tell in detail of the plans for the great gathering of realty brokers, covering the entire week for the benefit of the members. A complete description will be given of the contemplated entertainment features and of the business to be undertaken at the regular sessions of the delegates. Thomas Ingersoll of Minneapolis, secretary of the National Association, and who is in Los Angeles taking charge of the preliminary arrangements for the convention, will be present as a guest of honor.

Widow of Nebraska Pastor, who Aided Local Church, Passes Away. Interment in the East.

Mrs. Gertrude P. Maxfield, 62 years old, prominent church worker and widow of the Rev. James K. Maxfield of Lincoln, Neb., died early yesterday morning at her residence, No. 1541 West Forty-eighth street. Her brother, J. M. Pulliam, hurried to her bedside from his home in Minneapolis, Minn., arriving just before Mrs. Maxfield passed away. She leaves two daughters, Miss Bess Maxfield and Mrs. J. H. Hendy, and a son, Dr. J. P. Maxfield. The daughters live in this city. The son is residing in Alliance, Neb.

Mrs. Maxfield came to this city three years ago. Her husband died four years before she moved west. She was prominent in the social work of the First Methodist Church of this city. Two months ago she became ill.

Funeral services will be conducted in the residence at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Locke will officiate with Rev. Francis Beall assisting. Mr. Pulliam, the brother, will take the body back to Nebraska for interment.

WHIFFEN WORKERS IN WRATH DEMAND PAY.

Near-riot Follows Failure of Fake Committee to Take up I.O.U.'s Issued Promiscuously by Politician. Snowden and Whiffen Deny Liability—Mass Meeting Tonight to Lay Plans.

MORE than 1000 men and women who worked at the polls Tuesday for the election of Mr. Whiffen as Mayor, and who were not paid for their efforts, besieged the California Building and Central Police Station yesterday, demanding their money, and nearly staging a riot.

Tonight a mass meeting will be held on Eighth street, between Broadway and Spring, when a plan will be formulated for compelling the payment of about $14,000 that was promised for "faithful" work at the polls.

The workers were hired by the "Business Men's Committee," a fake organization, that sprang from the fertile and imaginative brain of one H. E. Prettyman, a cheap politician with a record of similar accomplishments. Prettyman promised each worker $2.50 for election-day work, or $5 in the event of Mr. Whiffen's election.

He rented an office in the California Building, next to the Merchants' Trust Building, wherein the Whiffen headquarters were located. He hired men and women promiscuously. He employed more autos than use was found for. He signed yellow tickets with the broad freedom of a man with unlimited means. He called upon all newspapers to witness that he had a barrel containing something like $22,000, and that he was ready to up-end it for Mr. Whiffen.

MANY RESPOND.

Like ants around a jar of honey, the workers responded to his want ads. Each carried from the Prettyman office a yellow ticket, an I.O.U. good for anything from $2.50 up. Word spread over the city that a slush fund was available, and certain newspapers played into the Prettyman hand by advertising that fact. Into the California Building there poured a stream of men and women that resembled a bread line during a Chicago winter.

There was great joy, Mr. Prettyman peddled pre-election predictions and bunk with the suave nonchalance of a promoter. He had been a paid Whiffen worker and for days he established himself in Whiffen headquarters. To The Times he announced, long in advance, that he was to "cut a melon" in a few days.

When the polls opened Tuesday they were surrounded on every side by Whiffen workers. Whiffen badges were as thick as votes against the jitbus. There was great enthusiasm. Mr. Prettyman was in the height of his glory.

When the polls closed Mr. Whiffen was found to be somewhat in arrears in the matter of votes. Instead of getting the double pay promised in the event of his election, the workers saw only the modest stipend.

NO PRETTYMAN.

At daylight yesterday many of them gathered at Second and Broadway and waited for Mr. Prettyman. It so happened that the Prettyman person foresaw the gathering, and, catching time by the windshield, he faded from view. Police detectives were sent after him, but he secreted himself successfully.

The "barrel" didn't appear. The Whiffen committee disclaimed any connection with the Prettyman outfit. The workers were not paid. Some of them broke into the office and Fred Wirth broke up the furniture and his way into jail.

The workers stormed the Whiffen headquarters next door, but got no encouragement. The yellow tickets that had been scattered so lavishly by Prettyman were flashed in vain. The police collected about 700 names, a mass of evidence, and turned it all over to the District Attorney, who started detectives on an investigation.

The workers marched to the Police Station, and then started to march upon the home of Mr. Whiffen. Detectives were dispatched by Chief Sebastian to the Whiffen home for protection. The parade did not reach that far.

CHARGES TO BE FILED.

Charges of violation of the purity of election law will be filed against those responsible for the scandalous affair, according to the police. The grand jury may be asked to investigate. Names of prominent men appear on some of the yellow tickets.

Campaign Manager Snowden disclaimed any foreknowledge of the Prettyman committee or of its work. He denied that he had approved the payment of any sum named upon a yellow ticket.

The tragedy lengthened into the night, when the workers became discouraged. They decided to meet on Eighth street tonight and take action. An attorney may be employed.

President Whiffen said last night that he knew nothing of the matter until it was called to his attention afterward, and that he then issued a statement absolving himself and his committee from responsibility. He was heard several times to warn workers hired by Prettyman, and several times he refused to approve the work.

Men and women from all parts of the country participated in the affair. Workers were sent into every precinct, and some of the heavier precincts contained as many as ten workers. Women worked more than twelve hours at the polling places, and many of them appeared in the crowd yesterday, looking for their money.

It is claimed that Prettyman made open promises of reward for the solicitation of votes. All efforts to locate him yesterday by the police were of no avail.

The workers are very indignant, and some of them will appear in the Council chamber this morning to demand an investigation.

Meanwhile the police, directed by Inspector Home, are gathering evidence, and turning it over to the District Attorney for use in case complaints are issued.

ON EXTORTION CHARGE.

Two Youths who Refuse to Talk Accused of Taking "Protection" Money from Landlady.

Arrested in a rooming-house at No 649½ South Hill street while alleged to be attempting to extort money from the landlady, Mrs. A. Edwards, Albert Smith, 22 years of age, and his brother, both of whom refused to give their address, were booked yesterday afternoon. According to Detectives Carter and McNamara, who made the arrests, the Smiths attempted to force Mrs. Edwards to pay them for alleged police protection.

According to Mrs. Edwards, who is responsible for the arrest of the two men, they called at her home over a week ago and declared that they were police officers. They demanded money, declared Mrs. Edwards, and she paid them a small amount. When they returned for more yesterday Mrs. Edwards called the police by telephone and had the two men arrested.

At Central Police Station the two prisoners refused to talk. They will be taken into Police Court today.

PLEADS GUILTY, FINED.

Reputed Wealthy Ranchman had Drugs in His Possession—Alleged to Have Sold Them.

H. M. Lanon, declared by the police to be wealthy, who was arrested May 29 by Roy Jones, pharmacy inspector, and charged with having drug in his possession, pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon in Police Court and was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 or serve 180 days in the City Jail.

According to Mr. Jones, Lanon for some time before his arrest had been selling drugs to Joe Dockwiler, who, a few days ago, was convicted of using drugs.

Lanon, who was arrested at his home at No. 5258 Eighth avenue, according to Mr. Jones, is part owner of the Crow's Nest ranch, one of the best-known ranches in the southern part of the State.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

THE historic Dominguez hacienda with its wealth of romance permeating every nook and acre was the scene of a notable wedding last night when Miss Lucy Carson, daughter of Mrs. Victoria Dominguez Carson and the late George Carson, became the bride of Neal Rassmussen in the presence of only the immediate family.

The service read by Father Eling, the parish priest, was marked for its simplicity, the bridal party standing before a mass of palms, roses and carnations in the great solarium. Miss Grace Caldwell, a niece of the bride and a lovely young girl of eighteen summers, was her only attendant, and her brother, David Carson, served as best man.

The Spanish type of beauty possessed by Miss Carson was accentuated by her pretty white taffeta tailored frock and hat of white maline trimmed in pink roses. Miss Caldwell wore white chiffon, and her hat was of white.

The courtship of this beautiful young woman and the young Racine gentleman, who is the son of a prominent lumberman of Wisconsin, started two years ago while she was on a visit East, in company with her mother. And one splendid feature of the affair is that Los Angeles and California is not to lose Mrs. Rassmussen, for her husband has come to remain permanently, and will soon enter some business. They are to return from their honeymoon by July 1, when they will be at home to their innumerable number of friends in Los Angeles.

The bride is the grand-daughter of Manuel Domingues, who as the son of a Spanish noble—Cristobal Dominguez—came to America in 1820, to occupy a grant of 53,000 acres of valuable land, bestowed for valor to his country. Thus was the present lineage established.

Mr. Rassmussen is the nephew of former State Senator Rassmussen of Wisconsin, his family being prominent in history-making of the State.

Young Matron as Hostess.

Mrs. Turner Elmer Weatherholt of No. 914 Alvarado street, was a gracious hostess of the week, dispensing charming hospitality to about sixty friends who enjoyed bridge, followed by high tea.

The Weymouth ballroom was used for the afternoon's diversion, the card tables being scattered through the hall, converted into a most attractive rendesvous with rich oriental rugs and a predominating color scheme of pink and green. The pillars were wrapped in greenery and wreathed in Enchantress carnations, among which perked pretty tulle butterflies. Twelve gold baskets of maidenhair fern and Enchantress carnations were suspended from the ceiling into a pretty floral dome, with inverted lights veiled in pink shades. Miss Schertzinger, the harpist, added to the afternoon's enjoyment, playing from a bower of flowers, with a background of greenery. She wore a cloth of gold gown, blending artistically with the splendid instrument.

High tea was served in the drawing-room, the perfectly appointed table with its lace cloth being centered in Cecile Brunner rosebuds and feathery Gypsophilla caught in graceful bows of tulle. The tea urn was presided over by Mrs. G. Alexander Bobrick. The motif was observed in pink confections, cakes and ices.

Assisting parlor hostesses numbered in their personnel Mrs. C. Alexander Bobrick, Mrs. G. W. Saurret, Mrs. H. H. Rose, Miss Pauline Mahan, Mrs. Harold Raymond Maurer, Mrs. Thomas M. McCreary, Mrs. Frank B. Ranger, Mrs. Benjamin F. Graham and Miss Ruth Wilcox.

For a Bride-Elect.

Mrs. W. S. Young of No. 645 South Boyle avenue was hostess Tuesday afternoon at a tea, honoring Miss Nellie May Bailey of Pasadena, who on the morrow is to marry her son, Arthur Nichols Young, Ph.D., an instructor of Princeton University. Shasta daisies, coreopsis and ferns formed an unusually pretty yellow-and-white decorative arrangement through the rooms. A recipe shower furnished much interest, augmenetd by a cookery romance game and other enjoyable features. Refreshments were served, hearts entering into the table adornment suggestively. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Miss Sarah Young, who is to be maid of honor at the wedding. Others present were Miss Bailey and her mother, Mrs. D. S. Bailey, Mrs. Mary P. Miller, Mrs. Williams, Miss Bessie Davis, all of Pasadena, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hollenbeck, Mrs. E. H. Hollenbeck and Miss Wilson of Los Angeles.

Farewell Social Courtesy.

One of the pleasant out-of-door affairs of the season was the garden party given by Mrs. Wilbert E. Barnes in honor of Mrs. Morris Howland Turk, who left last week for her new home in Kansas City.

The grounds, comprising several acres, located on San Rafael Heights, with spacious velvety sward and well-laid-out gadens, made an ideal setting for the function. The numerous spreading live oak trees bore special fruit for that day—dainty baskets filled with appetising luncheon, and adorned in flowers, each corresponding to boutonnieres of the same variety, which served as place cards. In addition to the special guest of honor were Mmes. J. H. B. Budan, H. K. W. Bent, Ella Barr, E. W. Goodan, C. B. Cleveland, George H. Clark, Mary L. Weber, Wynne B. Matheson, Flavel Shurtleff, Alva Gentry, Hugh W. Harrison, Monroe Amsden, Joseph Barnes, Charles Gardner, M. W. Harker, H. G. Brainerd, W. G. Halstead, and Misses Barr, Pauline Barr, Atina Duryea, Frances Bingham, Vera De la Matyr, Woodward, Brainerd, Barnes and Ella Barnes.

Mrs. Regan's Bridge Tea.

A pretty social compliment in the form of a welcome home was extended Mrs. George Bobrick yesterday, when Mrs. Michael Francis Regan of No. 849 South Burlington street entertained at an elaborate bridge luncheon. Summer flowers beautified the rooms where were scattered small tables for cards, and an afternoon of rare sociability was enjoyed.

The Covington Dance.

Very enjoyable was the dancing party given by Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Covington at their pretty home at No. 1019 South St. Andrews place Tuesday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brunton, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Howland, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellington, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. DeCamp, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Gillespie, Commodore and Mrs. A. J. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cline, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Deming, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fryman, Mr. and Mrs. George McFarlane, Miss Lillian Merriam, Messrs. Gray Rambley and R. H. Hambley in attendance. Shasta daisies and pink gladioli were effectively arranged for decorations, and a delicious buffet supper was served.

For Miss Lull.

Among the many prenuptial compliments being showered upon Miss Bertha Lull, who is to become the bride of Paul R. Coles on June 15, is a matinee theater party which Mrs. Leland Gillespie is to give at the Burbank on Thursday next, with tea at the Alexandria.

Miss Edith Stavnow is to give a bridge luncheon in honor of Miss Lull on Wednesday, though her affair will be larger, Mrs. Gillespie limiting her guests to the bridal party alone.

Miss Lillian Merriam is also complimenting Miss Lull on Saturday, when she entertains a box party at the Mason.

Mayor to Give a Dinner.

The Mayor and Mrs. H. H. Rose are to give a large dinner company at the Los Angeles Country Club Saturday evening, the 12th inst.

Garden Fete for Charity.

In the beautiful Italian garden of Mrs. John Percival Jones, No. 325 West Adams, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, a lawn fete is to be enjoyed, under the supervision of the St. Katherine School. The affair will not only prove of social delight, but is to benefit the suffering Belgians, for the entire proceeds are to be thus directed.

Both Pasadena and Los Angeles are to be represented among the prominent ladies lending their support, for Mrs. R. W. Macey is to have charge of the ice cream booth, Mrs. William LeMoyne Wills assisting; Mrs. Robert Meed is to preside over the attractive tea house, with Mrs. Frederick Mastzger and Mrs. William Richards to pour. Dainty confections are to be disposed of by Mrs. H. Bert Ellis, and a bevy of people, who are to work arduously for splendid success to crown their efforts.

Sellers-Whitcomb.

At the home of Rev. Herbert J. Weader, No. 831 South Harvard boulevard, yesterday morning, Miss Laura A. Sellers and Carroll S. Whitcomb plighted their troth at a very quiet wedding, Rev. Weader, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert A. Sellers of No. 221 North Robinson street.

For Tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Thilo Becker are entertaining a coterie of friends this evening, at their home on No. 431 South Alvarado street.

Luncheon-Announcement Party.

Mrs. Frank J. Macomber of No. 1724 Hobart boulevard entertained with a luncheon at the Hotel Hollywood last Saturday, and announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Arabella Macomber, to Harvey Wright Hall of Des Moines. A pink decorative motif was executed, the pretty board being massed in rose buds, and the betrothal was made known by the place cards containing pictures of the principals. At table were Mrs. D. J. Wilson, Mrs. A. K. Wilson and Misses Anna Drill, Ina Wilson, Faith Guy, Margaret Jay, Iva Wilson, Ethel Drill, Mabel Knudson, May Finch, Myrtle Marx, Hazel Kuykendall, Hazel Ashton, Cecile Williams, Mayme and Belle Hall, Miss Arabella Macomber and the hostess.

No date is yet set for the nuptial event.

To Receive Sunday.

Mrs. Bertha Scharps Baker will receive on Sunday, the 13th inst., from 2 to 5 o'clock, at her home on No. 914 Kingsley drive, in honor of the engagement of her daughter, Frances Lillian Scharps, to Sydney J. Cohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Cohn of No. 1114 Westlake avenue.

Dinner of Twelve Covers.

Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Ford, who are contributing a series of delightful dinner functions to the city's social activities, are again entertaining this evening, at their home, No. 515 South Western avenue. Pink sweet peas and delicate gypsophila are to form a central mound for the resplendent board, with covers for Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Spinks, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Ranger, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Jepson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adelseck, Miss Wilhelmina Rector and Clarence Ballard.

TROUT IN ORCHARD.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, June 2.—While irrigating his orange grove, between North Pomona and Claremont, Karl Burkholder caught a seven-inch brook trout in a cultivator furrow, and the episode has given rise to a great deal of speculation as to whether a man buys the fish rights of an irrigation company when he negotiates for water rights to irrigate his land.

Good Cheer.

GATHER ABOUT FESTAL BOARD.

GAMUT CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MONTHLY BANQUET.

Delightful Programme Featuring Visiting Artists Makes Affair One of the Most Enjoyable the Organization has Ever Given—Large Attendance.

Good music and good fellowship, with the usual atmosphere of good cheer that surrounds the Gamut Club affairs, made the monthly banquet of the organization last night a particularly enjoyable affair. The programme was an especially attractive one, and the attendance was large.

Among the guests of honor were Katherine Heyman, the noted pianist, who has just returned from a very successful tour of Europe; Cecil Fanning, the distinguished concert baritone, and his clever accompanist, H. B. Turpin, and Robert de Bruce of London. Miss Heyman played a Chopin etude and Debussy prelude in very delightful manner. She is to leave shortly for San Francisco where she will play a Saint-Saens concerto under the baton of the master himself. Miss Heyman received great praise for her work in concerts in Italy, Russia, Germany and France.

Mr. Fanning, with his remarkably artistic voice and in fine dramatic style, gave an aria from "Herodiade," and "Der Erikoenig" of Loewe. He also sang a very pleasing number by Harriett Ware, "Mammy's Song."

Mabel Whipple, a charming coloratura soprano, sang an aria from "The Pearl of Brazil," and the "Swallow Song" of Dell' Acqua. Frances Ahrens won much appreciation with her excellent rendition of a Tschaikowsky concerto.

Among those who spoke before the club were Mrs. Fletcher Copp, Mabel Cooper, John Emerson, Max Well and Ralph Errolle.

BROTHER VS. BROTHER.

One will Defend Man in Suit Over Tobacco, While Other will Prosecute Him.

It will be a case of brother against brother in the hearing of the protest of B. S. Jarrett, the local cigar maker, before Judge Charles McClellan of New York, a member of the board of appraisers, at the hearing in the Federal Building today.

Charles Lawrence of Washington, D. C., special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Gregory, will appear in behalf of the government, while Isidore Dockweiler and Frank L. Lawrence, a brother of the government representative, will champion the cause of Jarrett.

Forty-one bales of Cuban tobacco are involved in the controversy. Jarrett contends that it is all filler and dutiable at the rate of 35 cents a pound, while the local collector alleges that it is wrapper and that a duty of $1.50 a pound should be paid. Other tobacco received by Jarrett has been the subject of controversy as to its character, and the government has won its contention.

LET SCHOOL CONTRACTS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, June 2.—The school trustees met yesterday, let contracts for the coming year, and named the teachers. There will be no changes in the teaching staff unless there are resignations during the summer. The contracts let were: Cunningham, Curtis & Welch, Los Angeles, drawing supplies, $102.93; the Calkins Company, Los Angeles, chemical apparatus, $153.48; Braun Corporation, Los Angeles, chemicals, $199.80; local contracts, Allen Wheaton, coal, $9.08 per ton; S. T. Smith, general school supplies, $1423.15; Jones Book Store, kindergarten supplies, $275.80; F. J. Grassle, hardware, $317.56; Cope Commercial Company, foundry and machine shop supplies, $75.72.

TRANSFER READY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, June 2.—Papers providing for the transfer of title to the lands chosen as a site for the enlarged State citrus experiment station are now in the hands of the Chamber of Commerce committee which presented the claims of this district before the board of regents of the State University. The deeds will pass as soon as the committee has satisfied itself that the sixteen voluminous documents are in harmony with the various offers and representations made to the university authorities. The work of developing the site will probably be started in July.

Theater Outlook.

DREW COMING TO THE MASON.

"Merely Mary Ann" to Have Second Week.

Orpheum Bill Promises Four Big Stars.

Hippodrome to Feature "The Isle of Joy."

Mizzi Hajos, in "Sari," the beautiful Viennese opera, is scoring heavily at the Mason this week.

"Sari" is the most beautiful opera to which theatergoers have had opportunity to listen in a long time, and Miss Hajo's delightful personality and unctious and original humor are delighting big crowds at each performance.

John Drew, in "Rosemary," a revival of one of his most pleasing plays, will be the attraction next week. It is generally conceded that the role of Sir John Thoradyke is one of the best which the popular Mr. Drew ever played. Alexandra Carlisle, an English actress of note, will play the part of Dorothy Crookshank.

Burbank.

Marjorie Rambeau in "Merely Mary Ann" is proving one of the most popular attractions which the Burbank has ever had. The ingenious "Mary Ann" is drawing big crowds at every performance.

Miss Rambeau is ably supported by Ida St. Leon, Forrest Stanley, Louis Bennison, Lillian Elliott, Walter Catlett, Edmund Lowe, James K. Applebee, Grace Travers, Winifred Bryson and other Burbank favorite.

Morosco.

Al Johnson, in "Dancing Around," said to be the most spectacular and popular show which the Winter Garden ever put on, is to be the offering at the Morosco during the week commencing June 14.

While Jolson appears in his usual character of "Gus," in "Dancing Around," he also impersonates during the evening a Hindoo Prince, a Swiss guide, a Senegambian barber, Magnesia the maid and finally appears as Jolson himself in white-face.

The show has a big beauty chorus.

Orpheum.

The three big headliners at the Orpheum this week, Emma Carus, George Damerel and Lew Dockstader, are drawing crowded houses.

Emma Carus and Lew Dockstader will continue as headliners next week in conjunction with Mme. Mariska Aldrich, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Tom Lewis, musical comedy star. Tom Lewis created the part of "The Unknown" in George M. Cohan's "Little Johnny Jones."

There are several other pleasing numbers.

Empress.

Ned Nestor and his sweethearts are making a hit in their musical comedy tabloid at the Empress this week. So also is Mrs. Louis James in a corking playlet.

Next week the star act will be "The Auto Bandit," played by a company of thirteen. Others will be Madge P. Maitland, character singer, Joe Fenton and company, acrobats, and Chris Richards, eccentric comedian.

Pantages.

Maude Leone will appear and headline the Pantages show next week in "Inside Stuff," her newest play written by Willard Mack.

Others will be "The Garden of the Rajah," a musical comedy, presenting ten little "gardeners," all Salt Lake beauties.

Hippodrome.

Two high-class comedy acts top the new "Hip" bill next week. These are the famous Zeb Zerrow troupe of knockabout comedians in "The Isle of Joy," and the Gladstone family, in songs, dances, acrobatics and comedy.

Others will be Roehler's dogs, Tom and Stacia Moore in "The Dream Girl;" Mary McElree, the California songbird, Howatson and Swaybelle in "A Case of Pickles," and Lawrence Johnson, the droll novelty ventriloquist.

Regal.

James P. Lee, who was the popular comedian at the old Unique on Broadway, opened last Monday at the Regal for an indefinite engagement in musical comedy. He promises all the latest dance and song hits.

This week the company is appearing in "Funny Moon." Next week the attraction will be "College Boys."

Tally's Broadway.

Blanche Sweet, in "Stolen Goods," Margaret Turnbull's stirring war drama, is doing some of the best work of her career.

Marguerite Clark in "The Pretty Sister of Jose" is to be next week's attraction.

Superba.

Large audiences are showing their appreciation of the clever and versatile work of winsome Barbara Tennant in "The Butterfly" at the Superba this week, while Weber and Fields in their farce film, "The Delicatessen Shop," are winning the laughs.

Next week, opening Monday, Alice Brady and Holbrook Blinn will appear in the photodrama, "The Boss," and Kathryn Osterman will be shown in a comedy, "Housekeeping Under Cover."

Miller's.

William Farnum in Roy Norton's "The Plunderer" is drawing strongly at Miller's this week. Farnum never had a role that suited him better than does that of big "Bill Matthews," the hero of the thrilling tale of love and adventure.

The added attraction the balance of the week is the latest "Exploits of Elaine" film.

The Woodley.

Robert Edeson, the distinguished actor, is scoring big in his role of the famous lawyer in "Man's Prerogative," showing at the Woodley this week. Miss Mary Alden, who takes the prominent woman's part in the picture, is well cast and plays her part with dignity and force.

Next week the charming Miss Bessie Barriscale will be featured in "The Cup of Life," a picture in which many of the scenes are said to hold the "mirror up to nature" in very truth.

Clune's Auditorium.

The seat sale for the fifteenth week of "The Clansman" opened today at Clune's Auditorium. The demand to see the Griffith picture is still so great that Mr. W. H. Clune decided to hold it over for another week. The thousands of visitors from New York and Boston are able to see "The Clansman" here for 50 and 75 cents, while their friends back home must pay $2.

Clune's Broadway.

Lillian Gish, Robert Harron and Mae Marsh, in "The Battle of Elderbush Gulch," a two-act Biograph drama directed by D. W. Griffith, will be the feature for Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Clune's Broadway. Augusta Anderson in "The Candidate's Past" and George Ade's fable of "The Intermittent Fusser," with the news films, make up the best programme shown in a long while.

Majestic.

"The Eternal City," with the famous emotional actress Pauline Frederick in the role of Roma, is attracting such great crowds at the Majestic Theater that the management has found it necessary to give four performances a day for the balance of the week.

The wonderful setting of the picture, showing as a background for the action many famous scenes in England and Rome, and the exceptionally good support given the star by the large cast, has proved a magnet for many theater-goers who ordinarily do not enthuse over motion pictures. The vested choir, the symphony orchestra and the pipe organ played by Prof. Angeloty give an artistic musical atmosphere to the attraction. A special musical programme is given in the foyer of the theater before each performance.

In accordance with the new plans, performances will start at 1:30 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon and 6:30 and 9 o'clock at night.

Garrick.

Jane Miller, in "The Valley of the Missing," and Lottie Pickford, in the latest installment of "The Diamond from the Sky" serial, are drawing full houses at the Garrick Theater this week.

Grace Miller White, the author of Mary Pickford's success, "Tess of the Storm Country," wrote "The Valley of the Missing," and has given great opportunities to Jane Miller in the photoplay. The scenic beauty of the picture makes a picturesque setting for the rapid action of the play. "The Diamond from the Sky" is getting new followers with each installment.

Next week "The Clemenceau Case," featuring Theda Bara, will head the double bill at the Garrick.

Optic.

"The Devil," a sensational motion picture adaptation of Molnar's realistic drama of the eternal triangle, which created a furore on the American and European stage a few years ago, is to be shown at the Optic for the balance of the week, starting today. It is said to surpass the stage version in regard to realism and fidelity to detail, and was produced at the local studios of the New York Motion Picture Company under the personal direction of Thomas H. Ince. Next Monday another Mutual picture, "The Outlaw's Revenge," will commence a full week's run.

Republic.

That the minstrel has not lost its popularity is proven this week at the Republic, where Raymond Teal, the king of the old-timers, is headlining the bill. Florence Bell and company are also winning laurels in "The Crook," a highly dramatic playlet, and Flo and Ollie Walters, two pretty Los Angeles girls, have as neat a sister act as has been seen on the local vaudeville stage for some time.

Mission Play.

Frank Miller of the Glenwood Inn motored down from Riverside yesterday to San Gabrial and spent the afternoon at the Mission Play. Mr. Miller, who is an authority on early California history, is one of the most enthusiastic admirers of the great drama. This was his first visit of the season and he was agreeably surprised to find the play more spectacular than ever.

Alhambra.

The popularity of Kathlyn Williams, who is featured in "The Carpet from Bagdad," and of the dual Vitagraph stars, Anita Stewart and Earl Williams playing the leads in the second installment of "The Goddess," shown by the way "movie fans" are flocking to the Alhambra Theater this week to view the big double bill.

"The Carpet from Bagdad" is a sensational picture filled with oriental mysticism. It takes its characters from New York to the Orient and deals with the theft of a famous prayer rug from a mosque in Bagdad. A wonderful scenic effect is introduced by the staging of a sand storm on the Great Desert. The present installment, "The Goddess" introduces Anita Stewart and Earl Williams for the first time in the series.

Palace of Pictures.

A great deal of comment is being caused by "Houses of Glass," the latest of the "Who Pays?" series to be shown this week at the Palace of Pictures.

How sinister gossip, introduced into an innocent household, wrecks many lives, is the theme. The acting of Ruth Roland and Henry King is superb at all times.

Comedy and drama pictures complete the well-balanced bill.

Next week "Blue Blood and Red" will take up the question of "Who Pays?" It deals with a young woman who places aristocratic notions above true worth, and shows how she loses the "yellow streak" flowing in the veins of one whom she considered to have blue."

INJURIES NOT SERIOUS.

Six Persons Hurt in Santa Monica Auto Smash Reported in Good Condition.

The six persons who were injured when the automobile in which they were riding was wrecked on a dangerous curve at Pico boulevard and the beach road early yesterday morning, were reported as recovering late last night at St. Catherine's Hospital, Santa Monica.

The injured are:

Mrs. Pearl Pfefferkorn, Houston apartments, internally injured, left ankle broken.

H. G. Mitchell, Houston apartments, left leg broken, cut and bruised.

R. Wells, Houston apartments, left leg and left hip broken.

George Watts, Fourteenth and Maple streets, right shoulder broken, cut and bruises.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, June 3.—Even Al Jennings, former outlaw and train-robber, "held up" the First Baptist Church of Glendale last evening for a sum sufficient to make him a handsome "preacher's present." As Rev. John Henry Troy said, any man who could get $30,000 out of a train shouldn't have much difficulty in getting a good collection from a church audience." And he was right. The Bible will be presented to the evangelist on his departure as a memento of the city where he was "born again." Jennings preached his first sermon.

ECLARES FIVE MEN KIDNAPERS.

Held Under Bonds After Girl Tells Story.

Permanent Organization to Meet Traffic Need.

Secret Marriage of a Well-known Woman Bared.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, June 2.—Her big black eyes snapping with indignation, Miss Ivy Roselle, a strikingly handsome girl 21 years old, told a story yesterday morning to Justice McDonald which resulted in the arrest of five men who she declares kidnaped her Monday night.

According to the young woman, she was on her way home from the Hotel Maryland, where she is employed, when William Reid, a prominent real-estate dealer, with H. Leavitt, Edward Hunt, Walter Dunham and Jack Brown, chauffeurs, overtook her in a high-powered machine. One of them jumped out and, grabbing her by the arms, shoved her into the ton-neau and sped away with her.

She was taken to the golf course of the Annandale Country Club, where, she declares, all four insulted her,
beat her and beat her.

They finally brought her back to Pasadena, where they left her on a street corner far from home, and fled to Los Angeles. They were arrested by Officers Shultz, Shelton, Abbott and Jones and later were arraigned in Justice McDonald's court and are held under $1000 bail each.

They pleaded not guilty to the charge and declared the young woman willingly accompanied them on the ride, but refused to go with them to Los Angeles, because she was wearing her waitress uniform. When they insisted on making the trip, they declare she used such vile language that they thought her back in order to silence her. They deny having made improper advances to her.

TRAFFIC ORGANIZATION.

The belief that needs of the future for at least a quarter of a century to come must be considered in solving the transportation problem which confronts Pasadena, a permanent organization has been effected.
C. Coulston was elected president and Harvey Everett was made secretary.

The committee has taken for its motto "Adequate, rapid, safe and cheap transportation." Declaring that "visitors must give vent to their opinions and try to see the Crown City," will be twenty-five years hence, Lewis H. Turner, turned the tide of sentiment towards a plan to give Pasadena an adequate park in years to come.

It was not hard after that to see Pasadena spread all over the valleys and mountains to Alhambra and around the Arroyo Seco on the west to far beyond Lamanda Park on the east, and the habitate of 150,000 souls.

Two vice-chairmen of the organization were named. They are Howard Fish, Leo G. MacLaughlin and Frank G. Hogan. W. W. Ogier was named assistant secretary.

Four committees were named to study the various projects which have been named for solving the transit question. They are. Public utilities—Fred Elmer Wilcox (chairman,) Frank G. Hogan, George P.
Hamilton, J. C. Brainard and A. W.
Ross.

Steam railroads and Damon plan—
Henry Gohesan (chairman,) Arthur Fish, Torrey Everett, W. L. Leishman and George A. Damon.

Jitneys—Robbins and McPherson plans—E.
Cunningham (chairman,) B. O. Kenyon, F. M. Cole, J. W. Wood and Hon. W. S. Harbert.

Municipal auto road and transportation—Howard J. Fish (chairman,) Hon. J. Turner, Ira J. H. Sykes, P. H.
Ryan and Leo G. MacLaughlin.

Local jitneys—W. W. Ogier (chairman,) Luther Newby, A. J. Bertonhead, James Clark and Frank H. Heyburn.

The committees declare they will devote time in trying to solve the problem which has confronted Pasadena so long.

MARRIAGE NOT REVEALED.

It was not until after they had gone on their honeymoon that the marriage of Mrs. Margaret C. Holbrook of Pasadena and Edward C. Smith of Boise, Idaho, which was solemnized May 25, was announced. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Holbrook, No.
1070 South Madison avenue, in the presence of a few relatives, who were sworn to secrecy. Rev. John Gilbert officiated.

The bride, who was president of the Young Women's Christian Association, and well in the Crown City many years, she was noted for her charming and brilliant personality. For several years she served as president of the Young Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church.

The groom is a prominent business man of Lewiston and is closely allied with the civic and social affairs of the city. The wedding was kept secret, it is understood, because of the critical illness of a member of the bride's family.

CITY BRIEFS.

Sued by his daughter-in-law,
Agnes Poore, of having cruelly beaten her little son while she and her husband, who live in a tent at Lamanda Park, were away one evening a month ago, Frank M. Poore was arrested in Monrovia yesterday.
According to the woman, who is extremely nervous, her father-in-law declared he had whipped the child but said he was not well and persisted in crying and annoying him. The little fellow is Mrs.
Poore's child by a former marriage.
The charges were made a month ago,
but police could not find Mr.
Poore, who is said to be wealthy. He was arraigned in Judge McDonald's court.

In the past, President Scherer of Occidental College will deliver the baccalaureate address at the services to church, and Dr. John G. Blue and Dr.

Robert Dudley Warfield will also speak. Dr. Warfield will deliver the commencement address Monday.
The Occidental Glee Club will sing J. B.

TURKS DEFEAT GREEKS TWICE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MARIA, June 2.—The Turks whipped the Greeks in two pitched battles at Atascadero, according to word received here today.

For some time trouble had been brewing between the members of two road camps building roads in that section. Two Greeks had been overheard speaking disparagingly of the Turkish defense of the Dardanelles.

The Turk forces made a sudden assault upon the Greeks from a hill, showering the Greeks with rocks. The latter were hurled back in an attempt to ascend the hill, and a running fight followed, the Turks following up their first victory by charging the enemy, which was soon in complete rout.

Later, the Turks surprised the Greeks in a mess tent, and while a strong guard surrounded the tent others entered, and selecting the two Greeks whose conversation had started the war, beat them unmercifully. Arrests have been made. The officers are now seeking to disarm the contending factions. The two offending Greeks have disappeared.

Mrs. Scherer will entertain the faculty and the students of the college at their home Saturday evening.

An air of mystery surrounds the death notice of Lieut. Arthur Edward Muir, member of the Toronto Highlanders, a Canadian regiment of which 700 out of 900 men fell at the battle of Neufchatel. A notice of Lieut. Muir's death, which appeared in a Toronto paper May 25, stated his family live in this city. No trace of the family has been found, however, and J. S. Macdonnell of the local Canadian Society stated yesterday that the address must be wrong, as commissions are so difficult to secure in the Toronto Highlanders that if the young officer had lived here he would undoubtedly have been known by the society.

Walking all the way from St. Augustine, Fla., to San Francisco and thence to Pasadena, E. J. Semour and "Billy," his freak bull calf, arrived here yesterday. It took eighteen months to make the trip. When it was started "Billy" was four months old. The calf has six legs, two backbones, two shoulders and twice as many other organs as just plain calves. He and Mr. Semour will return to San Francisco today.

CONGRESSMEN SEE FORTIFICATIONS.

AVIATION CAMP AND RECENTLY-AUTHORIZED DEFENSES' SITE VISITED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, June 2.—A visit to the cruiser Colorado, where they were received by Admiral T. B. Howard, commanding the Pacific fleet, inspection of the army aviation camp at North Island and the coast defenses at Fort Rosecrans, with a brilliant dinner tonight given by the Chamber of Commerce, comprised the entertainment furnished the Congressional party today. While at Fort Rosecrans the Senators and Representatives were shown the site of the additional fortifications for which an appropriation was made by the last Congress.

Senators Lee S. Overman, North Carolina; John D. Works, California, and George L. Oliver, Pennsylvania, and Andreus A. Jones, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, arrived at noon.

They were met by President G. A. Davidson of the Panama-California Exposition, and were his guests at a luncheon. After this they were escorted to the exposition by a squadron of the First Cavalry. They inspected the grounds and reviewed a special parade of the Marine Corps Battalion. Most of the members in the Congressional party will be here tomorrow and Friday.

INJURY A MYSTERY.

Man Found with Head Beaten Horribly—Kicked in Face by a Gentle Horse?

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDORA, June 2.—A. B. Rogers was seriously, if not fatally, injured in an accident while at work in his nursery early today.

Lying unconscious, his face covered with blood and horribly disfigured, apparently from repeated kicks by a horse, the victim was discovered by Ray Yoast, a passing groceryman, and hurried to his home, a short distance away.

Doctors who were called gave out the statement, after an examination, that there were two fractures of the jaw bone and probably a fracture of the skull, and that recovery was doubtful.

Up to a late hour he remained unconscious, so no one knows anything about the accident, further than that he was hauling brush from the nursery with one horse which had been in the possession of the family for several years, and had always been considered gentle and safe to use.

An ideal way to spend the weekend is to visit Arrowhead.—[Advertisement.

TEACHES MINUS PAY.

Carpinteria Principal's Salary Cut off by State Alien Law, but He Stays at Post.

SANTA BARBARA, June 2.—Unable to collect his salary for the past three months because of the alien teachers law of the State, Francis Pitgr-Robbins, principal of the Carpinteria grammar school, announced today he would remain without remuneration at his post in the institution he has helped to build up.

The principal failed to declare his intention to become a citizen of the United States because he would thereby sacrifice large property prospects in England.

Stringent Muzzle Order is Given Dog Owners.

New Commissioners Looking Over Their Jobs.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, June 2.—Donald Jones, 21 year sold, No. 251 Golden avenue, son of William Jones, who was bitten by a pet puppy six weeks ago, is suffering from rabies. It is not believed he will recover although he was given the Pasteur treatment a few days after the dog buried its teeth in his left hand.

The father was also bitten by the puppy and his condition is carefully watched.

The son is paralyzed from the waist down, and frothe at the mouth, a condition said to presage death in a short time. There were five persons bitten by the same dog, but three have permanently recovered, owing to the early discovery by the city health officer of the negroid bodies in the blood of the dog, and the giving of the Pasteur treatment.

A dog suspected of being afflicted with rabies was shot by Patrolman Rife yesterday in a yard on East Third street. The police have issued another warning to dog owners to keep their dogs muzzled or confine them.
All dogs found on the streets without muzzles will be shot.

BAIL BOND SUIT.

Charles E. Espey, who was one of the men arrested on social vagrancy charges by special detectives last fall, today brought suit through Attorney R. G. Swafield for the amount of his bail bond, $500. Espey placed the bond money in the hands of Police Judge Hart after he was arrested, but did not appear for trial, whereupon Judge Hart declared the bond forfeited to the city. But after Herbert N. Lowe fought a similar charge successfully, Mr. Espey decided to stand trial, and was acquitted. Now he wants his money back. He has made a demand upon the city for the bail, but it was refused. The complaint charges no warrant was issued for the defendant's arrest until three months after he was taken to jail by the special officer.

ON NEW JOB.

The five commissioners elected yesterday to serve for two years after July 5 will hold a conference tomorrow to familiarize themselves with the workings of the new charter as regards appointments and the general transaction of business. The new City Attorney, George L. Hoodenpyl, states there is considerable doubt regarding the interpretation of certain sections of the charter, but the conference may settle this difficulty. The new commissioners will take office without funds in the treasury with which to pay increased salaries and carry out their platforms until next fall, when the new tax money begins to come in.

SCHOOL MIX-UP.

County Superintendent of Schools
Keppel notified the new Board of Education today that the appointment of teachers for the city schools by the last board was illegal, and that the newly-elected board must do the work over again. Mr. Keppel says the law specifies that teachers must be chosen not sooner than June 10 of each year.
Dr. E. W. Hoag, in charge of the health of the pupils in the schools, presented his resignation. The matter was continued.

DR. BAER TO SPEAK AT OXNARD GRADUATION EXERCISES; NEWS IN BRIEF.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OXNARD, June 2.—A class of fourteen, four boys and ten girls, will be graduated from the Oxnard Union High School this year. The members of the class are: Alta Arnold, Mabel Blackstock, Dorothy Conklin, Leona Cohn, Alice Day, Detlef Joahnck, Goldie Kujawsky, Andy Lillie, Lola Powers, Bennie
Schmitz, Winnifred Stiles, Paul White.

The class play, "Engaged by Wednesday," will be given in the operahouse tonight, all the members of the class taking part.

An exhibition of woodworking, needlework and cooking was given at the High School yesterday. The class in carpentry also erected a shop building.

Dr. John Willis Baer, president of Occidental College, will deliver the commencement address.

Hand work of the grammar school students was on exhibition this week, and included a large assortment of needlework and practical small articles made in the wood-working shop.

Among the Oxnard teachers who will not return to work next year is Miss Helen Andrews, domestic science and drawing teacher of the High School, who will soon after the close of school marry Russell Carroll, a young business man here.

END WILL CONTEST.

The sum of $21,000 is divided between Mrs. Augusta Volkert Otte and Mrs. Sophia Volkert Luther, by the settlement effected in the contest of the will of the father, the late Stephen Volkert of Oxnard. The remainder of the large estate goes to the widow, Mrs. Louisa Volkert of Oxnard, and the third daughter, Mrs.
Rosa B. Gottfredson of Los Angeles.
Mrs. Otte and Mrs. Luther were cut off in the will with $500 each, and the contest has aroused great interest throughout this section, where the family has lived since pioneer days.

BRIEF ITEMS.

A loss of about $2500 resulted from the burning of a large barn of the American Beet Sugar Company, located at the factory grounds here.
About 100 tons of oat, barley and alfalfa hay was destroyed, with the building. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Recently planted beans are coming up well as the result of recent hot weather, as much as an inch growth having been noticed one hot day.

BURY QUEEN OF GYPSIES.

Reputed Worth Million, She Died in Asylum—Weird Funeral Rites.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, June 2.
—Having passed away in obscurity in the Southern California State Hospital for the Insane at Patton, Marie Adams, 93 years old, wealthy queen of one of the largest Gypsy tribes in this country, was buried in Denver today with the weird ceremonies of that people, participated in by thousands of Gypsies from all over the West, according to a dispatch from Denver tonight.

Queen Marie died here May 27 and her remains were shipped to the Colorado capital with no inkling of her true identity.

Before her removal to the hospital some time ago she delegated her power to her eldest son, Alex Adams. She was reputed to be worth more than $1,000,000 and had $80,000 deposited in Colorado banks.

GETS LIGHT FINE.

Convicted of Threatening Ranchman With Revolver, Lankershim Youth Pays Fifteen-dollar Penalty.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LANKERSHIM, June 21.—Earl Fenton of this place was convicted today by a jury in Justice Savage's court of drawing a revolver on Thomas Carr, a ranchman living near Laurel Canyon. The jury recommended leniency, and Justice Savage fined Fenton $15. Deputy District-Attorney W. B.
Heinecke prosecuted the case for the State and G. A. Salisbury was counsel for Fenton.

The trouble arose over some stray horses from the H. Carpenter ranch, which adjoins the Carr place. Fenton, in rounding up the horses, crossed onto the Carr property and was reprimanded by Carr. Both had some words, and Fenton declared Carr picked up a rock and approached him in a threatening manner, then Fenton drew a revolver from his pocket and cautioned Carr to keep away. Both retreated, Carr to the Courthouse, where he swore out a warrant, and Fenton to his employer, H. Carpenter, who later secured his horses.

COMPLETE FLOOD CONTROL PLANS.

TWO CITIES CO-OPERATE WITH SEVERAL CORPORATIONS.

Negotiations Over After Two Months—Search for Speeders Begun—New County Hospital Site Selected—New Police Chief Closes up Two "Social Clubs."

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, June 2.—Details of the plan by which two cities and several corporations will seek to prevent damage from the flood waters of Lytle Creek during the winter were made known today by Supervisor Riley, who has been directing the negotiations for the past two months.

The water will be turned down the middle channel, and only a portion of the water will be allowed to flow down the west channel, a spillway to be constructed on Fourth street, west of the city, for the purpose. The Santa Fe Railroad will construct a blanket wall around the Gate City precooling plant and along its tracks.

The East Fork will be cleaned out and the channel deepened and piling driven along the east bank to protect the city of San Bernardino south of Highland avenue, the portion menaced by the floods. Water will thus be diverted also from the eastern section of Colton.

The cost of the work will be about $20,000, it is estimated. Engineers representing San Bernardino, Colton, the Santa Fe, Pacific Electric and Salt Lake railroads will confer this week relative to the scheme.

AFTER SPEEDERS.

County authorities today placed a speed cop on the highways to enforce a campaign against speed demons.
The officer will serve both in the valley and in the mountains. He will also have authority to make arrests in the city, according to the new law.
The speed limit on county highways is thirty miles an hour, ten miles in the mountains, and twenty and twelve miles an hour within the city limits.

Out of fifty propositions the Board of Supervisors today chose the C. J.
Anderson ranch of 92½ acres as a site for the new County Hospital, at $645 an acre, or $60,200 for the tract.
The selection of a site has been before the board for some time, the first location approved being turned down because of opposition in various parts of the county. The board has more than $90,000 to construct the hospital.

"CLUBS" CLOSED.

Chief of Police Shay, who took office yesterday, today closed up two negro clubs of an alleged "social" character, whom he charged with violating the city ordinances in the sale of liquor and permitting gambling at card tables in the houses.
The proprietor of one house, the Union Club, was stabbed in a cutting affray recently.

Two men using the same name passed thirty checks, good for about $250, and escaped from the city before it was discovered the paper was worthless. The men, of widely different descriptions, used a fictitious account in a local bank, supposed to have been transferred from Riverside, to secure their money under the name of Jack Gobel.

R. W. McNabb has accepted the presidency of the San Bernardino Associated Charities, vice T. W. Duckworth resigned, and Rev. H. B. Mowbray has been elected secretary to succeed Thomas Helm.

MEDICOS MEET.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, June 2.—The closing meeting for the season of the San Bernardino County Medical Society was held here Monday night. There were about fifty medicos of Riverside and San Bernardino counties present.
Dr. Walter V. Brem of Los Angeles
read a paper on "Vaccines and Serum Therapy." There was a general discussion of the paper.

PERFECT HITS BY SEA WASP.

K-8 Establishes New Mark in Battle Practice.

Wrests Premier Honors from Boat of H Group.

May Capture Big Prize from All Our Submarines.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, June 2.
—In the spring battle practice off this harbor yesterday the submarine K-8 made one of the most remarkable records in the history of under-water craft, and it is very probable the boat will be awarded the trophy for the best score made by any of the boats of the Atlantic Coast, Pacific Coast or Asiatic divisions.

With the tender Cheyenne running at unknown speed over an unknown course, the K-8 made two perfect shots. One of these was fired while submerged and the other while running awash. Either would have destroyed the Cheyenne had the torpedo been loaded.

The shots were fired at a range of 4000 yards. Only two shots were fired by each boat. The other three K boats made quarter hits, none of which would have been disastrous during actual warfare.

KEEN RIVALRY.

The records of all the submarines are submitted to the Navy Department, where the trophy is awarded.
The H-1 now holds the record. Besides the trophy to the craft, each of the crew of twenty-five men is given $20.
There has been keen rivalry between the men of the K boats and those of the H class, all of which have been here several weeks preparing for the record battle practice. The H group held its battle practice last week and failed to come up to the expectations of the men on board. The H-1 won the trophy last year.

It will be several months before the records of boats in Asiatic waters and those on the Atlantic are made public, but the men on the K-8 feel confident, for although the score made yesterday can be equaled, it cannot be beaten.

DESTROYERS NEXT.

Nine torpedo-boat destroyers are also here preparing for battle practice. They will remain until Friday, when most of the flotilla will go to San Diego for coal. Returning here they will remain until July 8, proceeding to San Francisco.

The K submarines will go to Mare Island July 8 for extensive repairs.
From there they will go to Honolulu for an indefinite stay. They will be towed to the islands by cruisers, accompanied by their new tender, the Rainbow. The Iris, which has been used as the tender for the K group, will return to Southern California waters.

The Cheyenne and H class submarines will be here for several weeks, although a short visit will be paid to San Diego in the meantime, before they leave later in the summer for their annual overhauling at the Bremerton navy yard, their home port. The men on the little boats do not look forward with pleasure to the long trip up the coast, as the submarines are not adapted to long trips under their own power, and the voyage is anything but pleasant.

PUENTE, June 2.—Details of the work undertaken for the equalizing of city and county assessments were told by County Assessor Hopkins at the banquet of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley, at Masonic Hall, last night. Other speakers at this banquet were Supervisors Norton and Hamilton, W. H. Wagner of the Los Angeles Realty Board, Dr. Pomeroy of the county health board, Hugh Thacher of Spadra, James Walker of the Inland Waterways Commission, and Superintendent of Parks Paige of Pomona. There were 137 present. The meeting was presided over by Mayor Evans of Monrovia, and twelve cities and towns were represented. The next monthly banquet will be held at San Dimas July 6.

Prisoner Testifies Slayer Isn't Necessarily Irrational Because He Evidently Dislikes Jail Fare.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, June 2.—The question of the sanity of Ed B. Williams, the Banning ranchman who shot and killed Miss May Warren, his neighbor, last November, was before the Superior Court today. A feature of the proceedings was the appearance of F.
M. Meek, the Beaumont ranchman who is charged with the false imprisonment in his home of Mrs. Rosie Whitlock, and who is yet to be tried.

Meek's testimony was to the effect that Williams is not rational. Meek denied, in answer to a question of the State's attorney, that Williams's evident dislike for the tall beans is any indication of insanity, and himself disparaged beans as an article of steady diet.

Today's proceedings made it apparent that an effort is being made by the State to prove Williams's vagaries are simulated.

BIG PRICE FOR A CORNER LOT.

$192,000, or $1500 a front foot.

The lot has a frontage of 128

uations for property on the was reported to the police. The lad had just confessed to "borrowing" a motorcycle, riding it until he broke it and then returning it to the owner.

Chief Larmore noticed the boy had on a new Panama and a pair of new shoes, and when the report of the bur-glarizing of the shoe store came in, he accused young Woodside, who confessed. The boy was out of the Detention Home on parole.

UNKNOWN KILLS HIMSELF.

VENICE, June 2.—Sitting on the bank of a canal near the High School today, an unknown man, about 35 years of age, shot himself in the head with a revolver, and died, tumbling into the shallow water. Two shots were fired. The man apparently deliberately improved his aim for the second shot, though wounded in the head by the first. The body was removed to the Kirkside morgue and has not been identified.

CONSERVATISM SHAPES STATE "DRY" PROGRAMME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, June 2.—By a vote of about 2 to 1, the conservative Prohibitionists won their fight in the State conference tonight and accordingly the dry forces of California will favor two constitutional amendments at the next election. One will provide for the closing of all saloons after January 1, 1920; the other for the abolition of all liquor business, including wine-making, after January 1, 1920.

The radicals favored total prohibition for January, 1918, but made the victorious programme unanimous.

The California Campaign Federation was selected as the organization name. It will have an executive committee of thirty, with headquarters at San Francisco and Los Angeles.
Dr. H. H. Bell of San Francisco and Dr. M. S. Hughes of Pasadena head the two divisions of the Executive Committee.

A. J. Wallace, former Lieutenant-Governor of California, was elected chairman following a spirited fight for control of the meeting. Resolutions suggesting congratulations to Russia and England for their prohibition laws were ruled out of order on the ground of being a violation of neutrality.

REALTY MAN, IN MONEY DIFFICULTY, ENDS LIFE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, June 2.—Frank B.
Shaw, prominent real estate operator of this city, ended his life at his home, No. 701 Elm avenue, late this afternoon, choosing gas as the medium for ending worries about business troubles.

His wife found him dead in his room at 5 p.m., a tube connected with an open gas jet in his mouth. Beside the body was a note addressed to his wife, telling of his struggle against pecuniary troubles.

He was connected with the subdivision of most of the big tracts in and around Long Beach, and at one time he was quite wealthy. The loss of his automobile through foreclosure a few days ago seemed to weigh heavily upon him.

He was 46 years of age, and was born in Iowa, going to Nevada while young to engage in the stock-raising business. About 1900 he moved to San Jose, farming until he arrived here in 1903 to go into the realty trade with George C. Flint. His last land transaction was the promotion of a large tract in Cotton Valley, San Diego county.

He leaves, besides the widow, a mother, Mrs. Louise Shaw, No. 698 Junipero street, Long Beach; three sisters, Mrs. T. A. Stephens, No. 1503
East Second street, Long Beach; Mrs.
S. R. Roundtree, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Meek of San Diego, and a brother, Al Shaw of Glasgow, Mont.

Two blocks east of Central Park, at the northeast corner of Fifth and Spring Streets, is the home of Title Insurance and Trust Company—a strong fiduciary institution which plays an important part in the business life of the Southland metropolis.

This company acts in all fiduciary capacities—as executor, administrator, trustee, guardian, receiver, agent or attorney-in-fact, escrow agent, transfer agent, trustee under mortgage, registrar of stock issues, trustee of life insurance policies and "living trusts."

Why Incorporate That New Business? Why Not Operate Under a "Trust Agreement?"

Operating any type of business under a "Trust Agreement," means safety, accuracy, convenience and economy.

The never-ending detail, liability, accounting charges, office rents, attorneys' fees, directors' meetings and other burdensome conditions that follow the incorporation of a business, land syndicate, or any other type of "community-investment"—are largely eliminated by operating under a "trust agreement" made with a large, responsible, experienced institution, such as Title Insurance and Trust Company.

Large and small businesses are being operated under this method with the highest degree of success and safety—and with utmost economy.

Consult our Trust Officers about the time and money-saving features of doing business under a "trust agreement."

Volume of Business Is Far in Excess of the Past Few Days. Bank of England Lets Go of Over $11,000,000 in Gold, Which Strengthens the Exchange Market.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Wall street's attention was quite evenly divided today between this country's relations with Germany and Mexico. The audience granted by President Wilson to the German Ambassador and the emphatic declaration to Mexico's warring leaders were almost the only development of an otherwise uneventful session. The entire list, including the international group, advanced smartly during the morning on a volume of business far in excess of the preceding day. War shares and other specialties, as well as coppers, participated in the rise, which lost much of its enthusiasm later. Trading slackened to a marked degree in the afternoon, and some gains were reduced to fractions at the dull close. Total sales of stocks amounted to 390,000 shares.

Cables stating that the Bank of England had released $1,375,000 of its gold, and had sold $10,000,000 of its foreign gold coin doubtless accounted for the steadiness of local exchange on London, but the record for francs was again lowered, remittances on Paris being quoted at 5.45, against the previous price of 5.43¾. Italian exchange was a trifle firmer, but the volume of bills on Rome was a further reflection of offerings by our bankers and manufacturers against purchases of war supplies.

The bond market was firm, an exception being St. Louis and Iron Mountain 4s, which fell 4 points. Total sales of bonds, par value, aggregated $1,668,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Market Improvement Continues. Western Union Oil Strong—Los Angeles Investment Down.

There was creditable activity on the Stock Exchange yesterday, although there was no such volume of trading as on the day before. Western Union Oil was strong, selling at 102.50, up 1½ points from Tuesday's price. Amalgamated Oil was unchanged at 62.25. Union Oil was weaker, being down to 56.62½. Sales in all three stocks were limited. United Oil recorded sales of 2000 shares at 22¼, and there were sales of Maricopa Northern at 3. Los Angeles Investment went down to 35, after a weak opening at 36, later recovering to 36½. Trading in Big Jim Gold was again the feature of the mining list, 15,000 shares of this newly listed stock changing hands at 10¾. There were also sales of Consolidated Mines at 1¼. Offboard sales of 25 Home Telephone preferred at 38.00 and of 1500 Los Angeles Investment at 36 were reported.

WHEAT MARKET CLOSES HEAVY.

UNCERTAINTY AS TO FOREIGN AFFAIRS IS A DRAWBACK.

All the Finish Prices) Were from One to Three and Three-eighths Lower—Corn Lost Nearly Two Cents Because of Large Argentine Offerings at Bargain Rates.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 2.—Uncertainty in regard to foreign relations acted today as a weight on the price of wheat. The market closed heavy at 2¾ to 3⅝ under last night. Other speculative articles, too, showed a net decline—corn, to 1¾@2⅛; oats, ⅜@⅝ to ⅝, and provisions 2½ to 5@7½. Cheap Argentine offerings at New York made dealers in corn forget that wet weather might delay replanting, and interfere with shipments from first hands. Oats went down grade with other cereals. Feeble support from packers, the provision market felt the influence of lower prices for hogs and grain.

CLOSING FIGURES.

Wheat, July, 1.17⅝; September, 1.14½. Corn, July, 74¼; September, 74⅝. Oats, July, 47¼; September, 43⅝. Pork, July, 18.00; September, 18.30. Lard, July, 10.45; September, 9.97. Ribs, July, 10.52; September, 10.82.

CASH GRAIN.

The Flaxseed Market.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MINNEAPOLIS, June 2.—Flaxseed shipments very light, and in good demand. No. 1 seed sold at 1⅛@1⅝ under July price on spot and to arrive. No. 1 seed closed at 1.76@1.78 on spot and to arrive. Receipts today, 1 car; last year, 2 cars; shipments today, none, last year, 1 car. Linseed oil: shipments totaled 549,823 pounds; oil cake and meal shipments, 1,077 pounds. Duluth receipts today, 1 car; last year, 19 cars. Winnipeg receipts today, 9 cars; last year, 35 cars.

Duluth crushers came into the market freely on the low spots, and values showed a sharp rebound. Liquidation had evidently spent itself. Duluth flax closed 1¾ up, September, 1¾ up, and October 1¾ up. A fresh break came at the close.

Lame Back.

Lame back is usually due to rheumatism of the muscles of the back. Hard-working people are most likely to suffer from it. Relief may be had by massaging the back with Chamberlain's Liniment two or three times a day. Try it. Obtainable everywhere.—[Advertisement.

DIVORCE ENDS SOCIETY EVENT.

WIFE OF EX-GOVERNOR'S SON SECURES DECREE.

Husband of Almost Four Years Does not Defend Action—Desertion and Failure to Provide Charges—Brilliant Nuptials but Routine Finale.

The marriage of Amy Maria Norton, daughter of Mrs. John Hubert Norton, to Francis W. Gage, son of ex-Gov. Henry T. Gage, June 17, 1911, was one of the most important events of the year. The groom was congratulated upon linking his hand and fortune with such a charming bride, and the brilliant nuptials set several hearts aflutter, kindling the flame which later burned steadily at the altar of love. There was no hint of that incompatibility which subsequently sent Mrs. Gage to London and shocked the couple's close friends with the hint of an estrangement.

Yesterday Mrs. Gage appeared in the divorce court to free herself of the ties that chafed. Mr. Gage did not contest the action. The brilliancy of the nuptials was in strong contrast to the prosaic routine of the divorce court. The story of the wrecked marriage was simply told. Mrs. Gage testified that love flew out the window suddenly. She said there had been differences between them, but never before until one night in July when Mr. Gage came to their apartments, and told her he was going away and would not return to her.

Mrs. Norton corroborated the story of desertion, and the decree was granted on that ground. Mr. Gage, the young wife said, had never provided for her while they lived together. She maintained herself on a small income of her own.

When Mrs. Gage went to Europe she was accompanied by Mrs. R. C. Gillis and the latter's daughters, Adelaide and Dorothy Gillis. She occupied for more than a year a beautiful villa at Maidenhead, close to London. Later she was joined by her mother. Upon her return from Europe she resided at the Norton home, No. 834 West Twenty-eighth street. Mr. Gage is well known about town. Of late he has taken a keen interest in automobile racing.

BLAMES JUSTICE.

The sympathy of a justice of the peace which caused him to pay the fee for a wedding ceremony when the groom showed empty pockets, was responsible for the bride marrying another man under the mistaken idea that her former marriage was invalid. The way it happened and as it is set out in the complaint of Mrs. Harry Straw for annulment is that when the justice asked for his fee and the groom could not produce the coin, the couple were told, "no fee, no wedding."

But as the young people left the office and the girl went one way and the man the other, the justice's business sense gave way to sentiment. He took $2 from his own pocket and paid the fee, making the ceremony valid by recording it.

The girl believed the man had money. He was a young man of pleasing appearance. In short, she says he told her he was a man of means and could support a wife in style. But after the incident of the empty pockets at the justice's office, the girl was indignant. She did not cross his path again and eventually selected a more suitable mate.

In a moment of inspiration she looked up the little affair at the justice's office last January. Horrors, she has two husbands. The near-marriage was real. Oh, if that justice had only kept his money in his own pocket! Husband No. 1 never discovered he had a wife until the papers in the annulment suit were served on him.

Tomorrow Judge Monroe will hear the story of Mrs. Marion T. Verge Straw and give her a chance to remarry or, annulling the marriage to No. 1, or advise her that No. 1 is her valid husband and to bring suit to annul the marriage to No. 2.

SUIT OVER STOCK.

When H. J. Lewis acquired stock in the Universal Tire Company, an Arizona corporation, he asserts that it was issued fully paid and non-assessable. At a meeting held May 17 last, an assessment of 10 cents a share was levied on the stock, the amount charged up to him being $24,903.20 on 249,032 shares.

The corporation now threatens to sell his stock if the assessment is not paid, and Mr. Lewis filed suit for an injunction yesterday, alleging that it is not a legal assessment.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

SUES FOR BAIL MONEY. C. E. Espey filed suit against the city of Long Beach yesterday to recover $500 representing bail money deposited when he failed to appear for a hearing in the vice crusade before the Police Court August 24, 1914, and forfeited. Mr. Espey alleges in his complaint that he was arrested charged with vagrancy. He asserts no warrant for his arrest was issued until December 1, when a jury in Judge Hart's court acquitted him December 8. His demand for the return of the bail was rejected by the Long Beach Council.

WALDRON ESTATE. Cutting off his three brothers with $1 each, D. V. Waldron bequeathed all of his estate to Mrs. Mattie E. Fanning, a widow, in his will filed for probate yesterday. Mr. Waldron bore Mrs. Fanning great love and affection and his will breathes the respect in which he held her. The brothers, M., S. B. and J. J. Waldron, reside in New York. The estate is valued at $1000. At one time Mr. Waldron was wealthy. He was the originator of Washington Gardens, which later became Chutes Park. He died in Alaska May 1, 1911. His will was executed February 28, 1898. The petition for its probate was filed by Mrs. Fanning.

SEPARATE MAINTENANCE. In a complaint filed yesterday by Mrs. Zenna Mabel Ferrell, asking for separate maintenance, she wants David A. Ferrell restrained from disposing of a community fund of $670 and an allowance of $50 a month. The couple were married at Covington, Ky., August 13, 1909. Mr. Ferrell is alleged to have treated her with cruelty and habitual intemperance.

GAS RATES ARE STILL HELD UP.

COUNCIL GRANTS A REHEARING ON PROTESTS.

Companies Seek to Induce City to Permit Continuance of Present Charges in View of Transfer of Jurisdiction to Railroad Commission Two Months Hence.

Settlement of gas rates was delayed again by the City Council yesterday and several members, led by Councilman Conwell, expressed themselves in favor of allowing the present rate of 68 cents to stand until such time as the Railroad Commission orders a new rate. In response to a question from Mr. Conwell, representatives of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company and the Economic Gas Company said that they would be willing to continue service at the rate of 68 cents for gas of present quality and the Southern California Gas Company tentatively accepted the proposal.

Representatives of the apartment-house owners protested against the provision, which they interpreted as imposing a charge of 50 cents a month for each apartment-house meter when the consumption is below 750 cubic feet. This, they said, would be the last straw for many landlords. They were told that the 50-cent minimum charge as proposed by the utilities board would apply only to the master meter, and that they would simply be required to pay 10 per cent. a year on the cost of the individual meters to the gas companies as rental on them.

The proposed rate of 62½ cents for gas of better quality as recommended by the utilities board, was based on the figures of the board, which show that during the last year the companies, operating under the present rate accepted by the court have made $100,000 more than the income to which they were legally entitled. With this in view, the rate was lowered by the board to a point that would absorb a part of this $100,000 which the utilities board does not recognize as properly earned surplus. If the present rates should stand they will, in the opinion of the utilities board, bring a revenue to the gas companies that will mean an earning in excess of 8 per cent. on the value of the plants. The outcome is made more uncertain because of the fact that the State Railroad Commission which assumes jurisdiction over rates in about sixty days has made a practice of allowing public utility companies to realize 8 per cent. on their investment while the Board of Public Utilities has based all of its rates on an income of 7 per cent. This 1 per cent. difference would permit the local gas companies to increase their revenues in Los Angeles approximately $77,000 a year.

The hearing on gas rates was continued until next Tuesday at 2 p.m.

PLANS ADOPTED.

BETTER TRAFFIC CONDITIONS.

Engineer Howell's report on the transportation problems of Los Angeles was formally adopted by the Public Utilities Board yesterday and the review of the local situation with general suggestions for remedies will go to the City Council for its information and such action as it may see fit. This report provides a general plan of improvements to eliminate grade crossings and relieve congestion in the business and industrial districts of the city. It will be supplemented by other reports to be prepared by Traffic Engineer Howell as fast as possible and the Utilities Board will seek the hearty co-operation of the Council in bringing about the changes.

PROTECTION ASKED.

WANTS A REAL TERMINAL.

Mrs. S. H. Mosher of No. 937 West Thirty-seventh drive told the Public Utilities Board yesterday that it was bad enough to have a freight car shunted across her lawn and into her home once a month, but it was worse to have a ton of bricks scattered that way. Trouble in the neighborhood is caused by the practice of the Pacific Electric Company in shunting cars off the end of a spur track used by paving contractors at Exposition Park. Several months ago after a flat car had narrowly missed the Mosher home, the Board of Utilities notified the Pacific Electric Company that a bumping post at the end of the spur might prevent action declaring the spur a public nuisance. Thereupon, a pile of bricks was dropped at the end of the track and the next time a car was run towards the Mosher home it went right through the brick pile and scattered it over the neighborhood. The question will come before the Utilities Board tomorrow and the present plan is to recommend to the City Council that the spur track be declared a nuisance and a menace to life and property.

WATER RATES FIXED.

COUNCIL CUTS HAWTHORNE.

Water rates charged by private companies in Los Angeles were fixed by the City Council yesterday by the adoption of an ordinance conforming to the recommendations of the Utilities Board. The Union Hollywood remained the same at $1.40 minimum for 800 cubic feet in view of the city's decision to buy the plant and charge the same rate until Hollywood provides for a bond issue to apply on the purchase of the plant. The only change in rates charged by private companies was made in the Hawthorne company's schedule which was reduced from $1.40 to $1.20, and the meter rate was cut 1 cent.

COLD FACTS BACK UP CONTENTION.

BELIEVER OR DISBELIEVER IN PROSPERITY, HERE IS THE REAL "DOPE."

Every now and then the Prosperity and Trade Contest department is criticised for being too optimistic—too fond of preaching the doctrine of "prosperity arrived," but how can we help it with the visible and tangible proofs of prosperity before us all the time.

In order for A1 flour sacks to be turned into the contest department, for credits, some one must first have purchased the sacks—not empty as they come to us—but full of flour. For the past ten days we have averaged an intake of over a thousand A1 flour sacks—of various sizes—each day. Practically the same thing is true of Ben Hur goods—and more than true of Sego Milk.

Returns come from all the co-operating business houses in about the same proportion—according to the size and nature of the firm's business, its location and so forth. Therefore, I repeat, how can we doubt that prosperity is here. All these credits cost money, cash money, and some one paid for them—paid for them within the last few weeks.

Not only are the immediate necessaries of life being purchased but great quantities for future consumption or use. For example—a great many people are ordering their winter's supply of coal and fuel now from the Pacific Wood and Coal Company, taking advantage of summer prices and helping some contestant at the same time to increase her chances of winning a valuable prize.

Both the Balloon Dye Works and The Tabbert Steam Dye Works are doing a deal of cleaning and dyeing for the trade contestants and their friends, these days, judging from the sales slips we are receiving from both of these companies.

The contest has reached a most interesting stage and will continue to become more and more interesting until the end. In this connection we wish to again extend a cordial invitation to the co-operating merchants to visit the contest department and view with their own eyes the returns from their establishments.

We do not claim to swamp any of the co-operating firms with customers, but we do claim and are in a position to prove it, that we have stimulated business in every line and have directed a great deal of new business to our co-operating firms.

Lou Groman, builder of nifty suits for men, reports a goodly number of new customers as a direct result of the contest and once having secured the new customer, there is not a doubt in the world that Mr. Groman will keep him and, in time, add his name to the list of old customers.

The returns from Santa Ana, recently, are very gratifying. Gerrard Bros. continue to supply contestants and their friends with groceries and meats, Mateer's Drug Store with pills, powders and pens, E. S. Gilbert with up-to-date clothing and millinery and D. C. Peterson supplies the shoes which the contestants wear out collecting credits.

At Sierra Madre, A. E. Griggs keeps the contestants and their families well fed with the best meat and groceries and Ramharter supplies the sweets and stationery.

Miller's Theater—junction Main and Spring streets at Ninth—is back with the contest again and as glad to be back as we are to have them. Mr. Miller is getting up a special programme containing a coupon, reading: "Good for 150 credits in The Times Prosperity and Trade Contest" which can be turned in to the contest office for credit, instead of the usual credit slips. There are a lot of good things in store for the patrons of Miller's for the next few weeks—and a 150 credits go with every programme. Until the special programmes are ready the theater will use the regular credit slips. Next week's attraction will be Betty Nansen in Tolstoi's, "A Woman's Resurrection."

Fate.

SUCCESS AND DEATH AS ONE.

RAILROAD MAN PASSES AS HE IS PROMOTED.

For Many Years Located in this State, His Request to be Buried Here Before Going East is Fulfilled—Rose Through Ranks from Telegraph Operator's Position.

Funeral services for Elbert N. Brown, prominent railroad man and former resident of this city, were conducted yesterday morning in the chapel of the Los Angeles undertaking rooms. Mr. Brown died at Columbus, O., four hours after he had received his appointment as superintendent of the Illinois division of the B. & O. Railroad.

Death claimed this prominent man at the zenith of a long and brilliant career. Starting as a telegraph operator, Mr. Brown worked his way upward through the services of many large railroads until, at the age of forty-six years, he was made superintendent of a division of the B. & O. And then, suddenly, and without warning, the grim shadow of death struck him down. He was ill but eight hours, acute indigestion being given as the cause. The bereaved widow and two children brought the body to this city from Columbus. It was the wish of the deceased to be buried amid the flowers and sunshine of Southern California, so long his home while in the employ of the Southern Pacific.

Mr. Brown was born in Davenport, Iowa, September 17, 1869. As a young man he entered the service of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, a telegraph operator.

While in the employ of this company he received an opportunity to come to California with the Southern Pacific. This he accepted, arriving on the Pacific Coast in 1889, settling in Los Angeles. His old home was located at No. 231 East Avenue Twenty-eight.

Though still a telegraph operator, the young man worked faithfully. Soon those in authority recognized his ability, and he was promoted. These promotions followed one another in rapid succession so that when in 1912 he left the Southern Pacific to go to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois he was assistant general superintendent. At one time during his service with the Southern Pacific, he was general superintendent of all lines in Mexico.

The latter part of 1913 Mr. Brown became supervisor of transportation for the B. & O. system. A few months later he was promoted to trainmaster.

On Feb. 10, 1914, Mr. Brown was made assistant superintendent of the Ohio division. Here he served faithfully, so that on May 25 last, he received his appointment as superintendent of the Illinois division. He was to have taken over active charge of this office last Tuesday.

The widow, one son, Grove, and a daughter, Ada, are stopping with friends very near their old home in East Avanue 28. They will probably continue to make their home here.

Elbert N. Brown,

Former resident of Los Angeles and prominent railroad man, who died in Columbus, O., four hours after he had been appointed superintendent of the B. & O.'s Illinois division. Funeral services were conducted in this city yesterday.

Remarkable.

THIN MEMBRANE TURNS BULLET, SAVES A LIFE.

THE peritoneum, one of the thinnest membranes in the body, turned a bullet fired with sufficient force to perforate a six-inch plank yesterday. The amazing fortune of it saved the life of David Gold, a 19-year-old boy, who confessed to having burglarized several Boyle Heights stores in recent weeks.

While Gold was fleeing from a store early yesterday morning Sergt. G. Plummer of the Boyle Heights Police Station ordered him to halt, and the command but lent speed to Gold's legs. The sergeant fired at close quarters.

The bullet, that under all ordinary conditions would have passed entirely through the body of the boy, inflicting fatal injuries, struck him in the back. As silk has been known to turn bullets, so did the peritoneum, which encloses the abdominal organs, turn the crashing force of the bullet so it slipped entirely around the boy's body and came out in front.

When Assistant Surgeon Hiller of the Receiving Hospital examined the boy, convinced by the nature of the wound that his intestines had been torn and punctured by the bullet, he discovered the remarkable action of the membrane.

Because of the trouble in which he was involved, Gold appreciated his astounding luck less than expected, but a complete surgical description of the case is to be recorded for publication in medical journals.

Gold lives with his mother at 400 North Chicago street. Each evening he would retire, kiss his mother good-night and wait until she was asleep. Then he would start on his depredations, ending early in the morning. The great difficulty of the arrangement was that he had to make plausible explanations for being so sleepy during the day, but his mother kindly attributed that to his growth, saying "growing boys need lots of sleep," so she would let him nap every afternoon. He will be prosecuted on a charge of grand larceny.

SIX THIEVES; ONE TRIP.

Two Chileans with Brass and Four Mexicans with Sacks are Caught. Possible "Fence," Too.

Two sailors from Chile, discharged at the harbor and unable to talk English, learned enough in four days to steal several hundred pounds of brass. They were marketing it in the yard of Byron Heney, Second and Alameda streets, early yesterday when the police were called to investigate their commerce.

The two men were placed under arrest, and as the police were starting toward Central Police Station with them, up drove four Mexicans in a wagon freighted with sacks.

"Where did you get those sacks?" asked the police.

The Mexicans were unprepared for any explanations. Caution would not permit the truth, and imagination would not provide an answer.

"Found them," they said.

But to find several thousand sacks and rush them off to market in the early hours of the day before the streets are filled and curiosity is aglow was an incident deserving fuller light.

So the six men were taken to the station. The Chilean sailors are Jose Martinez and Manuel Azeta. The four Mexicans are Elbert Marino, Manuel Perez, Ignacio Randrez and Juan Baredo.

Byron Heney, who because of the transaction stands under suspicion of being a "fence," will be investigated by the police and his license to transact second-hand business questioned.

KILFOIL TO SAN QUENTIN.

Phillip Kilfoil was taken to San Quentin Tuesday night to begin his sentence of twenty years for a crime committed against Lillian Palmer, a 14-year-old girl. Deputy Sheriff Manning escorted Kilfoil to his new place of residence.

XXIVTH YEAR. THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 3, 1915.—4 PAGES. PART III.

CROSS TEARS AD. WOLGAST'S FACE TO RIBBONS.

Rather Sad.

POOR SUPPORT BEATS FROMME.

Maier's New Heaver Pitches Nifty Ball.

Williams Unfurls a Classic for the Bees.

Costly Bobble Paves the Way for Three Runs.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Arthur Fromme, late of Gotham and suburbs, made his debut yesterday. The results were not that they might have been; in fact, they were right unsatisfactory, but this circumstance cannot be charged to the large, hump-shoulder gent who did the pitching.

Fromme's work was good enough to satisfy the most exacting, but his support in spots was like unto a slab of Swiss cheese, meaning full of holes, and therein is to be found the secret of our great sorrow.

ALL AT ONCE.

The Bees won, 3 to 1, and did it all in the third inning. They simply grabbed the game when the grabbing was at its best. Had they grabbed at any other time, their grabbing would have been in vain.

Our justly celebrated keystone combination was not combinating with its customary eclat. Berger exuded a couple of low heaves to first, while Purtell, who has been shocking the entire circuit by his sensational work, shocked it some more by muffing a couple of fly balls. Billy couldn't have done anything more sensational than this if he tried, for he is not a man who figures to drop many fly balls in a game.

VERY SAD.

Berger's errors cut no ice. Neither did Purtell's second one, but the first one did. He permitted a pop-up from Gedeon's well-known bat to ooze through his food hooks in the third with two on bases and two out. One of the gazabos on base scored on the muff, whereupon, his side being given a new lease on life, Buddy Ryan sawed off a double, scoring two more gazabos. Just after that still a third gazabo was nailed at the plate.

A critical analysis of the situation at the time shows that had Purtell squeezed the pill none of these runs would have happened for said squeezing would have retired the side. Thus was Fromme treated on his first public appearance in Los Angeles. As Purtell feels worse about that muff than anybody else in the place, barring possibly Fromme, we will not dwell longer on the terrible accident.

EXIT FROMME.

At no other time were the Bees able to get as far past the new pitcher as third base. Fromme yielded his job in the eighth to let Tub Spencer swing the paddle for him, and Elmer Rieger, another new pitcher, worked the last inning. Rieger pitched to five men, and all but one of them found him invincible. This was a guy who walked.

Opposed to the two new pitchers was C. Williams, a hard-working young bloke who pitches entirely with his left hand. He seems to be saving his right hand for something else. Conservation of the right hand is not a bad idea at that. It is with the right hand that a person handles a case knife, and it should be saved up for eating occasions, such as breakfast, dinner and supper. Only by having a strong, steady grip on the case knife can one hope to cope successfully with mashed potatoes and gravy. If the knife is held in a weak and trembling right hand there is great danger of the mashed potatoes and gravy sliding overboard while en route from the plate to the face.

EXCEEDING GOOD.

Williams pitched an eloquent game and yielded but four hits, all but two of which were scattered. Those which were not scattered came in the seventh inning. They produced one run and some excitement. We never could understand how a guy could control the pill with his left hand, but Williams did it all right. He issued only two walks and socked but one batter, which is enobling and uplifting in the extreme.

Doc was back on the job. It requires a powerful combination of brain and muscle to sit at the steering wheel of a high-powered ball team

KAHLER SURE TO JOIN DUCKS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND, June 2.—Portland has finally landed George Kahler. This assures the club of another right-handed pitcher, one who could win a good many games for Portland. Kahler, it seems, was more than willing to come to Portland, as he has wanted to play on the coast for several years, but naturally he wanted someone to pay him the full amount of the contract and it was this point over which the local owners were considering.

Hillyard, Bates, Stumpf and Lush, all of whom played with Kahler last year, believe that he will be a sure winner on the coast and are glad that the deal has finally been concluded whereby he will come to Portland.

ALEXANDER IS AFTER RECORD.

Grover Alexander is the undisputed strikeout king of the National League for the season with eleven in one game and twelve in another.

His record of twelve was made against the Cardinals on May 15 and he had such a lead that he took it easy after the fifth inning. Philadelphia critics say that if he had worked his curve ball more he might have made a new fanning mark for the major leagues.

Of the thirty-five batters who faced him he had two strikes on all but eight, and but two hit the ball before a strike had been called. Alexander is said to be striving for but one record this year—that of winning forty games—and he is taking it as easy as he can when he has a game well in hand.

CREWS PRACTICE FOR LAST REGATTA.

STANFORD TO BE REPRESENTED AT POUGHKEEPSIE MEET JUNE 28.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 2.—Coach Jim Rice and thirty members of the Columbia University Rowing Club arrived late today. The daily practice for the intercollegiate regatta on June 28 will start tomorrow. The other crews entered, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Leland Stanford, Junior, will arrive within a week or ten days.

Poor Ole Ad,

Former champion Ad Wolgast, who took a lacing at the hands of his ancient enemy, Mr. Leach Cross, last night.

Game.

AD REFUSES TO BACK UP.

Battered and Bleeding, He Keeps Coming.

Wily Dentist Puts it All Over Him.

Ad's Right Hand is Still on the Blink.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 3.—There was never an idle moment during the bout between Leach Cross and Ad Wolgast at the St. Nicholas Athletic Club tonight, and, although Leach battered Wolgast's jaw and face until it seemed that human endurance could stand no more, the little Michigan boxer never wavered for a moment, and put up one of the gamest exhibitions that has been seen in a ring in some time.

Wolgast, who was formerly lightweight champion of the world, and who calls Cadillac, Mich., his home town, has had a career jammed full of misfortune, and his most frequent ailment has been a broken right arm. He plainly showed tonight that he was taking no chances with that precious right whip, and most of his boxing was done with the left.

NEVER IN IT.

Wolgast was outclassed, outpunched and outwitted by the dentist, but never did he back away from the Cross assault, and he was always ready to wade right in and take more. If gameness had decided the bout Wolgast would have won by a mile.

It has been seven long months since Adolph has taken part in a fistic encounter, and, although he has retained that aggressive, boring style of boxing that made his famous, he has not improved in cleverness. He just couldn't stop that left jab of the dentist's, and Leach staggered him several times when he followed the jab with a terrific right swing to the jaw or face. Cross was far too clever for the ex-champion, and, while he kept dancing away from Wolgast's left hand, he drove home jab and swing that rocked Wolgast's head like a ship in a tempest.

LEACH LEADS.

In the first round Cross came out of his shell and hooked two lefts to the ear and put Ad back to the ropes with a left, which, if it had landed cleanly, would have floored the Dutchman.

Wolgast hooked a score of rights and lefts to the face and neck in the second. Leach looked worried and fell into close quarters, but Ad kept working his left to the head with good effect. Leach got in two lefts to the ear and uppercut two rights to the mouth.

Ad put in a half dozen lefts to Cross's face and then a right to the body and a hook to the head in the third. He seemed to delight in taking all Leach had to offer.

WON'T STOP.

In the fourth Leach caught Wolgast coming in with two hard rights to the mouth, but Ad just shook his head and pounded Cross around the ring with lefts and rights. The dentist showed wonderful stamina, and, after taking a walloping, hooked a left to the jaw that half turned Wolgast around.

The fifth was even, while Wolgast had a shade in the sixth.

Cross wanted to box at long range in the seventh, but Wolgast said nix, boring in with that left hand swinging. He got in three lefts to the face and a right against the body, while Leach kept slamming away with his left.

A SWITCH.

Wolgast switched his tactics in the eighth and tried for the body. Cross found an opening on Ad's chin for his right. Wolgast was strong and sent over a stiff left to the face, but Leach caught him with a terrific right on the jaw and nearly dropped the game Dutchman.

Leach got over another left to the jaw and a right to the mouth before Ad got his bearings in the ninth. The Dutchman was game, but wild, and the dentist battered him around the ring with hard smashes to the face and body. Wolgast started to mix it in the final round, and Cross dazed him with blow after blow to the face and hooked a right to his head and a short left to the body. They were mixing it in the center of the ring when the bell rang.

ILLINOIS SENATE PASSES BILL LEGALIZING BOXING.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) June 2.—After practically all hope for the passage of a boxing bill at this session of the Legislature had been given up, the State Senate today passed the Carroll boxing bill by a vote of 28 to 15.

As it was passed the bill contained a clause which would make its provisions inactive in any municipality until it has been adopted at a referendum vote.

The Carroll bill now goes to the House, which recently killed a similar measure which did not contain the referendum clause. When the bill was defeated in the House several members contended it would force legalized boxing bouts on every community in the State. With the addition of the referendum feature, friends of the bill hope it will now be passed by the House.

The bill legalizes ten-round, no decision boxing bouts under the supervision of a State Athletic Commission, composed of three members to be appointed by the Governor. It provides that 7½ per cent. of the net receipts of all exhibitions be paid to the State.

Startling.

MEXICAN BULL FIGHT TO BE HELD AT STADIUM.

LOS ANGELES is to be startled by a real, sure-enough bull fight. Such a thing has not been on the sport bill of fare for several decades, but it is coming back with a decided bang. These bullfight affairs were extremely in style about fifty years ago and our little burg was very much excited over them.

This contest is in the hands of the Nineteen Fifteen General Committee and is to be pulled off at the Stadium. Elaborate plans are being prepared and at least half the town is expected to turn out for the slaughter, or rather, struggle.

IMPORTED.

A troupe of first-class Mexican Bull Slingers have been imported, direct from their native land. These daring gents will tease the carefully-selected bulls, kid them along for a while, wave the well-known whips and flags at them, and then not kill them. This is the important point. There will be no tragic ending to the days' sport, and every one can go home feeling that they have seen a perfectly humane amusement.

ACCORDING TO HOYLE.

Except for the ending the fight will be according to the old familiar rules. All the exciting elements are to be retained and none of the picturesqueness will be omitted. The bulls will be the largest and fiercest in the south, and when one or more of them get loose in the Stadium grounds there should be about twenty-five kinds of joy.

It is rumored that the fight will be used by a prominent film company as one of the incidents in a feature picture. The rest of the scenes will be run off at the Stadium, and this, in itself, should be of unusual interest.

The Spanish pastime is to take place early in June.

BOXING BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) June 2.—The boxing bill legalizing the holding of prize fights in Illinois under the direction of a boxing commission passed the State Senate today by a vote of 28 to 15. It contains an amendment that municipalities can have legalized boxing by a majority vote.

BOOKMAKERS GET HEARING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—A score of defendants, including two women, face a charge of conspiracy against the United States government as alleged handbook makers. They were arrested in a general raid of ten or more places here late yesterday by special agents of the Department of Justice and the local police.

BATHERS MAY SHUN VENICE.

A boycott has been declared on Venice by members of the bathing clan. Officers of the law invaded the strand last Sunday and drove several wearers of snappy bathing suits off the beach and rather than don the extensive coverings insisted upon by the board of censorship at Venice, the bathing boys have cast their votes in favor of Ocean Park, where the abbreviated water togs are not discriminated against.

In the past, Venice of America has been recognized as the bather's paradise. Suits cut low under the arms did not attract the attention of the officers of the law. Bathers were allowed to go to and from the stores on the beach and with bathrobes or overcoats the Beau Brummels of the briny could go anywhere unmolested.

SILENT BILL TASTES DEFEAT.

Seals Take Heavy-hitting Game.

Fitzgerald has Busy Day in Field, at Bat.

Maggert Lines Out a Home Run.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—"Bugs" Reisigl for the Seals made his first appearance on the home grounds in a 5-to-3 victory this afternoon. The contest was a corking good one to watch, even if it did prove a leisurely session, one of the kind that rambled along all the afternoon.

Catcher Block was evidently not well up on the signals and furthermore Reisigl isn't the sort of a chap who permits himself to be hurried. At that, his work was far better as the game proceeded, and toward the close the visitors had little or no chance to send men around the bases.

BUSY FITZ.

Fitzgerald not alone starred in the field, but at the bat as well, for he laced out four hits, one a double, in five trips to the plate. Ping Bodie was another gold mine in swatting the horsehide, sending out his first for two bags and still another for a home run.

Maggert landed the Los Angeles home run, but the other scores from Southville were more or less fluky, despite the records show them to have been earned.

Burns took a consistent pounding for a little more than three innings, in the course of which the Seals jammed him for seven hits. Then he turned the reins over to Perritt, who proceeded to lose the game.

MAGGERT BUSY.

Scoring opened against San Francisco. Harl Maggert led off with a smash to the right-field fence and cantered along to second on Metzger's sacrifice. Wolter poled the ball to left field and Maggert halted at third. McMullen's grounder to Reisigl turned the trick. "Bugs" fumbled over so slightly and then had to throw his man out at first. A perfect bit of handling and Maggert would have been nailed.

The Seals came right back to gain the lead. Fitzgerald beat out an infield hit to the pitcher, and Schaller, under orders, sacrificed. Bodie doubled into left and drove Fitzgerald home. Then Hellman grounded to Beatty; Downs walked, and the pair worked the double steal for Ping to register. Corhan's grounder to third retired the side.

OVER THE FENCE.

Maggert put the ball high over the right, center-field fence at the outset of the third for a tied score. It was in the same inning that saw the spectacular catch by Fitzgerald. Wolter had walked, and McMullen hit a screamer into right. Fitz didn't look to have a chance, but he made a one-handed running catch that was a wonder. Hellman ran to second, took the throw and tossed to Jerry Downs to complete a double.

Los Angeles forged ahead momentarily in the fourth, for Ellis drew a right-field single, was sacrificed along, reached third on a wild pitch for "Bugs" and came home when Terry grounded to Corhan. Roy fumbling just long enough so that he couldn't throw the runner out at home.

END OF BURNS.

The same inning saw the end of Burns, just as the Seals tied up the score sheet. "Silent Bill" passed Corhan, who stole as Jones fanned. Block doubled to center and Corhan came home on his toes. Poll Perritt drew the job of cutting down Seal hits and finished the inning with no further run-gathering.

In the fifth San Francisco took another lead, this time to hold it fast. With Schaller out, Bodie put the ball over the fence in right, the pellet topping the wire screen with some to spare. Hellman singled, but was caught off first. Jerry Downs rapped out a safety and passes for Corhan and Jones filled the bases. Then Block flied to Wolter to retire his team mates.

TRIO OF ERRORS.

In the seventh the Seals took advantage of a trio of errors to chase another man around the bases. With two out, Downs singled again into left and went along a base on booting by Ellis. Corhan was walked. Jones singled and an overthrow by Wolter tallied Downs. Corhan tried to steal and was safe because McMullen dropped the throw. After which the double steal went all wrong and Corhan was caught off third. Reisigi was unsteadiness personified when he walked three in the eighth, but Buemiller hit into a double play that took away the southerners' chances of tallying.

In the ninth Schaller grabbed a liner off Beatty and, although Terry singled, Boles put the ball right down to Corhan for a double play.

DERRICK DRIVES BALL INTO BLEACHERS.

Doubles by Johnston and Ness in First Defeat Beavers—Battle is Pitchers' Affair with Both Teams Playing Errorless Ball—McCredie Yanks Heavers for Pinch Hitters.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 2.—Extra base hits were responsible for all of the runs scored in today's game, which was won by Oakland, 2 to 1. Oakland bunched doubles by Johnston and Ness in the first, scoring two. Derrick drove the ball into the bleachers for a homer in the first. From this point it was a pitchers' battle, both teams playing errorless ball and failing to score again. The score:

SENIOR-FACULTY BASEBALL GAME.

OPENING EVENT OF THE COMMENCEMENT PROGRAMME AT U.S.C.

The annual senior-faculty baseball game at the University of Southern California will take place today at 2:30 p.m. It will be played on Bovard Field. While there is slight probability that the reputations of any of the major leagues will suffer by comparison, it is safe to say that no athletic event at the university in the course of the year provides more mirth to the spectators.

This is the opening event of the commencement programme at the university. On next Sunday, June 6, the baccalaureate sermon will be preached in the university church by the Rev. Francis M. Larkin of San Francisco. On Thursday, June 10, the annual commencement will take place, Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of San Francisco will deliver the commencement address. The Shrine Auditorium will be the scene of this year's commencement.

SHAMROCK V TO BE STARTED AT ONCE.

LIPTON FEARS AMERICANS ARE ON TO LAST BOAT'S DESIGN.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, June 2, 12:56 a.m.—The Central News says that Sir Thomas Lipton will immediately place an order for a yacht to be called Shamrock V., if it develops that the design of the Shamrock IV has been disclosed to American yachtsmen. Sir Thomas, according to the Central News, is determined to race a boat the lines of which are a complete secret to Americans.

Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Shamrock IV, with which he had challenged for the America's cup, arrived in New York shortly after the outbreak of the war last year. In view of the war the races which were to have taken place off Sandy Hook for the trophy were postponed, and the Shamrock IV was housed in a Brooklyn ship yard, where she now is.

MRS. VANDERBECK TAKES TITLE.

PLAYING IN RAIN, SHE MAKES GOOD ROUND OF COURSE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Mrs. P. H. Vanderbeck of the Philadelphia Cricket Club won the championship of the Women's Eastern Golf Association at the Merion Cricket Club today, playing in a heavy rain. She turned in a score of 92 for today's round of eighteen holes. Yesterday she took 88, giving her a total of 180 for the thirty-six holes.

Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Merion Cricket Club, three times winner of the championship, made a total of 186, and Miss Harriet Curtis, Boston, former national champion, 188.

FROMME ADDED TO HIS RECORD.

EX-GIANT SAID HE HAD BEEN IN THE MAJORS TEN YEARS.

In Pitcher Arthur Fromme we have the case of the only ball player in the world who tried to make himself out older than he really is. The New York Giants released Fromme to Jersey City. He objected, declaring that having been in the majors ten years he was entitled to his unconditional release provided no other major club wanted him. Inquiry into the records, however, showed that Fromme had been in the majors but eight years. The St. Louis Cardinals drafted him from Springfield of the Three-I League in the fall of 1906. If Arthur is in doubt about the date he should ask Dick Kinsella, who got the check.

GUY MORTON IS SOME WARHORSE.

HEAVES FOURTEEN INNINGS AND ENDS FRESHER THAN OTHERS.

Guy Morton in his fourteen-inning game against Boston recently pitched, according to actual count, 188 times to batters—105 strikes and 43 balls. Hooper, Speaker and Lewis faced him six times each. To Hooper he pitched 18 times, to Speaker, 16 times, and to Lewis 14 times. It is said that Morton was fresher at the close than his catcher, who was all in, for every ball pitched had something on it.

Detroit Defeats White Sox—Crawford, Kavanagh and Young Bunch Hits and Twirler Retires in Disgust—Georgia Peach Scores on a Single, Two Stolen Bases and a Scratch Single.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 2.—Ty Cobb was responsible for Chicago's defeat today in the final game of the Detroit series, Detroit winning over Chicago 4 to 1. Benz pitched a good game up to the seventh, when Cobb singled. He worried Benz until the pitcher became unsteady and allowed Crawford, Kavanagh and Young to bunch hits, forcing him to retire.

Cobb added another run for the visitors in the ninth, when he singled, stole second and third, and scored on a scratch hit. The score:

NEW YORK, June 2.—Boston hit Warhop and Pich briskly today and made it two straight over the New York Americans by a score of 7 to 1. Ruth pitched a fine game for the visitors and helped win his own game with a home run into the right field stand in the second inning, with Thomas on base. It was Ruth's second home run off Warhop this season. Gardner singled four out of five times up. The score:

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BROOKLYN, June 2.—Brooklyn won both games of today's double-header with Philadelphia 7 to 2 and 4 to 3. Coombs played an important part in winning the first game, scoring two runs and figuring in a batting rally in the fourth inning. Sherrod Smith returned to the box in the second game after several weeks' lay-off, holding the visitors to six hits, three of which were bunts in the first, when an error by O'Mara with an easy double play ahead, paved the way for two runs. BRAVES-GIANTS PLAY 5 TO 5 TIE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, June 2.—New York and Boston played ten innings to a 5 to 5 tie in shivering weather today. The game was called because of darkness. Six New York runners actually crossed the home plate, but one run was lost in an unusual manner. Burns, from third base, had raced for home when Moran caught Doyle's fly. The Boston outfielder threw the ball toward the home plate, but Capt. Doyle of the Giants intercepted it at first base. The umpires ruled that his interference retired the base runner and the score was lost. The score:

Mr. Titus Wad Didn't Know that Losing Balls is Part of the Game! —By Gale.

Gossip of the Diamond.

COAST TEAMS BELIEVE IN ERRORLESS BASEBALL.

Good Fielding has its Part in Deciding Baseball Games—Fewer Shut-outs this Season than Last—Dad Meek Joins Salt Lake Bees—Hi Jasper Still Missing. Angel-Oak Trade Likely.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

ERRORLESS games are getting to be quite a fad in the Coast League. Batting and pitching are generally regarded as the most important factors in winning ball games, but fielding certainly has its niche in the general scheme of things, and when you come right down to it there are few more beautiful sights in this world than a club that can go through nine innings without kicking or muffing the pill.

By contra, there are few more pathetic spectacles than a fielder who cannot pick up the pill when there is a man hiking down to first base.

Good fielding unquestionably helps. Poor hitting played an important part in the Bee-Angel series last week, but the ability of the Salt Lake players to subjugate the pill and throw it accurately had much to do with the result, as did the inability of the Angels to do the same thing. The Angels fielded wretchedly in the first seven games of the series, while the work of the Bees was well-nigh perfect. As a result Salt Lake took five out of seven. The next day the Angels took a brace in their fielding, while the Bees became more or less sloppy, and the Angeles grabbed both games of the double-header.

The heaviest-hitting club in the league the Bees also top the circuit in the number of errorless games played. Seventeen games without a miscue entitles the Bees to the bootless game championship. They chalked up three of these last week.

Venice and Oakland are tied for second place in this particular. On thirteen occasions have the Tigers and Oaks gone along without kicking a field goal or throwing the pill into the water pail.

Los Angeles ranks third with ten errorless games to its credit, while San Francisco and Portland are grouped together with eight each.

Games played in which neither of the competing teams has booted the ball have been comparatively scarce. But four times has this happened. Here are the chemically pure games played to date: Los Angeles and Oakland, April 6; Los Angeles and San Francisco, April 28; Portland and San Francisco, May 5, and San Francisco and Salt Lake, May 23.

* * *

Shut-out Games.

Shut-out games have not been as prevalent in the Coast League as last season. Whether this is due to a later start on the part of the pitchers, or an earlier start by the batters, there is no means of determining. Where there is tight pitching there cannot be heavy hitting, and where there is heavy batting there can't be tight pitching. The two things simply don't gee. If all pitchers were compelled to pitch to nine Ty Cobbs in each game they would look pretty punk. And if the batters were compelled to bat against a Walter Johnson every day in the week they likewise would look punk.

For a pitcher to keep the other guys from scoring in nine innings is no small trick. If you don't believe it get out and try it yourself.

To date twenty-one shut-outs have been twirled in the Coast League. The Tiger pitchers lead in this respect, having skunked opposing clubs on six separate and distinct occasions. The Seal pitchers rank second with five, while San Francisco and Oakland each have four to their well-known credit. Salt Lake and Portland have each had the opposition back to the bench scoreless once.

While shutting out opponents the most times, the Tigers also have been shut out more times than any other club in the league. Venice has been whitewashed seven times, Oakland five, Portland four, and Los Angeles once, meaning three times.

The Bees enjoy the distinction of having been whitewashed only once, while the Seals enjoy the greater distinction of not having been whitewashed at all. The pitcher who can stand between the Seals and at least one run has not yet been found.

Following are the pitchers who have hurled shutout ball this year:

Killilay vs. Venice, April 6, 1 to 0.
Couch vs. Venice, April 7, 1 to 0.
Pruiett vs. Salt Lake, April 16, 1 to 0.
Hall vs. Oakland, April 17, 1 to 0.
Karr vs. Venice, April 25, 1 to 0.

Meek a Bee.

Dad Meek surprised the natives yesterday by decking himself out in a Salt Lake uniform and declaring unswerving allegiance to the visitors. Blankenship hooked the ex-Angel pinch-hitter and catcher up to a Bee contract early in the day, and all the afternoon he had Dad out in the bright sunlight warming up pitchers.

Blankenship intends to carry Dad as long as Daddy Rohrer's finger is on the bum, and may decide to make him a permanent institution in Salt Lake. It is hard to imagine anything more permanent than Dad. With Rohrer on the blink, Blankenship was in dire need of another catcher, and Meek's release by the Angels came just at a time calculated to meet the emergency. Hannah has been doing wonderful work, but iron man that he is, he would be sure to bend under the strain if compelled to keep up the present pace much longer. Last week Hannah caught nine games in six days, and has already acted as shock absorber in two this week. Flesh and blood cannot stand up under such punishment. Even after Rohrer is removed from the disabled list, Blankenship may decide to make room for Meek to remain by canning one of the players now on his pay roll. Not only can Dad catch a good game, but he ought to hit a million or more up in Salt Lake.

No Word.

T. J. Darmody says that nothing further has been received regarding the strange case of Hi Jasper, purchased from the White Sox by President Powers. As the Los Angeles club has an option on two other right-handers now in the big leagues, Powers and Darmody positively decline to worry about Hi. He can go to the Feds or open a cigar store in Dubuque, Iowa, for all that they care.

Scout Busy.

Eddie Herr, scout for the St. Louis Cardinals, who came to the Coast on the advice of Bill Abstein to look over Fred McMullen and Zeb Terry, is now in San Francisco for the purpose of seeing Zeb and Corhan in action against each other. A short-stop is the crying need of the Cards, Herr regards Zeb as a wonder, but he also is quite sweet on Corhan. Corhan has just one advantage over Zeb, and that is experience. Zeb, however, seems to be one of these rare guys who are born with experience.

Before returning East Herr also will take another squint at Risberg. He saw the Swede in action in a game recently, and was so impressed that he vows to get a further line on his work. Chicago has first crack at Risberg, and for that matter at every other player on Maier's pay roll, but should the Sox not take him, Herr may recommend him to the Cardinals for draft or purchase, providing, of course, that he continues to show the same rapid improvement.

Trade Possible.

Should Beatty by any means fail to make good at first base for the Angels, the Los Angeles club may consider a trade with Oakland for Rube Gardner. Oakland, it is understood, has offered to swap Gardner for Bill Burns. The Salt Lake series convinced Dillon that there is such a thing as having too many southpaws on your staff. It is believed that Pa is figuring on adding two high-class right-handers to the flinging force. While not exactly a phenomenal fielder, Gardner is a chronic .300 hitter and would be of value to any club if played regularly.

TENNIS TITLES TO BE DECIDED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The Panama-Pacific Exposition tennis championships will be conducted under the auspices of the California Lawn Tennis Association, instead of by the exposition Athletic Committee, according to announcement today. It is said adequate space for courts on the exposition grounds is not available. The dates were announced as July 10 and 17. Several national champions from the East are expected to take part in the tournament.

Fromme Beaten by Bees.

day after day, but Doc shows no signs of wear and tear. Doc was not required to examine any of his pitchers yesterday, or oversee any repairs to his athletes. Thus, it was possible for him to keep his mind on the technique and strategy of the game at all times. He says that the technique in about four instances, and especially in the third inning, did not seem to be up to standard. The strategy, however, seemed to be entirely sound at all times.

MUCH DENIAL.

Yesterday there were many alibis offered for the good showing of the club in the past ten days. Doc modestly says that he isn't to blame for the club's winning streak. The players deny that they have had anything to do with it. Begins to look like they were trying to lay it all on the Oakland club. That ought to make them all come out and tell the truth about it.

Tommy Tennant, who busted his belt while running from first to second Tuesday, wasn't taking any chances yesterday. After putting on his uniform he visited a barrel factory and had an iron hoop welded around his waist and the top of his trousers firmly fastened to this with copper rivets. This, it is believed, will prevent a recurrence of Tuesday's close call.

OFF IN A RUSH.

Fromme started off like a veritable whirlwind, fanning two in the first inning. Williams went to the other extreme and walked two in the home half of the first. After fanning Carlisle, he bestowed two splendid passes on Berger and Kane. Then a most peculiar play happened. Williams turned and caught Berger so far off second that it scared Joe into running for third. The pitcher, who had held the ball all this time, then threw to Barbour. Barbour chased Joe back to second. He was horrified to find that Kane had come calling during his absence. As there was not room for two on the base, he made Johnny get off. Whereupon Barbour touched Johnny. Bayless popped to Orr.

Ryan walked in the second. He was forced by Zacher, who was forced by some other guy, so that no evil came out of it.

Fromme opened the third by landing a kidney blow on Hannah. Williams singled, placing Hannah at second. Shinn bunted to Fromme, who forced Hannah at third. Mitze picked Orr's foul off the wire netting for the second out. Gedeon knocked a mile high fly just back of the box. Nearly everybody hollered that the ball belonged to them, but Purtell was the only one to get his hands on it. The pill slid from his excited mitt, and Williams, who had been running all the time, scored. Shinn, thinking that the ball would be caught, had stopped at second. Otherwise he could have reached third.

BUDDY'S BLOW.

However, as things turned out, this made no difference, because Ryan cut loose with a double to left center that counted both Shinn and Gedeon. Zacher drove to Berger, who threw low to first, sparing Elmer. Ryan tried to score all the way from second on the error, but was foiled when Risberg recovered the elusive little pill and fired it to Mitze. There were a few scattering and lucky blows off Fromme after that, but they had no bearing on the result.

Mitze doubled in the third for the first hit off Williams. This did no good, however, as the next three Tigers proved harmless.

The next hit was a double by Hetling with two down in the seventh. This was a well directed blow, landing in the middle of the left field chalk line. The third hit then happened, the same being a single by Risberg that enabled Gasoline Gus to squirt in with the Tigers' only tally. Mitze filed to Ryan.

Tub, batting for Fromme, struck out in the eighth. Carlisle beat out a bunt to Barbour. Berger and Kane were unable to create any disturbance. The Tigers received the one-two-three treatment in the ninth.

HUNS VOICE INDIGNATION.

POMONA CAN GET ALONG WITHOUT U.S.C.

Sagehens Says Trojans Came into Conference When They Were Down and Out and Now that They See a Chance of Bettering Themselves They Forget Their Promises.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CLAREMONT, June 2.—For the second time in four years, U.S.C. has disrupted the Southern conference by withdrawing from it, announcing it as her intention to meet the larger schools of the north and the Middle West.

Four years ago the Trojans thought they saw a chance to better their athletic standing by adopting Rugby, and by opening up intercollegiate relations with Stanford and California. They tried this for four years, and found it unsuccessful not only from a financial standpoint but from the standpoint of real interest as well?

POLICY.

A year ago, U.S.C. met with the representatives of Pomona and Occidental, and asked admittance to the conference, pledging herself to live up to all the rules and agreements that the conference might adopt. At that time, U.S.C. was in the position of an outcast in athletic circles, with no colleges willing to meet her.

A break came in the Stanford-California relations, and California is about to adopt American football. The Trojans again think they see a chance to better their position, and accordingly, absolutely forgetting their promises of a year ago, they have again broken the bonds which bind them to the southern colleges, and have left the conference.

INDIGNATION.

The sentiment at Pomona College over such an action is one of indignation. A year ago, when the Trojans were down and out of it as far as athletics were concerned, the Huns and the Tigers were kind enough to receive them into athletic relations. Now, when the Methodists again think they are on a strong enough footing to leave the southern colleges in the lurch and tackle the northern schools, they do not hesitate to ignore their neighbors, and open up negotiations with distant schools.

Whether Pomona will enter into a dual agreement with U.S.C. is a matter for conjecture. Nothing has been done in that direction as yet and Manager Hawley says that he does not know just what he will.

As far as getting a schedule is concerned, Pomona can get along very well without the Trojans. The Huns hold the championship of California and can easily get games with any of the middle western universities, where the freshmen rule holds just as it does at Pomona.

NEVER GO BACK.

U.S.C. has found that she cannot get along without the aid of her freshmen, according to her own admission. Pomona has had one of the most successful years in her history under the new rules, and will not, under any condition, go back to the old system. Pomona would like to ask why the Trojans are so dependent upon their one year men, while the Huns get along better without them.

If Pomona meets U.S.C. at all next year, she will hold to the same strict rules that she has always maintained. The Huns are perfectly willing to let the Trojans use whatever men they may desire, and let the public judge. Pomona will stand for progress whatever any of the other schools may decide to do.

U.S.C. cannot get along without games in the South. She found that out once, and she will find it out again. Pomona will adopt an attitude of "watchful waiting," and see what steps the Trojans will take.

Farewell.

THE FINAL SHOT IS NOW FIRED.

FRESHMEN RULE NOT MADE FOR SOUTH.

U.S.C. Graduate Manager Thinks Wise Policy is to Keep Own House Clean—Differs with Coach Pipal and Sees Confusion in Use of Words "Pure" and "Impure."

BY WARREN BOVARD,
Graduate Manager of the University of Southern California.

Our Faculty Athletic Committee has definitely decided to allow freshmen to compete on varsity teams next year. This decision was not reached hastily nor by a majority vote of the faculty as a whole. A small committee of the faculty has made a careful study of this rule as it is applied east and west minutely studied every detail of the local application of the rule during the past year. This committee does not wish to debate with Occidental the freshman rule "as a principle." There is a difference of opinion in our own camp on that point. The committee is unanimous, however, in deciding that most of the institutions in Southern California are not yet ready for so drastic a rule.

DIFFERENT.

Personally, I agree with Mr. Pipal that the freshman rule is a "necessary evil" in the East and Middle West. In Southern California it is only an "evil." Not an educational institution in this section has the hundreds of wealthy alumni and dozens of rich fraternities which make the evil "necessary." Not a one of us has the powerful athletic organization nor the hundreds of athletes eager for varsity honors which keep the freshman rule from seriously lowering the standard of the games which are thrown open to the public. When conditions in Southern California are similar to those which prompted and made possible the barring of freshmen in other parts of the country, I know our faculty committee will proceed to enforce such a rule, whether anyone else does or not.

HANDS OFF.

The president of this university does not enforce upon the students his theories regarding athletics, nor does he pass athletics up to the whole faculty with a "recommendation." A small committee is appointed and asked to study athletic conditions thoroughly. This committee is composed of men who can give time and thought to such matters as the president and his whole faculty necessarily can not. Final action on important questions is left to the athletic board of control, composed of the faculty committee and an equally numbered student committee of upper classmen. This board decided to withdraw the university from the conference, not on account of the freshman rule, but for a number of reasons which are set forth in a letter to the chairman of the conference.

We hope to avoid in the future much of the bickering which has disgusted the public with a three-cornered conference. Our faculty committee is busy compiling rules to be strictly enforced on our own athletes, no matter with whom they are competing. Let the other fellow keep his own house clean in his own way and we will do the same and thus avoid ceaseless squabbling.

"NECESSARY EVIL."

Just one more word from me before University of Southern California is forever out of the "triple debate." I read a well-written article in The Times of Monday, signed by the coach of Occidental College. Before admitting that the freshman rule had not really raised the scholarship among the athletes at his college, the author referred to the rule as a "necessary evil," and stated that in this section of the United States it was now a question as to whether the "pure" should play the "impure," the "impure" undoubtedly being those who allow "peagreens" on varsity teams. I have been wondering ever since reading the article why this same coach came to me during the Occidental-U.S.C. track meet just a few weeks ago and strongly advocated doing away with the objectionable freshman rule in Southern California and substituting in its stead a first semester rule barring freshmen from football only. Of course it is better to be partly pure than all impure, and we might save football and shove all of our pent-up naughtiness into the later sports. Well, anyhow, Mr. Pipal is a fine coach and good fellow, and has a right to change his mind, just like we have all done many times.

PUZZLING.

To those of us on the inside it is a puzzling situation to say the least. Just think, University of California, Occidental and Pomona colleges are the "pure," while Stanford, U.S.C., Whittier, Redlands (to say nothing of Washington and Oregon) are lined up with the "impure." Then, too some of the "pure" may play Rugby and some of the "impure" seem bound to. To add complications the largest of the "pure" is bound by dual agreement to the largest of the southern "impures" The "impure" say: "We are doing the best we can with our own problems, and you can do the same with yours." But some of the "pure" spoil it all by saying: "You have got to be pure like us or we will not play in your yard."

SATISFACTION.

It is a source of satisfaction to me that our faculty committee is not attempting to throw down the gauntlet to all who do not see things as they do. Such a challenge makes matters very hard for a manager, and I venture to say that Messrs. Stroud and Kirkpatrick aren't sleeping well nights. I cannot quite see the nobility of forcing your own "principle" on colleges such as Whittier, whose enrollment is so small as to make teams impossible without the use of all male students. It might be more noble to make up your mind to go ahead and do what you think is right yourself and trust the other fellow to do the same. So far as we are informed, this is the present attitude of Pomona College. We hope the information is correct, for it would be typical of the splendid Pomona sportsmanship shown during the past year.

THIS GUY WOULD NEVER MAKE GOOD.

CANCELLED FAT CONTRACT ON DISCOVERY HE WAS NO STAR.

A story that Charley Dooin while manager at Philadelphia signed up Pitcher Imlay, a collegian, to an ironclad contract for $6000 a year and left him as a liability on the hands of the club, is denied by President Baker, who says Imlay was signed for $3000 a year and was good enough to cancel the contract when he learned that he could not make good. If Imlay did this it is positive indication that he never would develop into a real professional ball player.

The Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Association has ordered a new $1000 trophy for the winner of the annual track and field meet, which will be held at Philadelphia May 28 and 29. Cornell won the old trophy by last year's victory over Pennsylvania.

BECK HIT THE PELLET TWICE.

FIRST BLOW WASN'T ENOUGH, SO HE WALLOPED IT AGAIN.

In one of the Philly-Cardinal games a peculiar play came up. With Huggins on first Beck bunted the ball. It struck the ground in front of the plate and Beck foolishly took a second poke at it. He was called out for interference, and Huggins, who had made second, was forced to return to first.

EDDIE COLLINS IS GOING BACK.

CLARKE GRIFFITH ANNOUNCES FACT WHILE IT RAINS.

Clarke Griffith, having time for conversation while it rained in St. Louis, opined that Eddie Collins is going back rapidly and that Connie Mack was wise enough to see it and so sold him to Comiskey. Griffith says Comiskey was stung and that he feels sorry for him.

LIBERTY BELL TO MAKE MORE STOPS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The Liberty Bell Committee today announced that eleven more stops had been added to the itinerary in the transportation of the treasured relic to the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco.

Among these stops are: Red Bluff, Cal., and Chico, Cal., July 14.

GRINER HEAVES WONDERFUL GAME.

ONLY TWO MEN REACH FIRST, BOTH ARE DOUBBED OUT.

Dan Griner's pitching performance for the Cardinals against the Phillies on May 19 was a remarkable one. Only twenty-seven men faced him all told. Two reached first base on hits and each was immediately nipped in a double play. Griner's control was fine and he was never in the hole enough to give a batter a walking chance.

JIM SCOTT IS A NEAR-HERO.

PITCHES ANOTHER ONE-HIT GAME, LOSING MARK BY CHANCE.

Pitcher Jim Scott of the White Sox will get into the Hall of Fame some day. He registered another one-hit game on May 17, that a scratch single by Lajoie, which Weaver knocked down, but on which he failed to get his man. Scott regularly pitches one-hit games, and once last year he did not allow a hit for nine innings, but was touched up in extra innings.

AT THE STAGE DOOR

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Mizzi Hajos, off stage, is the same gingery little Mizzi who is making us laugh over at the Mason this week, with her delicious little antics in "Sari."

Miss Hajos' humor is largely impromptu, too. She "just makes it up as she goes along!"

"When I get so that I can't think of any more new funny things to put in every day I'm through with a role," she laughed.

Twinkle, Twinkle.

Asked concerning the dizzy heights of stardom to which she has attained since we saw her last in "The Spring Maid," Miss Hajos declared she never could realize it, so what was the good of being one, really?

"But—yes—yes, I know what I like about being a star: I can live in one place a long time, and keep house and cook Hungarian!"

Pink Thoughts.

Little Mizzi is a lady with a lot of brain throbs under her charming bonnet. What think you? She is writing her own play for next season!

It has a Hungarian setting, and in it she plays a boy for two whole acts.

"I always wanted to play a boy," said the little comedienne. "He can roar about so, and be such a little devil; also he can wear comfortable garments."

No wonder Mizzi wishes to wear boys' habiliments. That Hungarian dress which she wears in the second act weighs forty-eight pounds!

Also it is an exact replica of the Hungarian peasant woman's "best dress." In fact it is a copy of the gown worn by an old nurse of Mizzi, and was brought from Budapest by Miss Hajos last summer.

War Note.

Miss Hajos was at home in Budapest last summer, and had many weary adventures before she was able to secure passage for this country in a steamer.

"I was six hours going three miles in an automobile," she said, "was constantly halted, and at times was really in danger of my life. But I never thought for a moment of being afraid. My father was a soldier, and I guess I'm like him. I just thought, 'My heavens, how inconvenient it will be for my family,' that's all."

Miss Hajos at home is a person of official consequence, since her father is a titled Hungarian.

Near to Nature.

"Do I like New York? Well, I don't know it so very well. I save myself for my work and allow myself little pleasure. Anyway, I love the country. Yes, I own a farm up in Massachusetts, about an hour's ride from Boston, and there I used to go at every opportunity. Up there I fed the chickens and romped and rode horseback and played tennis, and wore b—rs all the time!"

Some Dancer.

The dancing of La Valera, the foremost exponent of Spanish dancing in America, is causing no end of favorable comment among those who have seen the "Mission Play" lately. Her dance comes at the end of the fiesta scene and is her interpretation of the height of the Spanish power in California with all its splendor and arrogance. She makes the audience feel it. La Valera was obtained by Mr. McGroarty for the "Mission Play" after a year of negotiating. She is only on the stage three minutes and is probably the highest-priced artist per minute in the United States.

Lambs Gambol.

Such Lambs as have had the temerity to wander thus far from the New York fold, last night held a jolly gambol at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bond Francisco.

The affair was held in the Francisco studio, where so many delightful occasions have been celebrated.

Among those present were Raymond Hitchcock, Thomas Meighan, Julian Eltinge, George Damerel, Oscar Apfel, Carlyle Blackwell, Hobart Bosworth, Lew Dockstader, Henry Woodruff, George Fawcett, Frank Reicher, Hale Hamilton, Oliver Morosco, William Desmond, Charles Ruggles, Forrest Stanley, William de Mille, William Lorraine, Cecil de Mille, Jesse Lasky, Jack Dean, Charlotte Walker, Fanny Ward, Mrs. William de Mille, Mrs. Cecil de Mille, May Boley, Rita Johnson, and others.

Raymond Hitchcock, Frank Reicher, Julian Eltinge and Carlyle Blackwell delivered short sparkling talks, and there was music and dancing.

Hurrah for the Colonel.

Actors and employees belonging to the Selig Company gave a pleasant reception to Col. W. N. Selig last night at the Wild Animal Farm.

A dance was held in the big pavilion, and Mr. Selig was presented with a handsomely-bound set of Kipling and a meerschaum pipe.

Brow.

As the Orpheus Club concert occurs tonight at Trinity Auditorium, the educational films showing the work of the Los Angeles public schools, which have been eliciting so much favorable comment will be withdrawn for the evening, but will be shown on Friday and Saturday.

Just Like Bill's Day.

"Master Willie Hewes," the play which has Shakespeare as its hero, which will shortly be produced at the Burbank, will be supervised by the noted English actor, Frank Kemble Cooper, who will play the role of Ben Johnson.

Mr. Cooper is a Shakespearean scholar, and many of the quaint and interesting touches having to do with the scenic effects, the costumes and the manners and customs of Shakespeare's time will be due to his erudition.

New Twinkler.

Rima Gillette, cousin of William Gillette, and a charming film actress, who has been playing leads in the pictures produced by Gustav Frohman, arrived in the city a few days ago, and is visiting relatives.

Miss Gillette has received several offers in pictures, out here, and may remain.

Basket o' Pippins.

It is announced that the chorus of "Dancing Around," wished on with the Al Jolson show, coming to the Morosco during the week of June 14, has ten daring Dianas, ten voluptuous Venusi, ten jolly Junos, ten pretty Psyches, ten naughty Niobes, and ten mighty Minervas.

Sari in Los Angeles,

In other words, Mizzi Hajos in street costume, snapped just before leaving the Mason after the matinee yesterday. Fifi, her pet Chihuahua, sees the flash coming. Below is Kitty Doner, who is to star with Al Jolson in "Dancing Around," coming to the Morosco soon.

Star-dust.

At Carlyle Blackwell's table at the Photoplayers' supper dance to be given at the Alexandria Saturday night, will be Blanche Ring, Fanny Ward, Laura Hope Crewes, Charlotte Walker, Julian Eltinge, Tom Meighan, Jack Dean and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lasky.

Hand-me-downs.

The German uniforms worn by the soldiers in "Stolen Goods," at Tally's Broadway, were imported by the Lasky Company from France, having been stripped from German prisoners.

Irvin Cobb told me that curiously enough the German soldiers themselves up to the very time of mobilizing did not know what sort of field uniforms they were to wear, and that it was found that those selected, a grayish-green in color, were the very best so far as color was concerned, since they blended into earth and field colors.

Brow Note.

Mary O'Connor's "Man's Prerogative," at the Woodley, with Robert Edeson and Mary Alden in the leading roles, is exciting much discussion as to its subject, viz., the double standard of morals for men and women, and also much favorable comment for the manner in which the photo-drama is played and staged.

Last Yelp in Style.

Fanny Ward brought fourteen trunks and $3000 worth of gowns West with her for "The Marriage of Kitty."

To "Film."

Dorothy Bernard, formerly leading woman for the Belasco Stock Company in this city, is to star for the Fox Company, playing opposite William Farnum in a film version of Hall Caine's "The Bondsman," which will be shown at Miller's.

In War Zone.

Henry Woodruff, Tsura Aoki and Rhea Mitchell, and other members of the Ince Company, left for Tia Juana early this week, to stage some scenes in "The Beckoning Flame."

Splash!

The accessory scenery for the spectacular production of Hall Caine's "The Eternal City," consisting of some handsome paintings of the historic landmarks of ancient Rome, arrived at the Majestic yesterday and were installed.

Four instead of two shows per day are being given, starting at 1:30, 4, 6:30 and 9.

The Majestic is the first of the motion-picture houses to install a nursery. The kiddies are now being taken care of by a trained nurse in a room specially fitted up for their use.

A Willin' "Willain."

To vary the deadly monotony of continually playing to the fair film fan, Herbert Rawlinson, popular lead with the Turner Special Feature Company out at the "U," is at present essaying the role of a real sure-enough, ha-ha-wait-till-day-after-tomorrow villain. "Homage" is the title of the story, and Herby asked to be allowed to play the "heavy" in it, just to see how it seems to be wicked. After considerable argument, the request was granted. There will be no other villainous parts to follow, however; so have a heart, fair film fan.

Philadelphia may have several open-air boxing arenas this summer.

FITZPATRICK IS NEW MANAGER.

ALL-AROUND ATHLETIC STAR IS HIGHLY HONORED.

Formerly a Track and Football Star at Notre Dame and Later for Illinois Athletic Club, He Has also Made a Good Record at Santa Clara University.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA CLARA UNIVERSITY, June 2.—Keene Fitzpatrick, namesake and nephew of the famous University of Princeton trainer, was today officially appointed business manager of athletics at the University of Santa Clara for the season of 1915-16.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is a native of Chicago and a former member of the Notre Dame football and track teams. He entered Santa Clara in the fall of 1912, remaining but a few months, when he returned to his home in the East, where, as a member of the Illinois Athletic Club he established a reputation as a middle distance runner and swimmer. In the spring of 1914 he competed in the western and national open golf championship and conducted himself with credit.

Last fall Mr. Fitzpatrick returned to Santa Clara University. He was an active member and enthusiastic worker for both the football and track teams. He also acted as business manager of the Dramatic Club, for which Santa Clara is noted.

Speaking of the football prospects of Santa Clara for the coming season, Mr. Fitzpatrick says: "We have been working diligently, but quietly, for the past few months to formulate a team for the season of 1915. We hope to place on the field a team which will surpass any ever produced by Santa Clara University. With Ex-Capt. Ybarrando of Los Angeles taking the place of former Coach Higgins, and Rudolph Scholz, newly-elected captain, we believe that Santa Clara will enjoy that much-deserved recognition to which she has long aspired."

TRYOUTS ORDERED FOR TRACK MEET.

RUBIEN TELLS OFFICIAL TO GO AHEAD WITH TRIALS IN CHICAGO, BOSTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 2.—Frederick Rubien, secretary and treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union has notified Edward Babb of Boston and Everett C. Brown at Chicago to make final preparations for the eastern and western tryout to select competitors for the senior track and field championships to be held at the Panama-Pacific Exposition August 6 and 7.

Before taking this action Mr. Rubien had received a telegram from the athletic directors of the exposition informing him that financial arrangements for the championship had been completed. The eastern trials are to be held at the Harvard stadium in Cambridge on June 26 and the western trials will be under the auspices of the Central Association at Chicago in the middle of July.

LOUD SOX NIGHT FOR ROLLER RINK.

In order to give local sartorial specialists a chance to show their tastes in chromatic hosiery, a "Loud Sock" night will be held at the Broadway Rink next week under the auspices of the Roller Skating Association of Southern California.

Prizes will be awarded to those who, in the opinion of the judges, wear the loudest socks on the floor. No colors or combination of colors are barred and for that reason spectators are advised to bring ear muffs and blue glasses. The exact date of the affair will be announced later.

LOWDERMILK OUT OF LUCK.

OUTPITCHED JOHNSON, BUT HIS CATCHER DROPPED A THIRD STRIKE.

Grover Lowdermilk outpitched Walter Johnson in the game of May 18, but lost his game on a strike out. Catcher Severeid dropped the third strike, and the batter got to second base before the ball was recovered. From there he scored the winning run.

FEDERAL LEAGUE.

PLANK CAUSE OF WHALES' DEFEAT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 2.—Plank outpitched Prendergast today and Chicago, losing to St. Louis 2 to 1, dropped to third place in the Federal League race. Ward Miller's home run and a single by Borton and double by Deal accounted for the visitors' runs. Only two Chicagoans reached third base, while Plank scored six strikeouts, Hanford fanning three times. It was Prendergast's first defeat after six victories. Score:

STOLEN CAR IS RECOVERED.

Auto Stolen in Illinois at Redlands.

Word from Albuquerque is Clew.

Thieves Have Center in this City.

When C. F. Braffette, prominent Chicago capitalist, ordered a large eastern factory to build him a special automobile at a cost of $5000, he did not think that the car would be stolen from his private garage in La Grange, Ill., and that he would spend more than its cost in a world-wide search to locate it, or that he would find it nine months later in a well-known garage at Redlands, Cal.

Yet those glad tidings were wired to Mr. Braffette late last night after the finding of the car by officials of the theft bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California after a search which has swept northward from the Mexican line to Kern county.

Word reached Chicago that the local organization had established a theft bureau for the breaking up of a gang of motor thieves operating on the Pacific Coast. A plea was then sent to the automobile club here to attempt to locate the $5000 car.

AT ALBUQUERQUE.

Detective J. W. Powell of the theft bureau tightened the meshes of the drag-net. Advice came from a special agent of the Southern California Club in Albuquerque that a mysterious automobile with extinguished lights had hurtled through the city evidently bound for California.

The automobile club began systematic search of all garages in its territory. Its efforts were rewarded yesterday, when in a garage situated at Redlands, an automobile carefully covered with a white shroud was discovered. Stripping the car of the cover, Detective Powell found that it answered the description sent here by Braffette representatives.

Final identification was made, however, when a secret number, placed at the time the car was made, under the door-plate on the right rear door. This number was 63895. The car was seized and driven yesterday into San Bernardino, where it is awaiting its claim by the owner.

STARTLING.

A report filed yesterday at the automobile club states that last month more than $92,000 worth of automobiles and accessories were stolen in Los Angeles. According to Secretary Mitchell of the auto club, more automobiles are stolen in Los Angeles each week than in any other city in the world.

Of the cars stolen in May, $67,000 worth have been located and returned to their owners through the efforts of the police and the theft bureau.

It is an epidemic caused by the rapid growth of the automobile industry in Southern California, according to Secretary Mitchell, and developing also from the fact that Southern California this year is the mecca for thousands of motorists from all over the United States.

Further arrests in connection with the Chicago theft are expected today. All motorists are warned by the interinsurance exchange of the automobile club and by Secretary Mitchell to place secret identification marks upon their cars immediately, as the activities of the thieves are becoming more daring each week.

EXCELLENT SCORES MADE BY GOLFERS.

ONE HUNDRED AND NINETEEN TAKE PART IN QUALIFYING ROUND FOR TITLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

RYE (N. Y.) June 2.—Exactly 119 golfers took part in the qualifying round of the 36-holes medal play for the Metropolitan amateur championship over the Apawamis Club's links today. More than 100 of these turned in cards and twenty-nine qualified for championship match play with scores of 168 and under. Nine more were tied with 169 each and they will play off early tomorrow morning for the three vacant places in the qualifying division.

The scores as a rule were high as the weather conditions were unfavorable.

Six of the contestants, including Oswald Kirkby, the present holder of the title, qualified today. Roy D. Webb of Englewood, N. J., was the medal winner with 78-77-155, just one stroke greater than Jerome D. Travers. Kirkby and Walter J. Travis with 161 each, Findlay S. Douglas, 163; Charles H. Seely, 166, and Fred Herreshoff, 168, were the others who qualified for the title.

The draw for the match play during the remainder of the week will not take place until after the ties have been played off tomorrow morning.

BASEBALL LOTTERY GAMES UNDER BAN.

COAST LEAGUE TO TAKE QUICK ACTION TO SUPPRESS ALL KINDS OF GAMBLING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—An attempt will be made to suppress all forms of gambling on baseball games in the Pacific Coast League, A. T. Baum, president of the league, announced today. The baseball lottery reported to be in operation in San Francisco will be investigated, President Baum said. He returned here yesterday from a trip to Los Angeles.

"The league has always been active in suppressing gambling on the games in all forms," President Baum said. "The magnates realize the danger of letting the national pastime get contaminated with the gamblers and we will be on the lookout at all times to take a hand against it."

The Ladies' Kennel Association of America again has demonstrated that its annual show at Mineola, L. I., is the greatest of America's shows, this year's fixture having attracted 1632 entries.

The national track and field championships will be pulled off at San Francisco August 6 and 7.

WHEN EUROPE SEES RED

In the wake of the great war will come a disaster even greater than is being wrought by the death-dealing guns and gases in battle-scarred Europe, America does not begin to realize the extent of this disaster which is foretold in the next issue of our NATIONAL SUNDAY MAGAZINE.

THE WAR'S LEGACY OF HATE

Article—By Walter Adolphe Roberts
Illustrated by Adrien Machefert.

The author of this clean-spoken, impartial article was living in Paris when the war broke and since then has used his eyes and ears to advantage in France, Germany, Belgium and England. Racial hatreds, he deplores as a fact, have been revived with an intensity unparalleled in civilized times. Russia and Turkey have no part in it. But Frenchmen and Belgians hate the Germans unforgivably. Austro-Hungarians regard the Slavs with a shuddering loathing. Germany does not hate France, but is delirious with fury against England, which, in turn, detests, but does not hate the Germans. The analysis the author makes is not only illuminative but carries intense interest and conviction.

Three-Part Mystery Story. By Anna Katharine Green.
Illustrated by Ernest Fuhr.

In this concluding installment of the latest and best Violet Strange story that Anna Katharine Green has written, Mr. Van Broecklyn drags his family skeletons into the light and unfolds the tragedy that has secretly plagued his life since childhood. His is an amazing story—dating back to the time when as a little lad he witnessed his father and mother engaged in a desperate rapier duel in the dark. This installment is a complete story in itself and has a most surprising ending.

THE DYNAMO OF BUSINESS

Editorial—By Hugh Chalmers.

This business talk to busy men is by one of the foremost manufacturers in America. Needless to say, it is straight-from-the-shoulder, common-sense talk about the most risky and yet important single factor that makes the wheels of American industry go round. Read it and call it what you will—a report or a prophecy.

MOONGWE THE SON-DAUGHTER

Story—By Grace MacGowan Cooke.
Illustrated by Maynard Dixon.

Now and then a great picture is painted or a fine story written to commemorate the vanishing Red Man—and few writers combine the knowledge and art in dramatizing Indian life that Grace MacGowan Cooke displays in this little masterpiece of story writing. It is fiction founded on fact—on the naked truth—the story of a Hopi Indian boy who rebelled against the tribal edict condemning him to be a squaw man. In it the author expresses the pathos of a dying people and there's a fine love story in it, to boot. Moongwe is the boy that puts the hope in Hopi.

Among other features in the next issue of our NATIONAL SUNDAY MAGAZINE is a clever catechism for both sexes, entitled A SELF-EXAMINATION, by Marguerite Wilkinson; and another, of those laughable LIMERLEAKS, written and illustrated by Anthony Euwer.

The cover, in colors, by Brinkerhoff, humorously pictures a juvenile Rivers and Harbor Investigation Committee. Investigating what? Whether the water's warm enough for the kids to go swimming.
